Celebrate Queen Victoria's Jubilee

BY TAKING A TRIP THIS SUMMER
THROUGH THE.....

"LAND OF EVANGELINE," IN NOVA SCOTIA.

A country famous for its delightful summer resorts, abounding in purest, vitalizing air and exquisite scenery.

Grand Pré, made famous by Longfellow, is becoming the Mecca toward which thousands of American tourists annually wander. The remains of the old fortifications at Annapolis, the second oldest town in America, are worth crossing a continent to see.

To travel on the famous "Flying Bluenose" train, running between Yarmouth and Halifax, and a trip on the S. S. "Prince Rupert," plying between St. John and Digby, are experiences of mingled pleasure and delight.

Send for beautifully illustrated guide book entitled "The Land of Evangeline and Gateways Thither," written by PROF. CHAS. G. D. ROBERTS, which will be mailed free; also, for further particulars and details as to private boarding-houses, rates, etc., write to
