

PROSPECTUS
OF
The Canadian Illustrated News

A PAPER ADAPTED TO THE USE OF
THE MERCHANT, THE MECHANIC,
THE FARMER, THE FAMILY.

THERE is a natural, and therefore general, desire among men to acquaint themselves with much that lies beyond the narrow sphere of personal observation. Description fails, however graphic, terse, minute, to convey to the mind a correct, or lasting impression. For this reason there always has been, and is, a strong desire to substitute sight for sound, the real for the imaginary. To meet this want, to portray objects as they are, or were, to present to the eye a life-like representation, is the aim of an Illustrated Paper.

To depict thus, the lakes and rivers, the rapids and waterfalls, the progress and prosperity, the habits and manners, the public men—politicians, professors, preachers, and every thing that will make better known our country and its vast resources, is to be the special province of The Canadian Illustrated News.

We believe that such a paper is needed, and that it will be welcomed and supported by the public. If, only, the same liberality is extended to it that is given to Foreign papers of this kind, which scarcely deign to notice aught that pertains to these Provinces, there need be no fear of its success.
