

NOTES

Scotia has a rugged coastline of hills, and a grassy prairie within. It covers 107,000 square miles.

Prince Edward Island National Park is a beautiful strip of dunes, cliffs, marshes and beaches, 25 miles long along the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The total area of the park is 7 square miles.

King George National Park on the western coast of Newfoundland contains mountains, fjord-like lakes and forests in its 150-square-mile area.

The rugged coastline of Terra Nova National Park on Bonaville Bay contrasts with the rolling terrain and the thick boreal forests found inland. It covers an area of 134 square miles.

With the addition of new parks, the national parks system in Canada will acquaint more and more Canadians with the natural beauty and wonders of their country.
