Dear General Currie.

Since last writing you I unfortunately had another breakdown, was operated on, ~~is~~ amputated and have since been in Hospital with an open wound and a lump next the lump. The surgeon hopes however that this time it will really heal, and this view judging by the decreasing discharge may be quite right.

In these circumstances it may perhaps surprise you to know that on Saturday I signed the necessary forms assenting to accept, if confirmed by order, the Amputation of the 16th. After a great deal of persuasion the doctor agreed
