

Mr. MACMILLAN: It is not going to be?

Sir HENRY THORNTON: Not at the moment.

Mr. BELL: Are you contemplating building a hotel in Montreal?

Sir HENRY THORNTON: That is one question that I can answer in the negative, although there have been offers made and suggestions proposed, and we have, with the prudence which is characteristic of the management up to this time, rejected all of them.

The committee adjourned to meet on Tuesday, June 23, at 11 o'clock a.m.
