The system is simplicity itself. The writing staff is divided into only three spaces, and all letters, both small and capital, are brought within these three spaces. The advantages of this must be apparent to every practical teacher. It makes the system simpler and easier to teach, it follows more closely the proportions of ordinary type, and produces a style of penmanship having more character and dignity than any other scale.

Every single letter form has been carefully considered, so that it might combine in the highest degree the qualities of grace, legibility, and ease of execution. After much deliberation, the proportion of 3 in width to 4 in height has been adopted as the basis of the capitals and small letters; the capitals and loops of small letters are made just twice the height of the small letters a, c, m, n, etc.; and the initial and terminal strokes are made to extend one half-space vertically and horizontally—a unique feature, simplifying the letters considerably.

An examination of Grafton's Vertical Copy Books will convince anyone that they are not books hastily prepared in response to a sudden demand, but that they are the outcome of long-continued study and thought on the part of both the authors and the publishers.

In fifteen months the edition of these Copy Books published in the United States has been adopted by School Boards, over all competitors, in cities and towns having an aggregate population of 5,000,000.
