Five Swedish Steamers, Laden With Coffee Seized by British.

Copenhagen, via London, June 21.—The Berlingske Tidende says that five large Swedish steamers, with coffee from South America, have been seized by the British, and that the steamer Kronprinzessin Margareta, also laden with coffee, has been taken to Kirkwall. The action is believed to have been the result of allegations that German agents were gathering large quantities of coffee in Sweden for export to Germany as soon as the war is ended.

COMMANDER OF BRITISH A "ROUGH HEWN SOLDIER"

Sir Douglas Haig Makes One Brave to Look at Him Even.

HAS CHARMING MANNER

More of Oxford Than of Barrack Room About His Address.

"I have seen Sir Douglas Haig described as a 'rough-hewn soldier,' who, like Kleber makes you feel brave to look at him. If you meet him with that picture in your mind you have a shock of surprise. It is true that his bearing is gallant and soldierly, and that he conveys the sense of a man entirely master of himself and of his task. He is one of the youngest generals in the British army, but he is young-looking even for his years. This suggestion of youth is due not only to the rapid movements of the stalwart frame, but more definitely to the smooth, untroubled face. In profile it slants forward from the retreating brow to the adventurous nose and the big, strong chin. Seen in front, the face is square and massive, the mouth broad and decisive, the blue-gray eyes are calm and direct.

"But in his manner, speech, and habit of mind there is no trace of the 'rough-hewn soldier.' He is as remote as anything that can be imagined from suggesting the hard, merciless features of the typical Prussian, Mackensen or Falkenhayn, for example. Despite his uniform, he suggests Oxford more than the barrack-room, and one feels that he would be charming and reassuring by the bedside whether as the rector or the doctor. He irradiates a certain atmosphere of what I may call benevolent alertness. He wins one's confidence by his speech, is tolerant of a contrary opinion, and listens with respect to anything that deserves respect.

"But over-emphasis, cock-sureness, dogmatism have short shift from him. It is not that he rebukes them by word, but that he makes them seem false and crude by contrast with his own serene and confident manner. He is like the skillful horseman who rules his steed not by the whip and the spur, but by the subtle authority of a superior hand. He wins one's respect by the obviousness of his mastery is obvious without being demonstrative. It has the art of evoking the best in the mind of the listener, but it does not attempt to direct it into any element of respect. It is the art of the judge who encourages the counsel to enlighten him, but preserves his right of judgment." (Albert G. Gardner, in the July Century.)

TELEGRAPHERS SHOULD NOT FIGHT

Needed in Their Official Capacity, Says U. S. Telegraph Official.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

New York, June 21.—In a letter to a recruiting officer for the Plattsburgh military training camps, Clarence H. MacKay, president of the Postal Telegraph Cable Company, declares that, from a national point of view, it is a mistake for a telegraph company to have its operators prepare for and enlist in the regular army instead of serving their country in the capacity for which they are peculiarly fitted.

The company has been asked to grant to some of its operators a four weeks' leave of absence to attend the Plattsburgh camps. In his reply, made public to-day, Mr. MacKay wrote:

"It may not have occurred to you that telegraph operators are needed in time of war far more as telegraph operators than as soldiers or officers. The attendance of these operators at the camp at Plattsburgh would not aid the nation anywhere near so much as to have them available for telegraph purposes in case of war."

BI-LINGUAL AGITATION REACHES MANITOBA.

In referring, not long ago, to the impudent bi-lingual agitator who had started in Quebec, the Courier ventured the opinion that not only would Ontario be made the subject for assault in this regard, but also in all probability other portions of the Dominion.

Already it is very evident that Manitoba is likewise on the list. Recently a veritable bombshell was exploded in the office of court prothonotary, G. H. Walker, Winnipeg, when a statement of claim was tendered to him in the French language.

Mr. Walker refused to accept the document on the ground that it was not written in the English tongue. The plaintiff in the statement of claim is Joseph Dumas, member of the legislature for St. Boniface, and he had the statement of claim written in French and presented to the prothonotary in order to test the status of French as an official language in Manitoba. Mr. Dumas' legal representative is Albert Dubuc.

The case is likely to come up soon, and the claims of the French language will be upheld by Mr. Dubuc. It is understood that while the government was not aware of the action of Mr. Dumas and was not seeking a legal fight of this character, yet the challenge will be accepted and the case will be fought with competent counsel opposing Mr. Dubuc.

Mr. Dumas, in subsequent remarks said that his family had been resident in the Province upwards of one hundred years, and that their habitual language had been French. It should be an official language of the Province, on an equal footing with the English language, and also in the schools.

These French-Canadian agitators will run up against a pretty severe lesson mighty soon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who recently tried to help them by bringing the matter into the Dominion arena, has already had his share of his successful leadership are gone.

Philip Gibbs Writes of German Stand at Ypres.

ENEMY WAS BADLY PUNISHED

Canadian Dash Reached Most of the Line Ground.

From "The Daily Chronicle" Correspondent, Philip British Headquarters Saturday

After a period of intense fighting on various parts of the front in the Somme during the past week, the vanguard of the British army upon our trenches in the neighborhood of the distance of about 3,000 yards by the Canadians, and sustaining temporary possession of the positions of this front.

Throughout the night it was continuous, the Germans to consolidate the position occupied on the previous hostile artillery barrage severe, and our artillery a heavy bombardment. During the course of the Canadian launch attack and gained a line several places in the front. The Canadian dash was a hand-to-hand fighting progress, and at the time it is understood that the whole of the positions had taken.

Great Gun Duel.
It was about 9.15 yesterday that the enemy's artillery fire upon our trenches was very severe. It was not only poured high explosive shrapnel upon the front lines, but put up a formidable barrage behind, and shell in the neighborhood in a way.

Our artillery retaliated the greatest duels of the war has been seen on our front line for several days. The enemy's fire little mid-day yesterday, and it made a strong attack upon our trenches, which had severely damaged. It seems nine German battalions to the assault, and it is they suffered severely by the resistance of the Canadian front line. The effect of the enemy was able to enter trenches.

Owing to the continuous a considerable portion of the Canadian front line had to be abandoned for the west of Hooge upon a through Sanctuary. Work during the night and bombing attacks with the our.

No further attack or advance was made by the bombardment on each side.

I am told that the gun attacks and counter St. Eloi, in which the were also engaged, was "play" to this in the neighborhood of the greatest of the front line.

Forces engaged behaved most devotion to duty, and gallantry was shown by the "signals" of the Canadian ranks and branches.

The counter attack was a punishment. Heads of German were found in Sanctuary day, and in our old line.

Cheers of Advancing. The counter attack was a high, shortly after half in the morning, Canadian vanguard, cheering as they attacked in assaulting various points of the trenches on the northern side of the captured line.
