My head ached awfully. gripping five miles east of the nearest point pains would seize me, I would become so nauseated that I couldn't retain a thing on my stomach and at times I'd get so weak that I felt like I was going to faint. When the barrage was raised the Canadians and English swarmed over the top. Just behind them were numerous tanks of all sizes. They had been over only a minute when the enemy opened with a counter-barrage which is said to have been by far the strongest he has put down since the British offensive began.

The instant the British appeared, the Germans, in many cases, jumped out of the trenches and held their liands high above their heads.
