UNEMPLOYED IN BRITAIN.

Hundreds of Thousands Idle and Hungry in That Country.

WHAT WILL BE DONE?

Premier Will Grapple With Permanent Cause Next Session, and Offers Palliative Now.

LONDON, Thursday.—The very serious matter of the unemployed in England came up for discussion in the House of Commons this afternoon but a larger dose of money than last year and the expediting of the naval shipbuilding programme were the only expedients proposed by Premier Asquith in his unfolding of the Government's plan to meet the situation. The gravity of the case arising from the fact that hundreds of thousands are on the verge of starvation through lack of work was fully recognized by the Premier, but he said he could not undertake in the legislative field, to grapple with the permanent cause thereof until the next session. The Government, he said, was prepared to provide a fund of $1,500,000 to help the unemployed, and the Admiralty was giving out orders for the construction of nine torpedo-boat destroyers and five unarmored cruisers, to cost a total of $13,500,000, two months earlier than originally had been intended. The Premier made also a bid for recruits, saying that the War Office was ready to take on 24,000 men for winter training in the special reserves. There was some opposition to the demands of the labor members of the House.

RICHIBUCTO GRAMMAR SCHOOL IS BURNED.

Blaze, of Unknown Origin, Razes the Building to the Ground.

RICHIBUCTO, N. B., Tuesday.—At 4.40 this afternoon, the grammar school building took fire, and at 8 o'clock, all that remained was the two tall chimneys and some uprights. The fire originated in the primary department after the dismissal of the pupils for the day. The origin is unknown. The principal, L. R. Harrington, and Mr. Sterrick, of the teaching staff, with some young men, rendered valuable assistance in saving a quantity of school books and desks and some of the windows and outbuildings were saved.

The absence of wind saved the town from a serious conflagration. The loss is estimated at $4,000, partially insured. Temporary accommodation for the scholars will be secured.

Stomach troubles would more quickly disappear if the idea of treating the cause, rather than the effect, would come into practice. A tiny, inside, hidden nerve, says Dr. Shoop, governs and gives strength to the stomach. A branch also goes to the liver, and another to the kidneys. When these "inside nerves" fail, then the organs must falter. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is directed specifically to these failing nerves. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment patients say they realize a gain. Sold by all dealers.

Wilbur Wright says that aeroplanes will be sold for about $300 in a few years. However, enterprising dealers will put some of them on wheels, then "do luxe" and then charge four prices for them.

THE GOVERNMENT AND ZAM-BUK.

Survey Out From Fort William Takes This Wonderful Balm.

Zam-Buk the favorite household balm is now adopted as "The Doctor" by leading parties surveying various parts of the Dominion lands. Mr. Henry Hall writing from Fort William says:—"Having proved how beneficial Zam-Buk is in cases of cuts, skin injuries and diseases, I determined to keep a supply handy. Being engaged to go on a Survey I thought it would be a most useful thing to take along. I obtained a supply at Fort William, and very well it was I did so. I may say that nearly every day it was called into requisition by one or other of the party for cuts, bruises, burns, or some injury or other. It is wonderful how quickly Zam-Buk takes the soreness out of cuts, burns, bruises and injuries and on our survey it earned golden opinions from all who had occasion to try it. I have found it very fine for skin disease, and I can strongly recommend it as a household balm."

Mr. Lascelles Scott, one of the leading Government analysts says:—"I have no hesitation in certifying the entire purity of Zam-Buk which in my opinion is excellently adapted for skin injuries and diseases."

Zam-Buk cures cuts, scalds, burns, bruises, eczema, scalp sores, ringworm ulcers, abscesses, chapped places, cold sores, blood poisoning, chronic abscesses, etc. As an embrocation it relieves rheumatism, neuralgia, and sciatica. All druggists and stores sell at 50 cents a box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. For price, 3 boxes for $1.25. Send 1 cent stamp for dainty sample box.

Now comes a distinguished law professor testifying that no book contains more or better material for the student of corporation law than the Bible. ## U. S. FLEET IN JAPAN.

Jack Tar's Uniform the Open Sesame, Which it Isn't at Home.

TOKYO, Wednesday.—The reception accorded the United States Atlantic fleet by the government and people of Japan is conceded by the American naval officers to be the heartiest and most perfectly carried out of the many receptions they have received since the fleet sailed from Hampton Roads.

The men of the American and Japanese fleets are fraternizing everywhere in Tokio and Yokohama. The American uniform is the open sesame everywhere, the cordiality of the Japanese extending it to the inhabitants of the most remote villages. It is impossible to doubt the sincerity of the Japanese.

Since the arrival of the fleet not a single unpleasant incident has occurred, though the sailors of both fleets are swarming through the towns of Yokohama and Tokio.

SIR J. H. PULESTONE DEAD.

Known as the American Member of the House of Commons.

LONDON, Wednesday.—Sir John Henry Pulestone, who was formerly known as the "American member of the House of Commons," because of his intimacy with President Lincoln, died today. From 1874 to 1892 he represented Devonport in the House, and frequently intervened in parliament in affairs which threatened to disturb the good relations between Great Britain and the United States.

BLIZZARD RAGING IN THE CANADIAN WEST.

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., Wednesday.—A violent blizzard has raged all day and over a foot of snow has fallen. Traffic is tied up on the Crow's Nest branch, and trains are all late on the main line.

THE MAD MULLAH WILL FIGHT.

Hostilities to be Renewed Shortly—Unrest in Sudan.

NEW YORK, Wednesday.—A cable despatch to the Herald from Aden, says:

"It is reported that the Mad Mullah has informed the authorities of Bar-bera that he intends renewing hostilities at the conclusion of Ramadan, which ends on October 26th. Four hundred native infantry will probably proceed from Aden to British Somaliland on October 17th. The recent unrest among the natives appears to be developing into serious trouble."

WOMAN'S WORLD.

Khaki is a leading color.

Checked stockings are a novelty. Gold and navy blue is a fashionable combination.

They are using soutache braiding even on hats.

Rich lacy flowers may be bought by the card.

Scarfs and sashes of embroidered net are very pretty.

The trains on the new skirts are narrow, pointed affairs, and sometimes cut into scallops.

The new ostrich feathers are of the loveliest colors, with exquisite shades.

The hands look smaller in tan gloves than in any other color.

Silk muslin with printed Persian borders comes by the yard to make scarfs.

The old New England braided mat is quite the fashion in our modern homes.

Better own one jewel than is of its kind the purest and best, than a whole jewel-case full of imitations.

It is a gay little fancy to wear a large pink rose on the muff; and another on the front of the coat.

Hair brushes, combs, hair pins and side combs should be washed at least once a week, and put in the sun to dry.

Large, loose coats of dark plaid wool are worn over light weight dresses, for the morning walk, and for general out-of-door use on cool days.

It is very pretty with a thin white evening gown or a lingerie dress to have a petticoat with a band of pompadour ribbon on the hem.

The universal fashion of wearing ribbons in the hair is a dainty and becoming one. They are arranged by threading a large bodkin with ribbon and drawing it through the hair.

A black lace gown that was worn over black or white last season, may be remodelled beyond recognition by mounting it over ecru Liberty satin, with a middle dress of turquoise blue chiffon in the effect, too.

Provide your young daughter with a very dainty and attractive, though well stocked, work basket, and a little flowered sewing apron. They will then want to help with the mending—just for the sake of using the pretty things.

Remember that women should remember that it is an exhibition of the poorest taste to wear showy gowns and hats to the office or store. Lace blouses, elaborate jewelry, silk petticoats and all such finery, are entirely out of place and should be saved for the occasional revel in the evening.

A very handsome large muff is made of black satin, with four lengthwise bands of Persian lamb, edged to each side with a narrow pleating of black satin ribbon. The neck piece to match is a band of the fur with a satin ribbon pleating top and bottom and a large ribbon bow at one side.

Many girls are putting up their hair this autumn for the first time. Remember that a simple arrangement is always best. Any fake curls, puffs or braids are most reprehensible on young girls, and should be strictly avoided.

It is well to try several different modes and study the effect from all sides. Do not adopt a style hastily—just because the girl across the street does her hair that way.

The woman who trims her own hats should take care that she does not put the quilts on so that they stand out in all manner of erratic ways, as if bent on putting some one's eyes out.

To be sure, all this season's hats are much be-feathered, but they follow graceful curves, and beautiful sweeping lines that the home milliner will do well to study carefully.

A woman who makes her own blouses will find it a great help if she has a tight lining fitted to her and stuffed with cotton. The lining should come down to the hips and have the sleeves sewn in and stuffed with the cotton. Tack the edge of the lining to a flat board. Thus she may easily make the waists over this form, which exactly fits her.

When his lordship, the baby, goes for his morning airing, he will be very snug and warm in a carriage coat that comes made of white elderdown, with a pointed hood of the same material attached. It is lined with pink wash silk, and on the yoke and cuffs of the coat are embroidered tiny pink rosebuds that nestle down into the woolly texture of the elderdown in the most charming manner.

When a woman expects a guest, it gives a delightfully cheerful air to the guest room to put a vase of flowers in the room. It will be appreciated if there is a well filled work basket on the table, so that any little rent made in one's garments on the journey may be repaired in a few moments. It is a dainty attention on the part of the hostess if she puts in the room one of those large, sumptuously comfortable Japanese silk kimono and a couple of the latest books and magazines, so that her friend may curl up on the couch and rest herself a few moments, if she wishes.

So much can be accomplished with fragments of time that unless one has really made the attempt it is hard to be convinced.

I know of a woman who acquired a fair knowledge of the French language by studying on the train to and from Boston, another who wrote a complete Sunday school book while the train was carrying her to and from her duties.

Now, why is it not possible for the girl who works to gain a very fair idea of good, plain, wholesome and appetizing cookery by cutting out all the recipes carefully explained each week under this heading and pasting them in an ordinary blank book, thus gradually building up a useful collection of practical recipes that she can feel sure she can successfully attempt at a moment's notice. Then, if she persists in making one or two of them each week there is no reason why, by the time she is ready to assume the role of housekeeper for the one she chooses for life, she may not enter her kitchen with perfect confidence and prove beyond question her ability to prepare, cook and serve an appetizing meal.

AUSTRALIA'S NEW MILITIA.

Australia is going in for compulsory military training. This is not conscription in the European sense. It does not compel every man to give up two or more years of his life to the army, nor does it purpose to maintain so large a standing army as this would create. But the Australian plan will give to every man military training, and fit him to effectively serve under the colors should occasion arise. Beginning at the age of twelve, the new bill—it is a government measure—compels every youth to take military training for one hour a week and four clear days yearly. When the youth reaches eighteen he will have to take military training for eighteen clear days, every year for three years; and, for five years longer, an annual training of seven clear days.

This is a pretty large order; but Australia is thoroughly convinced of the necessity of arming itself if it is to protect its unpopulated territory from the overwhelming millions of crowded Asia. This system will make of every man in the country a trained soldier; and it will not require a great deal of his time. If the military training from twelve years to eighteen be interpreted to mean little more than school exercises and a few days' camping it will be an excellent thing to teach all the boys to march and "form fours" and go through the drill manual as a sort of instinct. Then the eighteen days' training from eighteen to twenty-one should give the young Australian a more practical acquaintance with the real work of fighting. Then, for five years more, he will be kept in a sort of "soft training." The demand is not much more when the state considers itself in danger; and every patriotic young Australian will hail the opportunity with enthusiasm.

This additional pressure on Australia and on the Motherland means that Canada must begin to assume her responsibilities more seriously if she is to keep her place in the empire. We cannot fall behind if we are to demand a hearing when questions of Imperial policy are up. We may not be in the peril which Australia believes to confront it—though we have our Asiatic questions—but the empire must be "one and indivisible" if it is to last; and the peril of one part is the peril of the whole.—Star.

CANNED PEARS.—For Bartlett and Seckel pears prepare a syrup allowing a pint of pure water and a quarter of a pound of sugar to a quart of fruit. While this is heating pare the fruit dropping each in as it is pared into a pan of cold water lest the color should change by exposure to air. When the syrup has come to a fast boil put in the pears carefully not to bruise them and boil until they look clear and can be easily pierced by a fork. Have the cans ready soaked in hot water, pack with the pears and fill to overflowing with the scolding syrup, which must be kept on the fire all the while; then seal. Tougher and more common pears may be boiled in water until tender, thrown while warm into hot syrup, then boiled ten minutes before they are canned.
