RUB ON NERVILINE.

You'll be astonished at the rapid pain relieving action of "Nerviline." Its effectiveness is due to its remarkable penetrating power—it strikes deeply, sinks to the very core of the trouble.

Nerviline is stronger, many times stronger, than ordinary liniments, and it's not greasy, ill-smelling or disagreeable. Every drop rubs in, bringing comfort and healing wherever applied.

You would scarcely believe how it will relieve a sprain, how it takes out lameness, how it soothes and eases a bruise.

Thousands say no liniment is half so useful in the home. This must be so, because Nerviline is a safe remedy—you can rub it on even a child with fine results.

Just you keep Nerviline on hand—it's a panacea for the aches, pains and slight ills of the whole family. One bottle will keep the doctor's bill small, and can be depended on to cure rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, sciatica, toothache, pleurisy strains or swelling. Wherever there is a pain rub on Nerviline; it will always cure.

The large 50c. family size bottle is the most economical; trial size 25c. Sold everywhere by dealers.

CHAPTER XII.

Tom's Story.

Here, suddenly awaking to the caducity of his proposition, he flushed, coughed and fidgeted to such an extent that his sisters burst into laughter, while Maud herself could not help smiling.

In the midst of this merriment a pony carriage dashed around a corner of the heath, and Miss Bella, who was blessed with long vision, declared that Lady Mildred and Miss Lawley were seated therein.

In another minute her assertion was proved to be correct by the pony carriage halting on the roadway and Lady Mildred's parasol being raised, to beckon the riding party across.

"Well, girls," said Lady Mildred, as the party clustered around the dainty little turnout and poured forth a stream of salutations. "Mr. Gregson, how do you do? Carlotta and I are going to Chudleigh's flower show. How is it you are not there, Maud?"

"Too early yet, aunt," said Maud; "it was to take place at three o'clock."

"Two o'clock, Chud told us—did he not, Carlotta?" said Lady Mildred.

"Yes," said Carlotta. "Perhaps he made a mistake."

"Very unlike Chud if he did," said Lady Mildred, emphatically. "Are you one of the judges, Mr. Gregson?"

"No, but my father is, Lady Mildred," said Tom. "I don't know a cabbage from a geranium."

"If it were a horse show," said Bella, "Tom would be tolerably competent."

"If it were a horse show," retorted Tom, "I know a young lady—"

"Come," said Lady Mildred, laughing. "I won't stay if you're going to tease each other. As it is, I don't know what to do. If we are really an hour too soon, I shall scold Chudleigh severely."

"Drive around the moor, aunt, and we will gallop around and meet you. That will fill some of the time up," said Maud.

"But you are not going in your habits!" said Lady Mildred, in comic dismay.

"Oh, yes, we are," said Bella. "It is a very unpretentious affair, Lady Mildred. Mr. Chichester allows only the villagers and laborers to exhibit, and the flowers are set out in the schoolroom. We are to walk through and see you distribute the prizes, and

Two Cases of Eczema and How They Were Cured.

Further Proof That Dr. Chase's Ointment is a Positive Cure for Chronic Eczema.

If you read these letters you will find that Dr. Chase's Ointment is not to be classed among ordinary salves and ointments. By actually curing itching, stinging eczema in many thousands of cases it has stood the most severe test to which any ointment can be put.

Mr. J. Brice, Temperance road, Parry Sound, Ont., writes: "Just a line to praise Dr. Chase's Ointment for what it has done for my wife. She has been suffering with eczema in her head for two years, and has spent no end of money with doctors and for ointments, which did her no good. She had about given up hope of ever being cured, when someone told her to try Dr. Chase's Ointment. By the use of this Ointment the trouble has left her entirely, so we have unbounded faith in it. I have told several people about the Ointment."

Mrs. W. G. Dowden, Greenpond, Bonavista Bay, Nfld., writes: "I suffered with eczema on my hands, and for eighteen months was so bad that I could not use a needle to sew or do anything. I could scarcely dress myself. Though I had lots of salves from doctors, I could never get much benefit from them. Then I sent for a sample of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and found it very different in action. It was not long before my hands began to heal, and four 50c. boxes made them well. I cannot praise Dr. Chase's Ointment too highly, and frequently give some to others to get them using it, for I know that it will cure."

In the home Dr. Chase's Ointment is of almost daily usefulness, for by relieving chafing and irritation of the skin it prevents eczema and similar itching skin diseases. Applied to all cuts and wounds, it prevents blood poisoning and heals the skin. Dr. Chase's Ointment, 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Mother! Give Child "Syrup of Figs" if Tongue is Coated

If cross, feverish, sick, bilious, clean little liver and bowels.

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver, and bowels so nicely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels and the result is they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhea. Listen Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

fresh slang words cropped up daily to puzzle him.

"To drink, of course," retorted the damsel. "Pop is what we call ginger-beer for short."

"Ah, ah! I see, I see," said the Italian, ejaculating, in his own language: "Ginger-beer! What will not these English use for their vile liquor? Ginger! Oh, St. Marie! Have you no gentlemen who veest here of an evening for a little conversation?"

"We don't sell it, if they did," said the girl; but gleaming from the puzzle expression of Spazzola's face that she had misunderstood him, caught at his meaning, and added: "Oh, I know. No. Most of the people about here never go out. They're a most unsofisticated lot. Why, I've known some people livin' in this street for four years and only send for supper beer twice the whole time."

"It es shameful!" said the Italian, looking greatly shocked, though in his heart considering what supper beer was, he admired them for their abstinence.

"There's another gentleman as has been lodgin' in the street for more than ten months, and he ain't been inside the doors, although he always passes after dark."

"After dark!" repeated the Italian, greatly interested in an individual who possessed a habit so particularly his own. "Does he not walk out in the day?"

"No, never," replied the girl, "and when he does go out at night he is wrapped up to such an extent you can't see more than the tip of his nose and his black hair, which, by the way in which it falls about the collar of his cloak, and by the cloak, too, which is a beastly thing, just like a foreigner's, I should say he was an Italian."

"Italian!" repeated Spazzola. "Ees that so? A countryman of mine! I am Italian," he ejaculated, striking his breast. "Where does he live, la mia signora?"

"There in the top room of that house," she replied, pointing to the top window of an old-fashioned house across the street. "He lives there all day, doing something—working. I suppose—and comes out like a bat or an owl at night," and she laughed at the comparison.

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—The scene at the United States Embassy this morning recalled the memorable days of August, 1914, of anxious Americans blockading corridors and secretarial rooms for renewal of their passports above all advice for their course and in regard to routes back home. Several secretaries stationed in the corridor to questions and the passport men worked at full speed, examining and renewing passports without going to the hither prescribed reference to Washington. Plans for the departure of Ambassador and his staff are still unsettled.
