A Guessing Game.

"Who's Who in Fact and Fiction," will occupy guests' attention for a pleasant half hour, if the following couplet is written on a separate sheet for each guest, or one copy is pinned on the wall where all may read.

Who, to give the people warning,
Rode "through the night" until the morning?

What maiden, "on a summer's day,
Raked the meadows sweet with hay?"

Who paced the floor with martial stride,
Yet sent his friend to win his bride?

Yet sent his friend to win his bride?

Yet sent his friend to win his bride?

Yet sent his friend to win his bride?

Yet sent his friend to win his bride?

Yet sent his friend to win his bride?

Entertained Soldiers.

The soldiers now undergoing treatment at the Military Road Hospital were entertained yesterday afternoon at the Summer Camp, Blackmarsh Rd., by the Daughters of Empire. The ladies numbering 16, accompanied by Miss Mahoney, the Matron, and nurses of the Hospital, were conveyed to the camp in autos, provided by the Daughters. After a splendid supper had been served a concert was held, the little girls now enjoying their outing at the camp furnishing a most enjoyable programme. Gramophone selections also added to the pleasure of the guests, who deeply appreciated the kindness of the Daughters in entertaining them so splendidly.
