A Score of Persons Killed and Over a Hundred Injured.

New York, Oct. 30 .- The long list of end of Manhattan like an earthquake, hurled a seven-story building in the 20 to 200. The big building of Tarrant corner of Greenwich and Warren streets, and filled with chemicals, took quickly followed by several explosions, chigan, choice to extra, $3 to $3 60; contemplated e Six persons were in the first of which a number of firemen were injured. Firemen had taken many girls down the fire escape when the second explosion occurred, about five minutes after the first. The building seemed to leap into the air, and in a moment masses of brick wall, timbers and stone were falling into the street. The force of the explosion tore away the walls of the big commission house fronting on Washington street and caused them to collapse, falling all at once in a mass. of debris. Across Warren street to the opposite buildings the flames leaped, setting them all afire at once, the force of the explosion demolishing windows and all wooden structures about the scene. In a moment Warren street was choked up with wreckage, and the whole place was aflame.

half a dozen more, scarcely less intense, and by a countless number of smaller ones. The explosion and fire together had now assumed the proportions of a great catastrophe, and it was at first thought that hundreds of lives had Throngs of people were rushing about in the near-by streets, many of them panic-stricken, fleeing from the fire. Half an hour after the explosion the streets for blocks around the vicinity were crowded with fire apparatus, and a score of ambulances, while hundreds of police were being rushed from all the lower precincts of the city to form lines, and many priests from near-by parishes were going here and there in the smoke, seeking for injured who might need their aid.

Just after the outbreak of the fire from the windows of the building, a down town bound train stopped at Warren street street staltion of the Warren street station of the Ninth avenue elevated road in the street below. It passed in time to escape the explosion. The big explosion completely carried away the station, and the mass of masonry that fell with it broke through the flooring and almost demolished the structure just below the building. Several near-by buildings were also wrecked.

AN EMPLOYE'S STORY. Joseph Becke, an employe of Tarrant & Company, said that there had been about 200 girls in the building, and many of them had gotten out by the fire escapes. There were at least 75, he their lunch at the time the fire started. A representative of the firm of Tarrant & Company called at the Hudson street hospital in the afternoon to inquire as to the condition of persons injured. He said that all the Tarrant employes had been accounted for ex-cept one man, who is known as

At 12:50 p.m. two additional explosions took place in the building occupied by J. H. Mohlman & Company, grocers, on Greenwich street. NOT HEART DISEASE

But Dyspepsia Is Cause of "Stitch in the Side," Etc

Why Many People Think They Have Heart Disease-How Dodd's Dyspep sia Tablots Correct That Idea by Curing the Cause.

Thousands of cases of so-called 'Heart Disease" are nothing more nor less than a certain form of Dyspepsia. The victim is afflicted with pain, or "stitch" in the side, palpitation of the said, that could not possibly have got- heart, or painful shortness of breath, ten away. The girls were all eating after running, walking fast, or other exertion.

These are always looked on as symptoms of Heart Disease. But they are not necessarily so. They are generally due to a much

In certain forms of Dyspepsia the stomach distends, or swells after meals. This is because it is unable to digest the food which accumulates forming a hard mass. When fresh food is taken, the walls of the stomach are forced outward and upward, to make the extra room needed.

Soon this distension, or swelling, becomes so great that the space in which The result is that the heart cannot work properly-its beat is shortened, as you would shorten the swing of a clock pendulum, by decreasing the space in which it moves. Then palpitation, which is simply the short, rapid throbbing of the heart, follows.

The other symptoms named are due to this cause also.

Cure that case of Dyspepsia, and the so-called "Heart Disease" disappears. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are only remedy known that can effect this

They cure Dyspepsia by digesting the food. The stomach, freed of its unnatural food, returns to its normal size the pressure is taken from the heartand all is well.
