Mr. Meik suggested a double-decked cord. He played last season with the construction of roads, the upper deck being reserved for fast vehicles, including automobiles, and the lower for slower and heavier traffic. To reach the upper deck certain secondary streets should be connected with it. The double-decked road should be within a four-mile radius. A suspended railway running along the new thoroughfares was proposed. The cost would be about $375,000 a mile, whereas a shallow underground railway would cost $250,000 a mile and tubes $1,750,000 a mile. The total cost of the two main avenues was estimated at $355,930,000, but the recoupment from the sale of surplus lands would bring the net cost down to $116,-555,000. Pathway to the Grave--CATARRH

The one sure and unfailing cure for catarrh is CATARRH-OZONE. It kills the germs. thereby removing the cause of the disease. It penetrates the most minute air cells of the nose, throat and lungs, bathing all inflamed surfaces with its healing vapor. No case can withstand this powerful antiseptic, which cures all discharges, clears the nose and throat of mucus, and brings instant relief. Catarrhozone is pleasant to use, convenient, and guaranteed to give satisfaction.

Almost Eaten Up With Catarrh.

Mr. Ulric Breault, who has lived for years in Swertaburg. Que., inherited Catarrh from his mother. The disease spread through his system 'till he was a physical wreck. "As a child," he writes, "I was prone to an ulceration of the mucus lining of the throat and nasal passages. I grew pale and emaciated, lost all desire for food and got into such a dreadful condition that my friends said Catarrh was fairly eating me up. Every organ of my body seemed affected, and the doctor said it was the first stage of consumption. He advised Catarrhozone, and I inhaled it ten minutes at a time, every few hours, and was rewarded in a few days by a wonderful improvement. In about three weeks I was quite recovered, and the doctor says no remedy but Catarrhozone (Signed) ULRIC BREAULT. could work such a miracle."
