FEW OFFERINGS

Hay Goes to $11.50 Per Ton

The offerings were not at all great, but prices were very firm. Hay was quoted at $10.50 to $11.50 per ton, several men receiving the higher price. This was somewhat of a boost over the figures of the past few weeks.

Straw was dull at $6 per ton.

A few loads of oats were brought in, prices ranging from $1.38 to $1.43 per cwt. Bidding was brisk and all loads sold readily. One load of seed corn was sold The offerings were not at all great,

GRAIN.

TORONTO.

Toronto, April 7.—Advices concerning the beginning of seeding are becoming more general, but this preliminary indication of an auspicious opening of the crop season has had no effect on prices as yet. The wheat market continues very strong and there is nothing in the news being sent out which would give any hint of a break. There is surprisingly little wheat being marketed. Quotations:

A DELIVERY WAGON WAS BLOWN OVER

A Peculiar Accident on Richmond Street Near Grosvenor Street Today.

One of the most peculiar accidents of the day was the blowing over of Langley's delivery wagon, which took place on Richmond street, near Grosvenor. The velocity of the wind at the top of the hill was very great, and almost as soon as the rig came in contact with the force of the wind it was overturned. The driver, Roy Mc-Leod, managed to jump out, but the horse was unable to escape and was dragged over on its side, and was badly scratched. The wagon will have to be sent to the shop for repairs.

WIND BLEW A GALE OF 75 MILES AN HOUR in proper shape again.

Drop in the Temperature of Twelve and a Half Degrees-Almost a Hurricane Today.

The estimated velocity of the wind as taken at the local observatory was 75 miles an hour. This was accompanied by a drop in the temperature of 121/2 degrees, the temperature at 8 it falling through the roof of the o'clock this morning being 50 above, and at noon 371/2. A hurricane consists of wind trav-

Damage in East End.

Much damage was done by the heavy wind along the line of the Grand Trunk, particularly around Rectory street, where the west semaphore, operated in connection with the street railway derails, was torn up, a dozen chimneys blown from the roof of the roundhouse, and the electific light over the crossing hurled fifty feet away. fifty feet away.

A large derrick about fifty feet high was blown from the roof of the Canada Chemical Works, tearing down part of the roof and cornice. No person was injured.

Lumber Scattered.

The wind also worked havoc in Belton's lumber yard on Rectory street between 10,000 and 20,000 feet of lumber being scattered about and broken up. The men were compelled to stop work in the yard, as it was feared some person would be injured. A number of bill-baords owned by the same company were also blown down and several men have been sent out to prop them up.
