WILKINSON ELECTED BY THE CITY OF LONDON

Arrival of Election Writ Plunges City Into Campaign

4,000 VOLT CURRENT IS FATAL

Edward Demurt of Kitchener Electrocuted on High-Tension Line Near City.

DEATH INSTANTANEOUS
Coroner Dr. J. C. Wilson Orders Inquest Into Gravel Road Fatality.

Edward Demurt, of Kitchener, a hydro-electric line man, was electrocuted this morning on the Sarnia gravel road a short distance out of London, when his hand came in contact with a high voltage wire on which he was working.

Demurt was killed almost instantly when his body received a current of 4,000 volts. He fell backwards, but a safety strap which fastened him to a high post, saved a fall to the ground.

He was engaged with other workmen in installing a new line along the Sarnia gravel road, near Brescia hall. In cutting a wire, one end of which became grounded as it was severed, his body received the electric current. His fellow workmen managed to lift the charged wire from his body and supporting him on their shoulders bore him to the ground.

Coroner Dr. Cameron Wilson, who was called immediately, stated that death was instantaneous. He ordered an inquest. The body will be viewed by a coroner's jury at Logan's funeral home this evening.

Demurt, who had been living in London for only a few weeks in this district, was employed by the provincial hydro-electric commission. He was an experienced workman.

His mother lives in Kitchener. Two other brothers, who are the only survivors, reside in Detroit. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Street Railway Begins Improvement of Askin St., But Paving Is Delayed

Street railway improvements will be among the high spots at tonight's session of the city council, when recommendations will be brought up for the paving of York street, from Richmond to Talbot. Reconstruction of street railway tracks in this block is expediting the move to pave the street.

Work was commenced this morning by the street railway company on Askin street where new tracks are being laid. This improvement meets a long-felt want, as the tracks there have been in worse shape than any other part of the system.

Paving on Askin street cannot be undertaken this year, unless on the petition of ratepayers along the thoroughfare.

Ratepayers filed a petition against the initiation of the paving, according to City Engineer W. P. Neer, and until the work cannot be started until these people take favorable action.

The street railway company changed over from the old rails to new metals on York street on Sunday and construction work will be completed there within a week, in time for the paving which the city contemplates. The mayor promises some important move in street railway matters tonight, but refuses to divulge the result of his negotiations with the street railway company during the past week.

Tonight the council may or may not appoint a commissioner to the London railway board to fill the vacancy there. There are a half dozen prospects for the vacancy, though some of the aldermen are in favor of leaving the appointment until the end of the year.

Londoners Big Investors
In Out-of-Town Hotel Stock

In three out-of-town hotels London investors own double or triple the amount of stock to be sold locally in connection with the new million-dollar hotel to be built on Federal square.

This statement was made by John S. Moore, manager of the London & Western Trusts Company, to the hotel campaign committee on Saturday night, and verified by D. B. Weldon, bond salesman.

Why should Londoners support outside hotels? asked Mr.

Moore pointedly, "when half or one-third the amount of money invested here at home will assure a fine new hotel for London, one of the city's greatest needs as a community at the present time?"

London citizens hold stock, it was stated, in the King Edward Hotel, Windsor, and Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal, to the extent of twice or three times preferred stock issue of $300,000 to be put on the local market this week for the new hotel.

G. O. ALCORN, K.C., whose retirement from the position of master of the supreme court of Ontario is announced. He was formerly master-in-ordinary, having been appointed to this position in 1910. His resignation takes effect immediately. He is now 75 years of age, and has had a long and distinguished legal career.

His Majesty King George, having the interests of the Six Nations Indians at heart, is plaintiff in an exchequer court action to recover some $175,000 for the Indians from land sales put through by the New England company which has operated in Canada and the United States since 1662 under a charter given by King Charles the second. Co-defendants with the New England company are Edmund Sweet, Abraham Nelles, deceased and the incorporated syndicate of the diocese of Huron. Murphy, Gunn and Murphy have been retained by the solicitor-general to prosecute the case. A. G. Chisholm acting as associate counsel with Major Albert Murphy. The land involved was at one time part of the various Indian reserves in Western Ontario.

CHARTER GRANTED 1662.
According to the original charter granted by Charles the second in Feb. 1662, the company was formed for the "propagation of the gospel in New England and the parts adjacent in America." A supplemental charter was granted by Queen Victoria in 1880, for "further protection of the Indian lands." The charter was granted to the heavenly natives in or near New England and parts adjacent in America and for the better education, civil-izing and instructing heathen in the knowledge of the true God and in the Protestant religion already and publicly professed by divers of them."

In January, 1793, the chiefs, warriors and women of the Six Nations became possessed of land on the Grand river, but it was not until 1836 that King William the fourth granted the New England company 360 acres in trust for missionary purposes.

In 1832 the defendant company erected a school on the reserve known as the Mohawk institute, but no schools were erected on land handed over to the company for missionary purposes at Oneida, Onondaga and Delaware.

Trust Lands Sold.
The crown claims that large portions of the land held in trust were wrongfully sold, and demands an accounting of all such transactions, and the amounts involved with interest that it may be paid over to the Six Nations Indians.

It is claimed that the Tuscarora parsonage lot has not been occupied for many years and is now leased by the defendant company, rents and profits going to the defendant. Since 1923, however, the money has been going to the superintendent-general of Indian affairs for the benefit of the Six Nations.

The statement of claim also sets forth that in 1894 the company sold land for $600 to the T. H. & B. Railway. In 1909 the city of Brantford purchased a plot for $535, while in 1910 the Cockshutt Plow company paid $627 for property which is alleged rightfully belonged to the Indians. A full accounting since 1793 is demanded by the Indians, and it is expected that the case when it does come up this fall will take some little time for disposal.

WILL INVITE GERMANY.
Associated Press Despatch.
Geneva, Sept. 8.—The allies have definitely decided to invite Germany to a conference for consideration of the proposed security pact, a British spokesman announced today.

The spokesman at the same time said M. Painleve and Foreign Minister Briand of France, accompanied by Austro-Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, are motoring to Aixles-Bains this afternoon to confer with Stanley Baldwin, the British prime minister, and from out the details of the projected meeting with the German foreign minister, Dr.
Stresemann.

Mr. Baldwin's trip, he continued, was not to be taken as an indication of any new crisis in the situation, which, in fact, continued hopeful. The allied and German jurists, at their recent meeting in London, drafted a provisional text for the security pact, with indications of the points on which differences of opin-
