EVILS OF CENTRALIZATION.

Some of the conservatives are beginning

TWO POSSIBLE SURPRISES

The liberal and the conservative parties are each of them working away on what each of them think to be its best card befor the country. On the conservative side the National Policy is, to change the simile. the main plank and the strong one ; it has in fact to carry the rest of the platform. Beyond all question the N. P. is to-day carrying the syndicate and several other things for which the Dominion government is responsible; it carries itself and a great deal else besides. We may well ask, where would the assailants of Sir John's government be to-day, if they had nothing than the attack on the N. P. for their po-gram ? Why, they would be lost, so utter y lost that the country would not know when to find them, and would not recognize them if found. The N.P. is Sir John's strong issuue; it carries itself, it carries him and his government, aye, and an enormous mass of unpopular deadweight besides, which it has no business to carry, and should not be burdened with it all. There are men who say and good business men, too, among them-let us have Sir John and the N. P. by all means, even if it should be burdened with various unpopularities, rather than go back to the ruinous system of crushing Canadian enterprise and keeping the country in a state of abject commerndence on England and the United States, especially the United States. It may safely be said that busiin Toronto there would have been no disness men, in all the provinces, will hear a putes about jurisdiction ; and probably the same would have been the case if reformers tremendous deal from Sir John in the way were in power at both capitals. The bitterof boundary questions, disallowances, and ness of party unfortunately too often creeps lots of other things, rather than see the country go back to the already repudiated sysinto these issues. But the conservatives, tem of commercial freedom for foreigners and whether at Ottawa or in the local legislamercial slavery for ourselves. This is ture, may rest assured that the people of Sir John's strong point, he holds to it this province will stand up for their rights strongly and he does not feel a bit ashamed to a man. For, as the Telegram puts it, if the people of Ontario do not do this who of it. Even more than this must be saidbefore the manufacturing magnates of will ? Lancashire he made the boldest declaration THE FAILURE of Mr. Thomas Hughes's ever made by any Canadian statesmant in England-he told them that the Canadian tarilf was made with the express design of promoting Canadian interests first of all, and would be continued on that line. On this his government stands to-day.

The Dominion opposition for Ontario is practically the Dominion opposition ; for it does not yet appear that the other provinces take much stock in it. And that opposition, as far as can be seen, weight by the illness of the member for going before the country on the platform of South Simcoe. Mr. Parkhill resumes his seat at only 195 lbs. Last session he provincial rights and antagonism to the Pacific railway syndicate. Other questions turned the scale at 260 lbs. there may be, of minor importance, but these are the main ones pressed upon public attention. In Nova Scotia last hours being between sunset and sunris Some of the conservatives are beginning to see that they are not only unpatriotic in supporting the federal authorities in the present dispute with the province as to powers and rights, but that they are being made the catspaws of the French Canadians of Onches who for some reason or other of Quebec, who for some reason or other are very anxious that Ontario should be crippled wherever possible. Stick up for who shoots him with his rifle; the coyote crippled wherever possible. Stick up for your province, gentlemen ! The letter signed Salmoneus is timely in the present discussion of the rights of the provinces as against the Dominion authorities. While not agreeing with all he says, yet we must admit that it is a fact that if there had been a conservative gramment in power in Toronto there would have been no disthat he uses when discovered and pursued, is to create remoteness between himself and his pursuer. In giving his whole attention to this matter, when necessary, he is a stupendous success and earnest to a fault. When disturbed he unlimbers his long legs, infurls his ears, and goes off with a bound. He generally stops after running about a hundred yards and looks back to see if his pursuer is enjoying the chase as much as he thought he would, and then he leaves for parts unknown. There are many fast things, from an iceboat to a note maturing in the bank, but nothing to equal the jack rabbit. An unfounded rumor gets around pretty lively, but could not keep up with him for two blocks. When an ordinary cur Rugby colony is announced by the Rughim for two blocks. When an ordinary cur dog tries to expedite a jack rabbit route he makes a humiliating failure of it. He only givas the rabbit gentle exer-cise. Other issues were trilling in com If on these two great issues the country and liberal loving people, remain imactive supported them they should stand, even in while our rights and privileges are being spite et minor faults in other respects ; if on these issues they were condemned, no amount of well-doing in other respects There are a spit and a spit and a spit and a spit a spit and a spit and a spit a spit and a spit a spit a spit and a spit a could save them. There Sir Charles stated to the interest of the masses, and to those principles for which the liberal party has the case plainly; and the case as he put it is no doubt substantially the case that will for years labored. Decentralization is the motto of the reform party, and to that go before the country in 1883, if not scoper.

party we must look if we wish to preserve Only one more element has since come into prominence, that of Ontario's provincial our rights, and to extend our liberties. It rights; and the liberal party here have has been said by some that our seized upon it with eager grasp, evidently PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURES determined to make as big a thing of .: as they possibly can.

At public meetings, and in private gatherings too, whenever the affairs of the country are debated, this is how things go, at least in Ontario. Start the N.P. for the subject of discussion and Sir John's friends are strong and carry all before them. Even staunch grits assume an apologetic tone, and try to create the impression that after all they are not so much against reasonable protection as has been said. On the other hand, let the syndicate or the rights of Ontario come up, and immediately the grits appear to carry all before them and put on he airs of conquerors. Now, let us suppose two particular possibilities. Suppose

Sir John has in his head the game of al-THE LETELLIER CASE, lowing his opponents here to waste their wind on provincial issues which he holds in his hand all the while, ready to concede before the election comes on, all that is required to put him right with Ontario. Suppose, further, that he may have something in reserve which when revealed will make the syndicate business look a good deal better before the country than it does at present. These two things coming together, would be a surprise in his favor, very much indeed. But there are possibilities of surprise on Mr. Blake's side too. Suppose that soon after parliament meets, or at some other time deemed proper for the business, a Dominion opposition caucus should consider, decide, and announce to the country, with tangible assurance offered, that the manufacturing interests would be perfectly safe even with a change of government, and that to put it plainly, the present opposition would renounce their alleged free trade principles. and that the N.P. would still be safe if they returned to power. These are the outlines of two possible surprises for the country, and both are probable enough to

It has been our lot to read some pretty sickly articles in the Mail of late ; but for advanced imbecility and decrepitude, commend us to yesterday morning's column-long house. We hardly know what to compare it to, but let us take, for instance, a wife, wailing because her husband doesn't wipe criticism of Mr. Fraser's manner in the wailing because her husband doesn't wipe his feet on the door-mat; a boarding-school mistress lecturing ague on her ex-uberant spirits; an invalid with shattered nerves trembling at the slamming of a door. In one place the writer says with a sigh, "It is quite impossible to convey the tone of these remarks (Mr. Fraser's) to our readers; the reckless tructu-

are expensive and useless; but those who so express themselves are either ignorant so express themselves are either ignorant of the subject, or otherwise they are oppos-ed to liberalism. For in the maintain ence of our provincial legislatures lies the safety of many of these liberties we hold dear. Better by far dispense with the services of the federal house than give up our local parliament. Therefore it be-hooves us all to be on the alert and pre-vent, while we have the power, the rights of our legislatures from being infringed upon. For if we allowed the federal gov-ernment to usurp the powers of our lecal legislatures at will we virtually surrender our rights and liberties into the hands of a legislatures at will we virtually suffender our rights and liberties into the hands of a few unscrupulous and powerful men whose actions of the last few years have been ex-tremely characteristic of that bitter parti-san spirit. So much to be deplored in this young and growing country. First THE LETELLIER CASE, in which the feder: I government arrogated to itself the power of dismissing lieutenant governors which should never have been tolerated by the people. But having suc-ceeded in this Sir John Macdonald became emboldened to carry his partisan animosity further; for it is safe to say that if a con-servative government had been in power in Ontario there would have been no trouble concerning THE BOUNDARY AWARD, and it would have been speedily ratified; and the streams act would have been allowed to become law without a discussion at Ottawa; become law without a discussion at Ottawa; and in all probability the present dispute concerning the right of the Ontario govern-ment to dispose of the Mercer estate would not have arisen if a conservative govern-ment had been in power at Toronto. All this assumption of powers by the federal government which does not belong to it, is ealership the entreme of that bitter martisen government which does not belong to it, is palpably the outcome of that bitter partisan teeling which has long prevailed to the detriment of the county's interest. In-telligence and information should be given to the people that they may rightly under-stand their position and know that to se-cure their liberties they must insist that both the provincial and federal govern-ments be each supreme within its sphere.
