Ciddy Galety Girls Injected by the City
Physician.

New York, Dec. 4.—Thirty Gaiety girls and 10 Gaiety men, all members of the "Gaiety Girl" Company, were vaccinated on Monday by city physicians. Then, with other members of the company, who didn't have to submit to the needle-either because they had been vaccinated or had had the smallpox, they went to their homes, packed their trunts and left at 4 o'clock for Boston, with a clean pill of health.

One member of the company remained that o'clock for Boston, with a clean pill of health.

Cissy Fitzgrald, Decima Moore, Blanche Massey and others followed quickly, the operation lasting only the fraction of a minute. Some of them squeaked "Ow!" when the point went in, but all seemed to regard the whole transaction as a joke, and there was a good deal of laughter throughout.

All of the members' names and addresses were taken by Manager Malone as they marched bravely up to the sacrifice. This information was for the Health Department, and will be used in the effort to trace the disease. All were pronounced to be in good physical condition, and the doctors agreed that there was no reason in the world why they should not go to Boston in the afternoon.

He played it for the rest of the week, too, for Monkhouse did not improve. The physician who was attending him saw signs of varioloid on Saturday, and he summoned Chief of the Bureau of Contagious Diseases, Dr. Doty, who ordered the patient to the Reception Hospital. Then Dr. Doty conferred with Managers of the Opera House. He told them it would be necessary to vaccinate every Gaiety girl and man, and every employe of the Opera House. He told them it would be necessary to vaccinate every Gaiety girl and man, and every employe of the Opera House. Both managers assented readily, and said that everything possible should be one. It meant a good deal to them. Manager Malone, at the end of the performance on Saturday night, put up a "call." It was to the effect that every member of the "Gaiety Girl" company should be at No. 1225 Broadway, the house adjoining Daly's Theatre on the aptown side, and used by it, at 11 o'clock yesterday morning.
