NOTE AND COMMENT have ceased publication chiefly owing to the high cost of publishing.

Sweden has passed a prohibition law, but in Sweden the word for prohibition seems to be Fourteen Per

A million more horses on the farms of the United States in 1920 than 1910 is the report of the American Horse Association, gathered from the census.

Trustees of a country school district in California have written to the state department of education for a woman teacher "clothed below the knees and above the waist."

A new travelling bag, with a thiefproof lock has been invented by a resident of Dundee, Scotland. Particulars as to how many bottles it will hold are not yet to hand.

Through a flaw in the window pane a hot sun focused its rays upon the bed on which a little child at Benwood, West Virginia, was sleeping. The bed was set afire and the baby burned to death.

The American Horse Association says there are a million more horses on the farms of the United States now than there were in 1920. Where's the fellow who said the tractor and the auto would soon put the horse out of business? This is where he gets the horse laugh.

From Washington comes the suggestion that disarmament might be solved by the powers agreeing to devote a common fixed percentage of their national revenues to purposes of defence. This probably would leave the United States with an army and navy as large as those of any other three countries combined.

A remarkable case is reported by The Manitoba Free Press: "We note that down in Ontario wheat was growing in the field one day and the that's nothing. The other day or for a moment of it, we saw a man walking along the street. The next minute he had turned into a barber shop.

Speaking before the members of the short course in journalism yes-terday, J. C. Ross, Editor of The ing every day. It used to be an Farmers' Sun, declared that the rural Press provided a bulwark for much that was best in national life. "The only bulwark against this drift little more consideration for the pubto the cities," he said, "is to be found in the creation of a strong and virile public opinion in the rural the railroads. districts."

Because he wanted to "see the man put water on it with the hose,' Thomas Miller, aged 12, started the fire in the stables of the Queen Hotel which on September 7 destroy ed about one-third of Annapolis Royal, N. S., at an estimated loss of a quarter of a million dollars, according to the boy's confession to Chief Detective Horace Kennedy of Halifax.

Women of Canada will be out in full voting strength on Dominion election day, when, according to ar unofficial estimate, more than 1,-260,000 will be entitled to cast their ballots. The same estimate gives the total voting strength of both sexes at approximately 3,000,000. At the last Dominion election approximately 3,000,000 votes were cast, and of these some 232,000 were soldiers votes. The deficiency between the voting strengths of 1917 and 1921 is accounted for by the fact that in 1917 some 30 constituencies were carried by acclamation, and also by the fact that more women will be

A prominent man who was asked what in his observation was the most fruitful cause of failure in life replied "The unwillingness to achieve success by earning it in the old fashion ed way." And the old fashioned way is to work and save and invest and climb up the ladder a round at a time not to draw the winning number in a lottery.

The passenger rates, it is true have been brought down to some extent but they are still too high. No effort is made by the railroads to encourage those to travel who can afford to do so. The days were when cheap excursions were advertised to many next day it was in biscuits. But points and thousands, who now stay ways.
