

And then with lighten'd eyes and willing feet,
Again I turned my earthly cross to meet;
With forward footsteps turning not aside,
For fear some hidden evil might betide.

And there, in the prepared, appointed way,
Listening to hear and ready to obey,
A cross of plainest form I quickly found.
With only words of love inscribed around.

With thankfulness I raised it from the rest,
And joyfully acknowledged it the best;
The only one of all the many there,
That I could feel was good for me to bear.

And while I thus my chosen one confess'd,
I saw a heavenly brightness on it rest;
And as I bent my burden to sustain,
I recognized my own old cross again!

But oh, how different did it seem to be,
Now I had learn'd its preciousness to see!
No longer could I unbelieving say,
Perhaps another is a better way.

Ah no! henceforth my one desire shall be,
That he who knows me best should choose for me;

And so, whate'er His love sees good to send,
I'll trust it's best, because he knows the end.
