

CONTENTS.

9

|                                   | PAGE |
|-----------------------------------|------|
| Poverty . . . . .                 | 105  |
| Fellowship . . . . .              | 105  |
| Lines to a Friend . . . . .       | 106  |
| The Cry of Motherhood . . . . .   | 107  |
| After Dawn . . . . .              | 108  |
| After Parting . . . . .           | 109  |
| To Mother at Christmas . . . . .  | 110  |
| In the Cloister . . . . .         | 112  |
| Light and Shadow . . . . .        | 113  |
| Night on Lake Ontario . . . . .   | 114  |
| A Summer Rose . . . . .           | 116  |
| The First Snowfall . . . . .      | 118  |
| Memory . . . . .                  | 119  |
| In the Cathedral . . . . .        | 120  |
| A Madrigal . . . . .              | 121  |
| Quatrain . . . . .                | 122  |
| The Children . . . . .            | 123  |
| Faces in the Street . . . . .     | 125  |
| A Voice in the Rain . . . . .     | 127  |
| Then and Now . . . . .            | 128  |
| A Song of Fall . . . . .          | 130  |
| Wiegen-Lied . . . . .             | 131  |
| A Faded Letter . . . . .          | 133  |
| Nocturne . . . . .                | 134  |
| A Song of the End . . . . .       | 135  |
| At Six o'Clock . . . . .          | 136  |
| Transformation . . . . .          | 137  |
| The Lament of Autumn . . . . .    | 137  |
| Roses Mortes . . . . .            | 138  |
| The Soul of Eastertime . . . . .  | 139  |
| The Land of Dreams . . . . .      | 141  |
| Would You? . . . . .              | 142  |
| Lines to a Poet . . . . .         | 144  |
| Life's Sublimest Height . . . . . | 145  |
| The Old Year Is no More . . . . . | 146  |