

age back to such strong elemental men as these old pioneers. They were men. They left the world better for their having toiled in it.

"Admire, exalt, despise, laugh, weep, for here
There is such matter for all feeling—Man!
Thou pendulum betwixt a smile and tear,
Ages and realms are crowded in this span."

—BYRON.