Canada's Greatest Store has provided as never before for the biggest kind of Holiday Trade. No store in Canada has made equal preparation. Expert buyers travelled far and wide in search of Holiday Goods. The result of their labors may now be seen in the magnificent displays throughout this entire store—displays of useful things, pretty things and novel things—all suggestive of the holiday spirit that abounds here. It would be useless to attempt describing the wide range of Holiday Goods, so endless are the assortments. We therefore invite all who can to visit the store and see for themselves. Visit the basement. Visit the top floor, and don't skip any of the floors between.

And the children, we want you to bring them early before the great rush begins. Let them see the Toy Department in the Basement; it is theirs to enjoy to their hearts' content. Bring them next week while the Department is still at its best, for already the choicest things are being picked up by prudent shoppers.

Those who cannot visit the store should send for our Christmas Catalogue. It is filled from cover to cover with Holiday suggestions for old and young. No Mail Order shopper should miss getting a copy. Your name and address on a post card will do it.

MR. BLAKE'S EXPLANATION.

Mr. Blake at last gives us his reasons for abandoning the Liberal party in 1891. He tells us that he was opposed to the unrestricted reciprocity policy advocated by his party, and as he could not accept it he decided to withdraw altogether from Canadian politics. Mr. Blake confesses that he believes in the free trade policy, and that he is in complete agreement with our financial requirements, and that it would finally transfer the control of our tariff from Ottawa to Washington. Time has proved that Mr. Blake was right in his views on this question, but it has also proved that he adopted an unpatriotic, if not a cowardly, policy in maintaining silence during a period when the fate of the country was in the balance. Country is above party. If ever there is an occasion when a statesman should speak out it is when the independence of his country is jeopardized. When Laurier and his supporters were shouting in favor of a policy that naturally led to annexation, Mr. Blake, the United States, Mr. Blake should not have gone off sulking. It was his duty to oppose his friends and denounce their disloyalty. Fortunately for the country, the scheme of unrestricted reciprocity failed, and in its place we have the nobler and more patriotic project of imperial federation. But the country owes nothing to Mr. Blake. He made no attempt to save the country from the political annihilation that threatened it. On the contrary, he stood idly by, ready to witness the transfer of our nationality to the United States. The action of Mr. Blake in this episode contrasts strongly with that of Mr. Chamberlain in a somewhat analogous situation. Mr. Chamberlain was a member of the Gladstone Government when the latter introduced his celebrated Home Rule Bill. Mr. Chamberlain believed that the passage of the bill meant the disruption of the Empire. Unlike Mr. Blake, he did not submit and go into retirement, but he denounced the bill and severed his connection with the Gladstone section of the Liberal party. Mr. Chamberlain not only believed in maintaining the union of the Empire, but he fought tooth and nail to uphold its integrity. Mr. Blake, on the other hand, has stood much higher in the estimation of the people of Canada if he had displayed more of Mr. Chamberlain's grit and patriotism. To-day Canada has no need of Mr. Blake's assistance to prevent her annihilation as a nation. Six years ago Canada badly needed the assistance of every loyal citizen. Her continued existence as a nation was threatened. Mr. Blake could have performed a service of genuine merit to his country at that time. An opportunity for doing a similar service is not likely to present itself again, and even if it did we have no assurance that Mr. Blake would embrace it. On the contrary, the evidence goes to show that he would again be wanting in his duty. When he should be strong he is weak. When he should act he goes into retirement. When there is no special need for his services he enters from his retirement and proposes to take a hand in the development of the country. Mr. Blake is somewhat of a political misfit.

HONEST GOVERNMENT ALWAYS AN ISSUE.

Mr. Bertram says "the Crow's Nest Railway is not an issue. Both parties endorsed the carrying out of the work by the C.P.R. and the Tory Senate did so by unanimous vote." This is the reason given by Mr. Bertram for his silence on the question. True it is that the C.P.R. has been granted the right to build the road, and in that respect the question is settled. But the question is not settled, and the transaction has not been settled. They form an issue which can only be settled as the celebrated Canadian Pacific Railway scandal was settled, viz: by the overthrow of the Government. Mr. Bertram gave us to understand that he had views of his own, that he was independent and ready to criticize the acts of the Government as well as the Opposition. But he has no views on the Crow's Nest scandal, although it has created a great sensation throughout the whole country. Many leading public men and journals, including several of the principal Liberal organs, have denounced the Crow's Nest scandal. The Montreal Witness, The Simcoe Reformer and other influential Grit journals used anything but temperate language in denouncing The Globe and Messrs. Cox and Jaffray for their connection with this fraud on the people. The Crow's Nest Railway may not in itself be an issue, but honest government is always an issue. Let Mr. Bertram tell us whether he approves of the conduct of The Globe in hoodwinking the people and in supporting a policy that was shaped for the purpose of securing the gain of its shareholders, including a member of the Dominion Senate. The necessity for building the Crow's Nest Railway is not disputed. But the jobbery and corruption connected with the deal is an issue which the Liberal party will have to face and which Mr. Bertram is called upon to face in his candidature in Centre Toronto.

ANOTHER DOUBLE MURDER

Port Arthur Piggery Mystery Solved After a Lapse of Nine Months.

Port Arthur, Ont., Nov. 26.—On the morning of Feb. 11 last there was great excitement caused in this town when it was discovered that two Frenchmen named Rene Dabin and Fred Corriere had been burned to death in a piggery which they were building on the outskirts of the town.

Coroner Beck held an inquest, and, after thorough investigation, the opinion was that a crime had been committed, but the guilty parties, if any, could not be discovered. It transpires now that one, Oliver Provost, who was living in town at the time with a woman, suspected to be named Rosanna Provost, and who was recently living in Pembroke under the name, as is alleged, of Gauthier, are reported to have quarrelled and have made very serious statements.

DOUBLE MURDER CONFESSED.

After Being Sentenced for Stealing Pork and Furs Provost Told the Story.

Pembroke, Nov. 26.—At the assizes here Wednesday, the man Provost, alias Joseph Gauthier, mentioned in the Port Arthur despatch, accused of the larceny of a quantity of pork, was found guilty. He was indicted also for stealing a quantity of furs, and at first pleaded not guilty, but withdrew this. He was sent to Kingston for seven years.

Oliver Provost, alias Gauthier, has made a terrible confession to Coroner Beck. He admitted that he and his wife and went off with a Mrs. Gauthier, from Valleyfield, Que., assuming Gauthier's name, they went to Port Arthur and started hog-killing.

Two men named Rene Dabin and Fred Corriere lived in a shanty near the hotel. The men called on Provost Feb. 10 last to trade some pigs, and they remained for supper. Provost says the woman (Gauthier) put poison in the tea for the men, but would not give him any tea. Both men left the table before their meal was finished.

One dropped dead in the house, the other immediately on reaching the door. Realizing they would be arrested for murder, they tried to escape. They placed the bodies on a sleigh, took them to their shanty and laid them on their beds. After searching them, and taking what money they found, they set the place afire and cremated the bodies.

Provost says he frequently quarrelled with Mrs. Gauthier, and was afraid she would poison him also, as she told him she always kept poison on hand. Mrs. Gauthier deserted Provost, and returned to her husband at Valleyfield.

A Letter for Grandpa.

The man who takes proper care of his health in youth and maturity lives to smile as he reads the letters of his grandchildren.

It's worth something to do that. It's worth a little daily care and thought for health.

It's worth a dollar here and there for the right remedy for the insidious ills that make the big diseases.

When a man's liver is "out of whack" or his digestion is bad, or his appetite "finicky," he should take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It makes a man "hungry as a horse." It fills the blood with the life-giving elements of the food a man takes.

It is the great liver invigorator. It makes the digestion perfect. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve tonic. It drives all impurities from the system. It cures nervous prostration, bilious complaints, malarial troubles and 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. The medicine dealer who offers a substitute for the sake of a few extra pennies profit, is dishonest.

"Would have written you before now, but that I was so busy. I got entirely well," writes Mrs. Mary Tibbs, of Hitchcock, Galveston, Tex. "I am pleased to say that I am cured and well. I have been using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It makes a man 'hungry as a horse.' It fills the blood with the life-giving elements of the food a man takes."
