

It was not, however, until the month of September, 1836, that the Lord Bishop of Quebec had it in his power to meet the views of this Association, by appointing a Minister to this important charge. At this period, the Rev. C. T. Wade, having auspiciously arrived in the country, offered his services to the Lord Bishop, and was recommended to undertake the duty of Travelling Missionary in this District,—his Lordship having kindly undertaken to furnish from funds at his disposal one half of the amount of his stipulated salary. The Committee readily entered into an engagement with this reverend gentleman, and he accordingly commenced his itinerant labours on the 1st October, 1836,—which he pursued with great acceptance and success until the same period of the succeeding year. As the details of his Missionary labours have been published in the "Church" newspaper,—a periodical designed to be a register of Church operations in these Provinces as well as an advocate of her general principles,—it is unnecessary to recapitulate them here.

After the resignation of the Rev. C. T. Wade, the Committee were unable to procure the services of another Missionary until the 1st March, 1838, when the Rev. W. F. S. Harper, with the sanction of the Lord Bishop of Montreal, entered upon the same sphere of Missionary duty; in which he persevered with much success until the 1st November of the same year.
