GENTRY WON FAME WHILE IN PRISON

The Story of the Murder of Madge Yorke Recalled—Comedies Written Behind Jail Bars.

(Bangor Commercial.)

From the solitude of the prison cell, where he spent 14 years requiring the murder of Madge Yorke, James B. Gentry, just freed, sent comedies and songs that made the country laugh.

With amazing ability to forget the despair of his own fortunes the imprisoned actor wrote skits and songs for many prominent producers and is credited with some of the biggest successes of the last five or six years.

This fact only became public since the recent pardon of Gentry.

The pardon was the culmination of one of the most notable episodes in the history of American jurisprudence.

In fact the entire Gentry case with all its dramatic features will be recalled as a classic in murder cases. The romance of Gentry and Madge Yorke began in the artificial current of Broadway's flimsy life.

He was a young actor of promise who had made quite a success by his interpretations of rural characters. Madge Yorke was a comedienne, beautiful, arch and much admired.

Had the affections of the two been equal the tragedy in which they were destined to figure would never have gone to its pitiful finish.

But as often happens the affection was unequalled. Gentry's whole life was centered in Madge while she welcomed the attention of other admirers.

For a time they played in the same company and it was generally understood that they were engaged to wed. Their theatrical plans diverged.

TRoubled Gentry. Madge probably welcomed the new condition, but to Gentry it was a chance to see his sweetheart constantly was a terrible deprivation and he exerted all the ingenuity of a man in love to find chances to get to her.

One of these rendezvous, a meeting not consummated, was the death sentence for the woman and fourteen years' imprisonment for her lover.

Gentry was playing in Providence, Miss York, then a member of the "Blossoms" company, was playing in Philadelphia. Gentry arranged a meeting in New York city, a half-way point. All afternoon he waited anxiously for Miss York. Whether she wittingly failed to keep the tryst or misunderstood the arrangement is a secret she carried to her grave.

Gentry, maddened with jealousy, added to the stress of his mind with heavy drinking. In this condition he went to Philadelphia to Zeiss's hotel, where Miss York was staying. Finding the number of her room he found his way into it. Miss York and another woman member of the company were together there. A furious quarrel ensued. For all of Gentry's accusations, Miss York had a quick reply and at the end of it was Gentry who weakened and asked her to kiss him.

HE KILLS HER. She refused and the act was her death warrant. Gentry drew a pistol, fired at her point blank and death came to her so quickly that she was never able to make any paragon.

The escape of Gentry was dramatic to the extreme. Down the fire escape he rushed to the point where it stopped at the second floor, 20 feet above the brick pavement. Without hesitating he leaped, breaking his leg and sustaining a slight concussion of the brain. In some manner he made his way to Fairmount park and escaped capture for several days, but finally the pain of his wounds and the need of food forced him back to the city again and they found him in a stupor on the steps of a store.

Gentry was convicted in the first degree and sentenced to be hanged. Then came the first rally to aid of the powerful friends who fought unceasingly to save him from the gallows, and this accomplished to win him his eventual freedom.

Gentry was a Mason, he was popular in his profession and the pathos of his hopeless passion for Miss York won him the sympathy of many prominent persons.

IMPORTANT LEGISLATION BY ODDFELLOWS

Status of Past Grands—Up-river Excursion—Worcester Pilgrims Here.

The Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., held sessions yesterday afternoon and evening. An important feature was in the matter of legislation.

An interesting feature of yesterday's proceedings was the arrival on the steamship of the "Pilgrims" from Canton, Worcester, No. 3, Patriarchs Militant, who have been visiting Yarmouth and Halifax and touring the Annapolis valley.

Lifted out of his idleness and despair he began writing for the stage, parts of plays, sketches and songs. Actors who were endeavoring to obtain freedom welcomed the chance to give him work.

Many of the wittiest sayings that made the "Great White Way" one of the biggest successes of the year were the work of Jim Gentry. Some of his best work was done for Nat Wills, whose impersonation of a tramp is famous from coast to coast. "Nap" Ward is another actor who drew upon the brain of the life prisoner for some of his most successful sayings.

It is a marvel how Gentry was able to furnish this up-to-date material, for during his stay in prison he had been steadily passing out of the current of life. He had never seen an automobile, was a stranger to the marvels of the moving pictures and had yet to hear the strains from a talking machine.

WILL GO TO FARM. Yet he was able to amuse thousands of people in daily touch with everything that is modern. During all this time the fight to free Gentry had been going on with notable persistency and vigor.

Friends of the actor have arranged to send him to a farm for a few months so that he can win back health, after which he will devote himself to writing for the stage.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. This tube is inflamed by a running cold, which is usually caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammation of the mucous lining of the throat.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh, which cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sold by Druggists, or by mail, 21c. per bottle. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

IRRIGATION CONGRESS. Spokane, Wash., Aug. 12.—At the National Irrigation Congress yesterday, Dr. George C. Pardee, formerly governor of California, attacked Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior for his policy in dealing with public lands. Former Senator George Turner, of Washington, defended the secretary. It was after Secretary Ballinger had read from a paper his ideas on land reclamation and the public domain, contending that what has been done by the secretary of the interior was done by the law, that former Governor Pardee took the platform to deliver a set address. But he did not use his manuscript. He opened by saying that he was for Roosevelt and the Roosevelt policies.

"Roosevelt was a president who did things first," said he, "and talked about them afterward. And that's the kind of men we should like to see in public office now."

THE HUNTING SEASON. Yesterday's Boston Journal says:—"Reports from Maine would seem to indicate that there is going to be a very successful season with plenty of large game. The pursuer on one of the steamers comes from the guides who have been in the woods for a number of years are enthusiastic over the prospects. New Brunswick is another district where the hunter is usually delighted with the abundance of big game. Beyond the source of the St. John river is an excellent hunting ground. The game is so abundant that a party of hunters can shoot and bring out a few moose."

William H. Reynolds, a millionaire of Brooklyn, has gone to Europe with a party of friends, and taken with him a negro quartet for his entertainment at sea and while touring the continent.

GRACEFUL WRAP FOR EVENING WEAR

This loose wrap is made of light satin material in a dull gold color and the trimming bands are of gold and rose threads combined. The wrap is shaped loosely, yet gracefully and will not crush the damask costume worn beneath it. The back breadth, or rather two breadths, divided by a panel down the centre back, are pleated into the sleeve band, forming the under portion of the sleeve, and thence the material falls over the front falls in folds at the back.

and will leave for Boston on the Calvin Austin on Saturday evening reaching the Hub on Sunday afternoon.

The visitors made and renewed many friendships while here and will carry back with them pleasant memories of the maritime provinces.

Yesterday afternoon was pleasantly spent by the members of the Grand Lodge, the Encampment and the Rebekahs, by a trip on the St. John river on the steamer Victoria.

Accompanied by the Artillery Band which discoursed an excellent programme on the trip, the party left Indian town at 3 o'clock and went as far up river as Brown's Flat. Returning to the city they docked at 6:30 p. m. Refreshments were served and the trip was a most enjoyable one.

In the evening the Grand Lodge convened in the Keith assembly rooms at 8 o'clock. There was a large attendance of members, and practically the whole evening was spent in the discussion of constitutional points.

A proposal to hold annual sessions of the Grand Lodge in October instead of August was presented, and after an extensive discussion was rejected.

One important feature of the constitution decided upon by the Grand Lodge was the enlargement of the Grand Lodge of the Maritime Provinces to include the Grand Lodge of the Maritime Provinces, and the Grand Lodge of the Maritime Provinces.

It was also decided that the Grand Chapter should be made an elective office, instead of appointed as at present.

During the Grand Lodge session in the large assembly room the members of the Jewell Rebekah Lodge, held a reception for the visiting Rebekahs and on the Grand Lodge doors were thrown a reception developed into a joint session.

OR THE DOMINION EXHIBITION HERE. Association Plans to Spend $30,000 on Improvements.

While plans for the Dominion exhibition of 1910 are as yet in the hands of the sub-committees of the Exhibition Association and the executive will not be called together until they have prepared a report, it is evident that when next year's big show opens, vast differences will be seen in the buildings housing the fair. It will be by all odds the greatest show St. John has ever held, and the arrangements will be marked out on a scale commensurate with its magnitude.

The most important feature of the advances portion of the arrangements for the big fair is the publicity end, and this has not yet been determined. The sub-committee appointed to deal with it is now considering the amount of money they will require to properly carry on their campaign and as soon as they reach a decision, a report to the executive which will at once be called together.

The sub-committee on buildings and grounds will also have an important report to make. It is practically certain that the grand stand will be enlarged and moved to a position just opposite to that which it at present occupies. The cattle sheds will be greatly enlarged and improved, the poultry house will be extended to practically double its present size, and a new building will have to be provided for the dog show which will be a big feature of the fair.

In all about $30,000 will probably be expended in new buildings or improvements. Much will, however, depend upon the extent of the projected new army. Any buildings erected for exhibition purposes must be so placed that it will not be necessary to remove them to make way for the army, and the militia department has not yet made known its intentions in this regard.

A. O. Skinner, president of the Exhibition Association, in discussing the matter with The Telegraph yesterday, said a delegation from the association would probably interview Hon. Wm. Pugsley on his arrival here and ask him to use his best efforts towards arranging the question with the militia department and in other matters in which government aid is required.
