BOY KILLED BY SHUNTED CAR IN WOODSTOCK

Russell Tapley, 3, is Badly
Mangled in C. P. R.
Yards

WOODSTOCK, N.B., June 11.—Russell, the 3-year-old son of Frank Tapley, a local C.P.R. sectionman, was fatally injured this afternoon at 5 p.m. when he was run over by a box-car attached to a freight engine engaged in assembling its train in the local C.P.R. yards. The little victim was badly mangled, having one arm and leg completely severed and received serious cuts about the body.

Trainman Jack Wade, brakeman of the train that was being made up, was a witness of the accident and though he made a frantic effort to save the child he was unable to reach the child in time to grasp it from the path of the approaching car. Dr. Woolverton was quickly summoned and the child was rushed to the hospital, but it died a few minutes following its admission there.

The child's home is immediately adjoining the railway tracks from which the home yard is separated by a fence. It is thought that the child crawled through the fence and crossed to the tracks. According to Wade, the brakeman of the train, the child appeared suddenly from the hind passenger car drawn up on the siding and it was impossible to save it from the crushing car.

The grandparents of the victim are next door neighbors of the child's parents and it had been the custom of the child to travel back and forth between the two homes.

An inquest will be held tomorrow by Coroner John Lindsay.

DISTILLERY GIFTS TO PARTY FUND AIDED

Customs Probe Auditor Reveals Admission Made by Hiram Walker

OTTAWA, June 11.—Major Nash, committee auditor, informed the Customs Investigating Committee this afternoon that it was from Hiram Walker that he has learned of distillery contributions to campaign funds.

"In a visit to Hiram Walker," said Major Nash, "I asked him if he had made contributions to campaign funds. He said, 'yes, to both parties. I think he added that it was not a matter which concerned the customs inquiry. I don't know whether he was referring to these particular amounts or not.'"

Major Nash at the time was referring to certain amounts standing in the books of distilleries involved.

3 DISTILLERIES INVOLVED.
Major Nash said that three Canadian distilleries carried accounts in their books totalling $274,137 a portion at least of which amount may have covered contributions to campaign funds. These three firms, according to Major Nash, were Hiram Walker & Sons, Walkerville; Gooderham and Worts, Toronto, and the St. Hyacinthe Distilling Company.

Major Nash reported no such account standing on the books of J. E. Seagram & Sons.
The separate amounts standing on the books of these firms, as represented by Major Nash, were as follows:
Hiram Walker & Sons, 1924-25, items aggregating $69,900 under the heading of "Protecting Trade Marks." The same company, under the heading "Profit and Loss," $76,187; Gooderham and Worts, 1924-25, $69,100 under the heading "Sales Promotion," St. Hyacinthe Distilling Company, $63,040 under the heading "Reserved for Contingencies"; J. E. Seagram & Sons, nothing.

Barking Dog Saves Life of War Bride

CHICAGO, June 12.—Mrs. Alexia Morris, wife of Charles S. Morris, bank employee and former aide to the Daves reparation commission, is recovering from an effort to end her life after her husband had deserted her.

Nigger, her police dog, barked so loudly when she swallowed poison that neighbors were alarmed and broke down the door to rescue her. Morris, who married the girl in France during the world war and who is said to have been employed after his return as a stenographer for Vice-President C. G. Daves during his campaign, was advised of his wife's attempted suicide, but did not visit her. The girl had been saving money to return to France.
