LIGHTER VEIN

MAID AND MAN

She frowned and then straightway she smiled.

This fellow completely beguiled.

(With him like a kitten she played.)

As first, saying, "Yes," and then "No."

She bid him to come and then to go.

(Singing for the way of a maid!)

He swore that he loved and adored,

So coaxing, and cajoling, and imploring,

(He couldn't discover her plan!)

But then, when his patience was spent,

He picked up his hat and he went.

(Singing for the way of a man.)

—Lippincott's Magazine.

HE SHOULD WORRY.

The Manager—What is Tom Weather's principal worry?

The Secretary—Whether to ride down town in his 50-horsepower roadster or his $5,000 electric.

OBVIOUS REASON

"My husband has deserted me and I want a warrant," announced the large lady.

"What reason did he have for deserting you?" asked the prosecutor.

"I don't want any up from you, I want a warrant. I don't know what reason he had."

"I think I understand his reason," said the official solemnly, as he proceeded to draw up a warrant.

CAN WRITE OR ACT

"He is not going to play baseball any more."

"Well, there are always two great fields open to the eminent baseball star."

"And they are?"

"Literature and vaudeville."—Pittsburgh Post.

KILLED HIS APPETITE

"Brown spoiled a good dinner for me last evening."

"What makes you say that?"

"Told me I was to be called on for a few remarks after I had eaten it."

THEN THE RECORD WAS BROKEN

She—"Just think, Henry, we've never ever had a row."

He—"No, Mame. Ain't I the patient case?"

SWEET DISPOSITION

Miss—"I think the violin is the sweetest instrument."

Mr.—"It must be sweet to stand for all the abuse it gets."

BOWWOWS ON JOY

Mrs. Nukim—"Pho has been so happy all day."

Mrs. Leader—"He has."

Mrs. Nukim—"Yes, he seems to realize that we had our name in the society column."

AD LIBS

Henry—"The boys seem to like variety, even at the office."

James—"I notice that no two of his typists spell alike."

HORSE SENSE

"Does my automobile scare your horse?"

The man asked the hotel maid.

"No," replied Farmer Cornmeal. "He's the tamest, most intelligent animal you ever saw. What makes him act that way is that he's trying to back around to be hitched up to your vehicle, cause he knows you're coming to need him."

Washington Star.

"My husband considered a very long time before he proposed to me; he was very careful."

"Ah, it's always those careful people who get taken in!"

"Dear me," sighed the June bride. "I wish I knew what to get for Harry's supper tonight."

"Don't you?" asked Mrs. Longmire.

"I've thought and thought, and can't think of anything he'd like this hot weather."

"I'll tell you, then. When in doubt serve him cold boiled ham. That's what I always do."—Detroit Free Press.

MODERN PROBLEMS

Lecture Given Before Women's University Club in Ottawa

(Ottawa Citizen)

The seating capacity of the Ottawa Normal School was fairly taxed on Saturday night when the University Women's Club and their friends assembled to hear Mrs. Leathers, of Toronto, speak on "Some Modern Problems."

In a clear, logical and stimulating address, frequent reference was made to the conditions of society required by the modern housekeeping.

One hundred years ago there were no huge cities; a greater proportion lived on the land, where each family raised and prepared its own food and clothing. The mistress of the household saw that the milk was clean, the eggs and vegetables fresh, the linen well washed. But collective industries sprung up, and the sphere of woman gradually narrowed. The largest house-keeping of the municipality took the place of the individual mistress. Milk trucks, cold storage trusts, regulated by men who had votes, took possession of the food of the people. The work the mother had done for love is now done for gain, hence we get impure milk, stale eggs, contaminated water, because there is more profit in such. But why are such things permitted? The power of the voter lies in the ballot he may cast, and milk trusts have votes; they must not be displeased. A woman has no voice in such matters. She whose first care is life, as man's is property, is excluded from the very work where most her interest lies, the work of seeing that everything which concerns the physical or moral welfare of the race is placed only in the fittest hands. To do this she must have equal rights with men to make the selection and enforce the regulations.

It is the educated woman who has most influence today. She must see to it that the weaker ones are cared for—the charwoman, the mentally defective, the white slave, the sweated woman, the underpaid shop girl—what chivalry is shown to any of these? The woman of smaller vision, too, the merely decorative type, other women must pay for her; she retards progress; her sons are weaklings.

Our servants teach us we must not only plan our work, but see that it is done; so, too, in parliamentary house-keeping. Should we, for example, be content with the present perfunctory inspection of the thousands of immigrants pouring into Canada, whose children will mingle with ours in school, who have lower standards, where three generations sleep in one room? What of child labor in our factories where foreign children know no English except to say "I am fourteen," when questioned? What of imported goods, such as artificial flowers, made off the premises of the seller under unsanitary conditions? These are some of the modern problems that women should have a voice in solving; that they could bring about perfection, but because they would assuredly lessen some of those evils.

Mrs. Sykes, president of the club, occupied the chair.

MY SALAD WAS FINE!

So say they all.

All salads are fine—taste wholesome and delicious when you have a good salad dressing. It is not so much a "twist of the wrist" in making salad dressings as it is in having the right kind of ingredients. There is one ingredient very necessary to the making of good dressing and that is pure olive oil. Be sure to ask for

Beri Olive Oil

It is a pure bland oil of smooth creamy consistency, you'll like it when you use it and when you taste it you will appreciate it highly.
