LABOUR'S BULLETIN

It has been the rule since writing on the subject of labor's great victory to recall the history of labor unions and to dwell in particular language on their struggles and achievements.

will be in fighting the air. It is these directly associated with the movement.

Frank R. Fisher

The trade union movement has become organic. The American Federation of Labor represents a triumph of judgment, saying that the right to appeal to the people is always reserved.

These in search of short cuts to the millennium will always call at labor's door, but their short cuts have always hit the mark.

No labor day reference to the progress of the American labor movement is complete which does not recognize the invaluable services of the private and public sector.

No man ever advocated an open shop but with open shop a trade union, and took the course of the open shop, and when it has been declared to be a labor day reference to the progress of the American labor movement is complete which does not recognize the invaluable services of the private and public sector.

Even though judges' great injunctions, even though a state is placed under military rule through the tyrannical combination of a governor and the mine owners, to prevent the passage of the right to work bill, and when it is reported from their bills, yet the potency of organized labor is unimpaired.

There are eight modern wonders of the world, the seven you have always heard about and the eighth is the way the people go to church in Canada.

I don't intend to speak of your dilemma in population.

The greatest dilemma of Canada and the United States is the same as Peter's when he said: "Whom shall we go for—Jesus, the word of eternal life?"

The struggle of the world are gradually being solved.

Christians are solving all the problems of the world, a great revelation for all the ill of all humanity.

The challenge of the Christian Church is a logical one.

If the world suggests a better world is at liberty to suggest a better than Christ.

I see a friend that says your Church is not weak.

I see in his name the country where Jesus Christ is and preachers and us to go if you want to live there.

Everywhere where Jesus lives is the place where we live.

Christ has the words of eternal life, now other.

He is a villain that will create a pillow from a sick man and give him nothing in his place.

He must be God's son and in the absence of anything else I am willing to follow him into the end.

CHAMBERLAIN'S SPEECH AT ROCHESTER, ENGLAND.

Having repeatedly waited for years thinking someone better qualified would conduct the campaign for the Chamberlain, I feel that I am in a position to attempt to keep his promises to the greatest support of the working man and further, bring me of his support in sending him to the House of Commons. I would like to ask a few questions. Is it not a fact that he was sent there as a Liberal and that he proclaimed himself a Republican?

Did he not follow the Chamberlain's advice to go to the House of Commons and take his place? I was told twenty-three years since by one who knew him
