ST. PETER'S AND ST. JOSEPH'S SPLIT EVEN

GAITS OF THE GRIDIRON TO CLASH TODAY

Secure Two Points in Last Night's Bowling--Star Defeats Times--Two H's Win Other Games.

On St. Peter's alleys the St. Josephs and St. Peter's split even, each taking two points. The scores were good and the game was closely contested in all three strings. The first string was won by the St. Josephs by the narrow margin of two pins. Hurley, of St. Peter's had the highest individual score, making 272 in the three strings. The score follows:

STAR WINS.

The Star bowling team continued their devastating career when they trimmed the rival Times by a total of four points to nil. The Times men have no reason to be ashamed of their score and they pushed the leaders close but were unable to overcome the lead in any of the games. Dutch Ervin rolled a great game with an average of 86, while McCafferty of the Times was a close second with 83.25. McCade rolled his usual steady game and finished with an average of 89.23. The scores were:

Nase's, 1037, Pidgeon's 1035. Teams from Messrs. P. Nase and Sons and C. B. Pidgeon's establishments met on Black's alleys last evening for a three string match and the game went to Nase's quintette by a score of 1057 to Pidgeon's 1035. I. Roberts, of the latter team, had the highest score for the three strings. The game was very close, there being but 13 pins difference in the total pinfall.

Mr. Frank White of this city was elected second vice-president of the Amateur Skating Association of Canada at its annual meeting in Montreal on Wednesday evening.

John Arthur Johnson, champion heavyweight pugilist, became a taxpayer in Chicago Thursday, when a deed was filed for record making him sole owner of property which comprises a three-story brick dwelling on a lot 50 by 164 feet. The house and lot was purchased for $11,000. A garage will be built in the rear, where Jack will keep his fast auto and he plans to make room for at least four Princeton Meets Yale at New Haven, and Dartmouth Goes Up Against Harvard--Merits of the Four Teams.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 12.—"Big Bill Edwards," reads a news item, "says the Tigers have a chance against the Ells."

Certainly they have. There wouldn't be much in going up to New Haven if they hadn't. The Yale-Princeton game for the last two years has been about as hard fought and close as a football game could be without being a tie, and lost by Princeton because they didn't hold the pace in the second half. It is probable that the Tigers are better equipped for all around play and for meeting the game of their adversaries than last year or the year before, and it also is probable that they will be called on to meet a game of a wider scope of attack.

The Tigers have gone to Farmington, Conn., to get the benefit of a change of scene and air, and it will be remembered how chipper they were two years ago when they spent two days prior to the game up in a secluded corner of Connecticut. If, as appears to be the case, they reach the New Haven game in top condition and the cat gets the jump of the Ells in the first half as they have done for two years they have all of a chance.

For two years Princeton's defence hasn't been equal to holding an attack of the victor sent at it by Yale, but last Saturday it was seen that the Nassau defence was better organized and more substantial than has been customary at Princeton for a week prior to the Yale game. It was a quick-moving defence coupled with ability to diagnose the attack quickly, and that is one thing which for a long time has been badly needed by Princeton in coping with Yale.

Dartmouth's Attack. A point is how strong the Dartmouth attack was compared to what Yale's will be, whether also the Dartmouth's defence was weak in itself or whether the aggressiveness of Princeton's defence made it look weak. Naturally the outlook more hopeful for Princeton. So far as the scores go Dartmouth's offence all season has not been productive of much scoring. The more Princeton can worry Yale with a stiff defence the more helpful will be Cunningham's ability to dropkick goals. Princeton has kicked a field goal against Yale in six of the last ten years, but in only three of these ten years was there a sufficient combination of ability to make points in some other way and defensive ability to keep the opposition from scoring.

As to the other side of the question, Princeton offence and Yale defence, all we know is that Yale hasn't been scored on and that Princeton will need a stronger attack in the last 25 yards than anything she has yet shown to carry the ball over Yale's goal line. That Yale is a stronger team than Princeton, with the material at hand, ought to be better than for two years past there is no doubt. Princeton from Princeton speak glowingly of the form being shown the final week. Like reports in the final week were heard last year and the year before, justified by Princeton's form in the first half only. Yet last Saturday there was seen football by Princeton telling of the groundwork on which could be based more rapid development in the final week than for several years at Princeton. A former Yale back told a New York friend the other day that he'd like to place $100 that Yale beats Princeton by 20 points. Evidently he thinks little of Princeton's chances. Nevertheless there is sufficient room for uncertainty for Princeton to have the chance. Each football game is an issue separate unto itself.

Better Attack. In the matter of Dartmouth's attack it will have to be altogether better and go with a great deal more force to make any impression on Harvard. Individual prowess is pie for Harvard unless the individual gets more help than Dartmouth gave her backs last Saturday. Dartmouth has two or three backs who are strong, fast runners, however, and as dangerous as are to be found at getting around the end if any kind of a path is clear for them. A back can't always get this help, must rely on his own efforts, and the Dartmouth backs could when they find themselves left to their own devices make use of their natural ability to better advantage than they did against Princeton. That was particularly true of wide, swinging runs.

Capt. Tobin, of Dartmouth, has been practising goal kicking from placement this week from scrimmage. Last Saturday Tobin showed his accuracy at goal kicking from placement under trying conditions, though why Dartmouth didn't punt to a good many. There was no wind and it was a good punt out, which is a comparatively easy feat. Place kicks from scrimmage are the rarest form of field goals and the most difficult. The formation for the play affords more opportunity for a strategic manoeuvre than for a field goal. Yale's bluff kick from placement in a scrimmage was the cleverest trick shown since the revision of the rules.

machines. Adjacent to the garage will be a gymnasium. Johnson's brother will leave Monday for Galveston, Texas, the former home of the negro heavyweight, and will bring his mother to Chicago.

Abe Attell, featherweight champion and Jimmy Moran, of England, have been matched to fight eight rounds before the Phoenix Athletic Club of Memphis, Tenn., on November 22nd.

FOOTBALL GALORE ON FOR TO-DAY

Today promises to be a banner one for the lovers of the gridiron sport. There will be a triple header on the Every Day Club grounds. High School will clash with the Y.M.C.A. at 2:30 and at the conclusion of the game Rothsay and La Tour will cross swords, and then the old rivals, Curries and Carleton will battle for supremacy.

Much interest is being taken in the High School M.C.A. game, as the report of a committee appointed to deal with the matter and who recommended that in the case of athletes suspended for professionalism, that their application for reinstatement not be considered for six months until after the applications are filed.

On receiving the report, the executive declined to consider the applications and they will not be taken up again until the spring meeting. Mr. Covey also announced that the rule for the registration of athletes participating in amateur sport will register his name with the M.P.A.A.A., and a charge of 25 cents will be made for members of clubs not affiliated with the M.P.A.A.A.

THE OUTLOOK FOR HOCKEY IS CLEARING NOW

Meeting Held Last Night at Which plans were formulated for Season's Play--Financial Support Only Needed.

The horizon is considerably brighter in hockey circles as a result of last evening's meeting in the Board of Trade rooms at which there were present some of the best known players in the city. The hockey boys were out in full force, veterans of past seasons as well as some of the younger players who are said to be fast and are candidates for positions on the team. Arrangements have been made with the management of the Queen rink so that the boys can have its use two nights a week and the only difficulty remaining is the financial end of the enterprise, but it is hoped that citizens will show their appreciation of the efforts of the club to boom hockey this coming winter, by responding generously to the appeal for financial backing.

A committee consisting of J. Kennedy, G. Patterson, J. Phillips, E. Innes, H. R. Clavson, J. Roberts were appointed to interview some of the leading citizens in order to enlist their support. Another meeting to complete final arrangements will be held very shortly.

The following well known stick handlers were present last evening: Avily, T. McAvity, Bernard Cribbs, F. Finley, D. Macaulay, J. Kennedy and C. Masters who will try out for a position on the team.

TO INSIST NOW UPON REGISTRATION

Mr. A. Covey, junior vice-president of the M.P.A.A.A., has returned from Halifax, where he attended an important meeting of the organization which controls sport in the Maritime Provinces. Mr. Covey competed in the indoor championship meet but was not in proper shape and did not get a place.

According to Mr. Covey, the theory of a local paper that the baseball player named Robertson was really D. Roberts of St. John, was all wrong. Roberts has been reinstated for more than a year and the man in the report is a Montreal man of the name given. The decision of the executive not to re-instate the men who had made application was in line with the report of a committee appointed to deal with the matter and who recommended that in the case of athletes suspended for professionalism, that their application for reinstatement not be considered for six months until after the applications are filed.

VARSIITY PLAYS M'GILL TODAY AT MONTREAL

Red and White Aggregation Hope to Retrieve Lost Laurels, While Toronto Is Out To Win.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—The last senior game of the season in Montreal takes place tomorrow when the unbeaten Toronto Varsity team will meet McGill on the College Campus. While the result will have no effect on the championship itself, Varsity already having an indisputable hold of it for this season, a win for McGill will add a good deal to retrieve lost prestige here. McGill has been practicing faithfully all week to this end, and with Kennedy on the back division again the team should make a better showing than in its recent games. Last Saturday McGill took a fall out of Ottawa College in Ottawa and that is always a good feat to perform. Ross has been improving as a back division player, and with the experience he has gained in the recent games he has steadied down a lot and can now be depended to take care that his side of the back line won't be easily broken through. The rest of the back division is also in better shape than at any other time this season and the line always was a good one, and has kept steadily at work. Outside of the fact that a well contested game may be seen, many Rugby enthusiasts will avail themselves of the chance of seeing the much praised Toronto College team in action. College football fans are of the opinion that the present team is the best allround team that Toronto has put on the field and some of their teams have been of calibre to meet the finest football teams of the Dominion.

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 12.—After the Tiger practice yesterday afternoon a big shake-up on the half-back division for the game at Toronto tomorrow with the Argos was decided upon. Davey Tope will make his first appearance this season, supplying full team in action. Collyer, football intermediate, and Burton will be on the half-back division. Moore and Simpson will rest up for the Ottawa game. The only other change will be on the wing line. Don Lyon replacing Turner. The Tigers say that the man who tries to lay Simpson out in the play-off with Ottawa will be roughly handled. Brammer, the champion athlete of the police force, who plays in the scrimmage and another big wing will guard Simpson on either side and their instructions will be to hand it to the first man who tries to get the Tiger captain.

On receiving the report, the executive declined to consider the applications and they will not be taken up again until the spring meeting. Mr. Covey also announced that the rule for the registration of athletes participating in amateur sport will register his name with the M.P.A.A.A., and a charge of 25 cents will be made for members of clubs not affiliated with the M.P.A.A.A.
