

COMMONS TO BE ASKED FOR ANOTHER CREDIT VOTE

Complete Union in Face of Enemy Is Task of French Nation, Premier Points Out to His Colleagues

The Hour Is For Action, and All Government's Efforts Must be Directed Towards That End, Briand Says in Outlining Programme of Cabinet — Only One Dissenting Voice Out of 551 When Vote of Confidence in Government is Adopted.

Bulletin—Paris, Nov. 3.—A resolution expressing confidence in the new Briand government was adopted this evening by a vote of 515 to 1. "France will not sign a peace agreement until after her restoration by right of victory, and until she shall have obtained all guarantees of a durable peace," said Premier Briand today.

This statement was included in the ministerial declaration of the new cabinet, which was read before the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate. The premier read the declaration to the Chamber:

"We are at war," said the premier, "the hour is for action. Towards action all the efforts of the government must be directed. The essential task of the government is the utilization of all the vital forces of the nation with a view to war, and to combine and associate with this object all public services. Only by close and incessant operation will victory be obtained. Every one must accomplish his task. Once all responsibilities are established, every fault, every failure will be punished.

"That is the programme of the new government. It is the very image of the nation—to form the most complete union in the face of the enemy. France never had an army more worthy of victory. The government, aided by parliament, must furnish all means to these heroes, whom we salute with affection and pride. Every day of bravery of our soldiers and our chiefs, united in mutual confidence and in devotion to their country, adds to the glory of France."

"We appeal to your co-operation. We know that your foremost intention is to second the action of the government. On its part, the government is ready to accomplish the whole of its task, and assume all responsibility. It desires particularly to facilitate your supervision of its acts and will take every occasion to enlighten you by communicating—through regular collaboration directly with you—all information to which you have a right.

"It is by a union of the nations, the parliament and the government, that we will pursue the war to the end to the victory that will drive the enemy from all invaded territory; from that which has suffered from invasion for several months, as well as that which has suffered for so many years.

"France has not disturbed the peace. Resisting all provocation, she did everything possible to maintain it. It was premeditated aggression, that so sophism can ever succeed in justifying, that imposed war upon her. She accepted war without fear, and she will not cease the struggle until the enemy has been mastered. It is only when right shall have been restored by victory, and when she shall have obtained every guarantee for a durable peace that France will sign a peace. This we and the allied nations will reach by a close union. Every day tightens the bonds that unite them—the bonds further strengthened by the adhesion of Japan to the agreement of Sept. 5, 1914, by which the powers undertook a solemn engagement not to conclude peace separately.

More Concerted Action in Conduct of War

"We prize co-ordination, by which the efforts of the allied nations must be rendered more complete and prompt in execution.

The journeys of General Joffre to Italy and to England, the receptions given him, and the decisions between the general staffs has permitted them to arrange for a more complete concert of action in the present and for the future. The central powers may postpone defeat, but they cannot prevent it. As for us we are decided to go to the very end. Our enemies cannot count upon either fatigue or weakness on our part. After having weighed our task, we intend to pursue it, as heavy as it may be, to the necessary issue. We have the will to crush. We shall vanquish in the end."

The reading of the ministerial declaration by Premier Briand in the chamber of deputies and by Minister of Justice Viviani in the senate aroused great enthusiasm, particularly the affirmation that the war would be pursued to the bitter end and peace signed only when every guarantee of a durable peace has been obtained.

The ministerial declaration, made by Aristide Briand, the new premier, today, was most favorably received in both the chamber of deputies and the senate.

The premier's announcement that it was the government's decision to obtain guarantees of a durable peace before laying down arms also was greeted with enthusiasm.

M. Renaudel, the Socialist leader, in a speech, declared that France should annex none of the territory captured from enemies of France. This was taken to mean that the Socialists were opposed to the recovery of Alsace and Lorraine, and the deputies' utterances brought forth tumult and violent protests.

When order had been restored there came another outburst of enthusiasm, following a reply to M. Renaudel by Deputy Andre Maginot, who is still suffering from a wound received in battle. In the name of the soldiers at the front M. Maginot declared that M. Renaudel had no authority to speak for them.

Deputies Renaudel, Emile Constant and Ramell attacked the censorship and demanded that there should be entire liberty of the press on political questions. They protested against the exclusion from the troops at the front of any French newspaper on account of an expression of opinion by it.

Several interpellations, not essentially hostile to the cabinet but more in the nature of request for guarantees as to the policy of the government, gave Premier Briand the occasion to show once more his great mastery over the chamber, his broad grasp on all questions and his dexterity in meeting emergencies. The premier was never more eloquent than in his simple development of the government's views and in replying to the interpellations.

Dealing with the censorship M. Briand told the press that it must bear its share of the inconvenience imposed on the whole country, but at the same time promised to seek every means for conciliation in collaboration with members of the press.

During his peroration the premier created a scene of much excitement and brought all the deputies to their feet when he said:

"France in this war is the champion of the world. She is fighting for civilization and liberty. A durable peace can be given the world only when France and her allies have reconquered the liberty of the peoples in the enjoyment of their autonomy. Then why vain discussion? Grant us today unanimous confidence. Do not follow us blindly—and judge us by our acts."

because swollen glands or inflamed membranes often affect other tissues and lung trouble easily follows.

As Nature's corrector of throat troubles the pure cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is speedily converted into germ-resisting tissue; its tested glycerine is curative and healing, while this wholesome emulsion relieves the trouble and rebuilds the forces to resist tubercular germs and avert the weakening influence which usually follows.

If any member of your family has a tender throat, get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion-to-day. Physicians prescribe it to avert throat troubles, overcome bronchial disorders and strengthen the lungs. No harmful drugs. Always insist on Scott's.

YORK CO. SOLDIER SAW VICTIMS OF GERMAN ATROCITIES

Pte. Rosborough, of Prince William, saw little girl whose toes had been cut off and another who was victim of brutal attack of Huns during drive through France year ago.

Special to The Standard.

Fredericton, Nov. 3.—Pte. George Rosborough of the 26th Battalion, who is now lying wounded in a hospital at Edinburgh, Scotland, has written a letter to his widowed mother, Mrs. Belle Rosborough, of Prince William, telling of some atrocities practiced by Germans on innocent people in that portion of Flanders which Huns overran and ravaged in their drives for Paris and Calais.

"This story comes direct from a man who has been fighting in the trenches and who saw the victims of barbarian Germany while passing through France on his way to the firing line. He was wounded in a gallant charge made by the 26th Battalion on October 14th, but his wounds are not of a serious nature and he hopes to be back in the trenches again before Christmas.

"We made a charge on the Germans on the 14th," he wrote in a letter received yesterday by his mother. "I was just outside the German trenches when I got hit. Most of our boys who went out in that charge were wounded or killed. Don't worry, though, for I will soon be well. I hope to be back in the trenches again by Christmas."

In a previous letter he told of the atrocities referred to in the following language, having written while en route to the firing line:

"The Germans were fighting around here at the beginning of the war. We are billeted in the barns of a French farmer. When they overran this part of the country five or six German soldiers assaulted the 13 year old daughter of the farmer at whose place we are now stopping. She is partly paralyzed and her mind is affected as a result of their brutality. After this happened this same farmer picked up a wounded German, who had fallen not far from his house in one of the nearby fields, washed his wounds and dressed them, but he died about two hours later.

"Another little girl just above here had her fingers and toes cut off by Germans."

Four more recruits for the 104th Battalion enlisted here today, the list including John D. Wilson, 38, of Boulton, Ont.; Charles O'Donnell, 18, of McNamara; Shepherd Ketch, 21, of Bath, Corleton County, and Charles W. Hunter of Harvey Station; Clifford Shea of Woodstock and Harold Kimball of Oromocto. Two telegraphers have passed medical examination but have not yet been sworn in.

This morning Percy Jones, Lee Yexxa and J. D. Wilson left for Sussex by C.P.R. to join the 104th.

COMMONS AGREES TO MODERATION OF INCOME TAX

Foreign Firms Will Be Brought Within Scope Of The Act.

WILL STOP LEAKAGE IN REVENUE RETURNS

New plan will tax profits of foreign exporters which now go abroad and escape tax collector.

London, Nov. 3.—Another vote of credit will be introduced in the House of Commons next week.

"In announcing this fact today Premier Asquith did not mention the amount. It is expected to be 250,000,000 pounds ($1,250,000,000).

Modify Income Tax.

The House of Commons today agreed to the proposals made by Reginald McKenna, chancellor of the exchequer, for an important modification in the income tax so as to bring within the scope of the act foreign firms doing business in this country through agents.

Under the present procedure the agent escapes by a technicality from paying an income tax on profits. This new net of Mr. McKenna's also will catch the foreign exporter, who invoices goods to an apparently independent firm in England at prices showing nominally little or no profits. The real profits, it is contended, go abroad, and escape the tax collector.

Under the new scheme the income tax on these transactions will be based on a percentage of the output or turnover.

No Comment on Hocking Case.

Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador, said informally today that he would ask the British government for a statement outlining its grounds for the seizure of the American steamer Hocking. The British Foreign Office, so far, has made no comment on the case. The Hocking is being held at Halifax, N. S.

Complaints Founded on Misapprehension.

Lord Robert Cecil, parliamentary under secretary for foreign affairs, replying in the House of Commons today to a question whether the British government's attention had been called to the agitation in the United States against the meat case judgments as based on the seizure of the American steamer Hocking, made this statement:

"There have been attempts in the United States to create agitation against the meat case judgments, but as appeals are pending this point is not suitable for diplomatic or other discussion.

"In all four cases the judge held the goods to be condemnable as contraband according to established rules of war independent of orders-in-council and the agitation is, therefore, founded on misapprehension."

Given a Commission.

H. S. Wallace has received word that his nephew, John Wallace, of the Bank of Montreal, Quebec, has received a commission as lieutenant in the Grenadier Guards of Montreal, and will go overseas with that regiment. Lieut. Wallace is a native of Halifax, and is well known in St. John, where he has frequently visited.

BERLIN DENIES PEACE TALK

Reports that Germany disposed to prepare way for Peace negotiations called pure inventions.

Berlin, via Sayville, Nov. 3.—The foreign press recently has published reports that Germany is disposed to prepare the way for peace negotiations and is fostering efforts initiated by others in this direction, says the Overseas News Agency. A British newspaper again asserts that Germany is responsible for the agitation for ending the war. All these reports and rumors are pure inventions.

Swedish Minister Germany's Spokesman.

Rome, Nov. 3, via Paris.—The Messagero asserts Count Albert Ebernsvard, Swedish minister to Switzerland, is taking the principal part on behalf of Germans who favor peace negotiations, in an effort to bring them about. Count Ebernsvard, the Messagero says, attempted some time ago to organize a league of neutral states, for the defense of their interests, and is now using his influence in favor of peace, counting on the support of Switzerland.

She Suffered 30 Years

Zam-Buk Cured the Ulcer in a Few Months.

If Mrs. Jeffrey, of St. French St., Methuen, had known about Zam-Buk thirty-three years ago, she would have saved herself just thirty-two years and some months of pain! Think of it! She says: "Thirty-three years ago an ulcer appeared on my ankle, which, in spite of treatment, continued to spread almost to my knee. I tried remedy after remedy, and was treated by various doctors for over 25 years, but only got temporary relief!"

"The pain I suffered day and night was terrible; in fact, as I recall those days, I do not see how I was able to stand it! For years I could hardly walk, and was unable to leave the house. The ulcer extended from my ankle to my knee and was an open sore."

"One day I saw an account of a very bad ulcer having been cured by Zam-Buk. While I had become sceptical of all so-called remedies, I determined to give Zam-Buk a trial. I applied Zam-Buk freely every day, and the sore soon showed signs of healing. The inflammation went away, the pain was eased, and I was soon convinced that after thirty years of suffering I was on the road to recovery. I realized that a complete cure could not be effected in a day and persevered with Zam-Buk. Finally the terrible sore was quite healed. I have walked over a year before writing you, but there has been no trace of the ulcer returning."

For ulcers, abscesses, eczema, scald sores, piles, cold sores, chapped places, baby's sores, eruptions, cuts, burns, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases Zam-Buk is without equal. Sold everywhere, 50c. box, or postpaid from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. Refuse imitations.
