Atlantic Standard Time-Sydney to Campbellton --- The C. P. R. Is Willing to Do So in New Brunswick---Boards of Trade

Under the above caption the Halifax Herald of Monday gives the following: Why should Nova Scotia longer suffer the inconvenience of difference in time between that used by the railway and by every other public and private enter-whole province, in this matter of uniformity of time, for we have reduced the difference to a round hour, but they propose to be at variance no longer. Over there they never adopted Atlantic standard time, here, most people sticking to the use of local or sun time. A few adopted eastern standard, and a small number, Atlantic standard time. New Brunswick has for uniformity has been going on. All public bodies that could speak on this subject have done so, and there are none

C. B. Foster, of St. John, district passenger agent of the C. P. R., speaking to The Herald Saturday on this subject, remarked that the Canadian Pacific Railway is at one with everybody else there in effort for reform. He made the important statement that his company is prepared to go a good deal farther in this matter than any road in these provinces has yet done. He says that the Canadian Pacific Railway is ready to drop eastern standard in its next time tables. and substitute for it, in the New Bruns-wick division, Atlantic standard time. There is only one thing necessary to make this possible, and that is the adoption of Atlantic standard time by the Intercolonial Railway in Nova Scotia and in New Brunswick. Leaving Campbellton the I. C. R. would retain the eastern standard

What a boon such a change would be in Halifax and all over Nova Scotia! No more confusion to travelers and public generally in figuring out the difference be-tween train time and the time commonly running on the same time, as that now

The C. P. R. is ready to make the change in its mext schedule, coming into effect in the spring. Timely action by the Halifax board and other boards of trade in this province, might be the means of getting the I. C. R. to fall in line, and adopt Atlantic time from Sydney to Campbellton, and thus give to the maritime provinces a common and uniform time both for the railways and the public at large.

The present troubles about the hospital recall an incident of three or four years go when a leper was smuggled in and a surse was given the care of him without ever being told what was the matter with the patient. This was the experience of a former hospital nurse whose name is now in the hands of those who are anxious see a better order of things established who reiterated the story this week as pub-lished at the time and who will doubt less give her evidence in due time. The nurse's story of the leprosy case was pub-lished in detail at the time, and in view of recent developments may be interesting

"Yes, a case of leprosy was admitted to the hospital without much of an attempt at isolation, though every effort was made to keep from the public the fact of the leper, Roberts', admission.

The same year nurses in the discharge of their duty contracted fever, and a patient sent to the hospital for a surgical operation died of typhoid fever."

Another lady whose name will be given to the commission, should they ask it, volunteered the following: "I had a former servant in the hospital two or three years ago and visited her frequently. I have unpon several occasions gone in and mer servant in the hospital two or three years ago and visited her frequently. I have unpon several occasions gone in and found her leaning away out of bed, and so weak from vomiting that she could scarcely breathe. I was told by another patient she had been in that position nearly an hour. Upon one occasion I supplied her with food, subject to the approval of a physician, and being perfectly well and strong I have turned in disgust from the food I saw served to the patients.

"One day I visited the hospital as some woman was being removed from the operating room to her ward. She was rather a large woman and the greater part of her person was exposed. Her arms was dangling over the side of the stretcher, or whatever she was being carried on, and the nurses and doctors were laughing immoderately at something, I could not tell what. Suddenly one of those wno was helping to carry the woman collapsed from laughter and sat down on a step, almost precipitating the unconscious positions to the floor.
