

Germans Fail in Raids on Trenches Held by Canadians

On Other Hand, Our Boys Continue "Surprise Parties" With Good Effect--Telling Bombardment From Canadian Guns--Sergeant E. R. Milne Has Won Clasp on His D. C. M.

Ottawa, March 2.—(Via Canadian Press.)—Major-General Sir Sam Hughes, minister of militia, has received the following communique from the Canadian general headquarters in France:

Canadian General Headquarters in France, March 2, via London.—Winter conditions marked the first half of the period—Feb. 23 to March 1. Rough winds and snow storms culminated on Feb. 26 in a blizzard which swept all northern France and Flanders. Towards the end of the month warmer and finer weather prevailed.

Far south towards Verdun a great battle raged, but on the Canadian front the unabated activity of German airmen remained the chief feature of enemy activity. In good weather and bad alike they flew over our lines, endeavoring to discover our positions and communications. Even at night the sound of their machines was frequently heard. Few engagements in the air took place. The hostile aviators showed little inclination to fight, and almost invariably made off on the approach of our machines. Several points in our area were bombed by the enemy on Feb. 24 a few civilian casualties resulted.

Two attempts were made to bomb some wagon roads by means of incendiary bombs. On the first occasion one tent and the tents of a few men were destroyed, and the second the majority of the bombs burst on impact with the tops of some high trees. In neither case was there any casualties.

Our Boys Not Caught Napping.

The most interesting event of the week was the attempt made by a patrol of twenty Germans to bomb the lines of our 42nd Montreal battalion. Our sentries were on the alert, and as the enemy approached our wire they opened on it with bombs and rapid fire. The Germans threw a considerable number of bombs, but a bombing section of our 42nd battalion was quickly on the scene. At the end of six minutes, after a lively interchange of bombs, the enemy withdrew and his retreat was marked by an intense rifle fire from our trenches. Our patrols then went out and discovered one dead and one badly wounded German. The wounded man was taken to our lines, where he died. Our sentries suffered no casualties in this affair.

Canadian Use Bayonet.

Later in the night a small hostile patrol, while endeavoring to examine the scene of the fight, stumbled upon one of our listening posts. The Germans threw bombs, but our sentries used the bayonet and drove them back, wounding two of them.

Hostile artillery fire was weaker than usual throughout the period, but enemy working parties were exceedingly numerous and afforded many targets for our artillery. In several instances casualties were observed as the result of our fire. The top was blown off an enemy machine gun emplacement by a direct hit from one of our shells. Another of our shells caused a severe explosion in an enemy trench, followed by flames which rose for twenty minutes to a height of ten feet above the parapet. Sixteen shells fired into an enemy position of enemy engineers' stores, wrought considerable damage to the material.

Heavy Bombardment.

On the night of Feb. 26-27, while an enemy relief was in progress, our field batteries and howitzers, in conjunction with our machine guns, opened a punishing bombardment on the enemy's positions, and the enemy's reply was very feeble.

On several other occasions our machine guns did excellent work in "humping" the enemy's positions. In one instance, back over their parapets several of them were seen to be wounded.

For four consecutive nights enemy working parties were dispersed at the same point. One night an enemy transport was heard moving. A prolonged burst of fire from our machine guns was apparently effective, as the sounds of the transport galloping away were accompanied by a considerable screaming and groaning.

The alertness of our snipers was responsible for several casualties in the ranks of the enemy. Hostile snipers were somewhat less active than usual. At various times a number of bombs and grenades were used by the enemy, and sections of our trenches were bombarded with mortar shells. In every case our retaliation in killed was heavy and effective.

On February 28 our trench mortars shelled a German strong point. Much damage was done to the enemy's work, the debris being scattered over a twenty yard radius.

On another occasion on the front of our 2nd Division thirty grenades were fired into the German trenches at a point where a large party was at work. Cries and groans testified to the effectiveness of this bombardment.

There was no diminution in the activity of our patrols. On the night of Feb. 23 a patrol of our first division fired twelve bombs among a party of Germans engaged in construction of new trenches. No retaliation resulted. An enemy patrol was also observed, but returned at the approach of our patrol.

On the night of Feb. 25 a patrol of six men of our 14th Montreal battalion, under Lieutenant Worrall, went out to examine a house that had been demolished by our artillery fire some days previously. Four enemy posts, each of three men, were located, and a German machine gun was seen in the ruins of the building. Sounds of a large working party in the ruins were heard. Our patrol was not detected, and on its return enemy posts and working parties were dispersed by salvos from our 18th Field Battery and enfilading machine gun fire.

On the same night, Sergeant Merrett and Lance Corporal Berry of our 7th British Columbia battalion observed two Germans some yards in front of their own wire. Our men threw hand grenades at the enemy, both of whom were wounded and retired at the double.

On the night of Feb. 27, a patrol of our Royal Canadian Regiment, consisting of Lance-Corporal Pope and Privates Morris and Priestly, worked their way close up to the enemy's trenches and, waiting for the flash of discharge, bombarded some of the fixed rifle positions so effectively that several of the rifle batteries were silenced. The men were out two hours and a half, during which time they also engaged and drove off a German sniper and bombed an enemy machine gun emplacement.

A party of American journalists visited the Canadian area during the week, and spent some hours in our trenches. More Honors Awarded.

In connection with the minor operations of our 10th battalion on the night of Feb. 4, the following decorations have been awarded:

Military Cross—Lieutenants S. S. Kent, A. S. Trimmer and L. Younger.

Distinguished Conduct Medal—Sergeant A. O. Budd and Private F. S. Cox, G. P. Sixty and L. Zuldena.

Clasp to Distinguished Conduct Medal—Sergeant E. R. Milne. Sergeant Milne is the first Canadian to achieve the distinction of winning a D. C. M. and a clasp in the present war.

Mail and Parcel Post Arrives in Large Quantities—Rough Weather in Bay—Pretorian in With Small Party.

Monday, March 6.

Covered with ice, white like a phantom, the bay was a very rough voyage. The Metagana left Liverpool on Saturday, February 26, and the roughest part of the passage was when she ran into a hurricane on approaching the Nova Scotia coast.

The Metagana brought 585 passengers, 127 of them returning officers and men, 753 packages of parcel post and 2,907 bags of mail. One car load of the mail being for Russia.

Although the ship docked at 7:50 o'clock no passengers were debarked. All will be taken off the ship at 10 o'clock this morning. Among the passengers on board was Miss Gertrude, daughter of Barrow-in-Furness, England, who will visit Captain and Mrs. A. J. Mulcahy. Miss Hunter is the daughter of Colonel H. Hunter, of Barrow-in-Furness, who is proprietor of the Barrow Salt Works.

To Take New Commands.

The military party was in charge of Major R. H. Read, of the 28th North-west battalion. Captain L. G. Hodder is the medical officer in charge of the party. Eighteen of the men in the party were for the maritime provinces, and the remainder for Upper and Western Canada. Lieut.-Colonel J. D. McPherson, of the 7th British Columbia battalion, was in the party. He will take command of the second of two new Simcoe-county battalions. Major G. McPherson, of the 7th British Columbia battalion, was in the party. He will take command of the 2nd Ontario battalion. Lieut.-Colonel E. B. G. Davidson, of the 24th Montreal battalion; Lieutenant J. H. McCoy, 18th Scottish; and Nursing Sister E. C. Mercer.

Canadians Will Find Fight.

As the ship docked a bunch of wounded Canadian boys were leaning over the rail.

"Say there," cried one fellow who was "Glengarry," "there anybody down there who has a chew of tobacco to spare. I ain't had a cut since I left England and I want a chew just as quick as I can get it." Some one in the crowd produced the necessary weed and it was thrown up to him. Soon he was rumbling away and again he asked: "How's the war news, I haven't heard anything since I got on board." He was told that the Germans had been repulsed in their attack on Verdun.

"Good stuff," was his reply. "Where there any Canadians in the mess?"

When he got an answer in the negative he seemed to be sorry that the Canadian boys missed it.

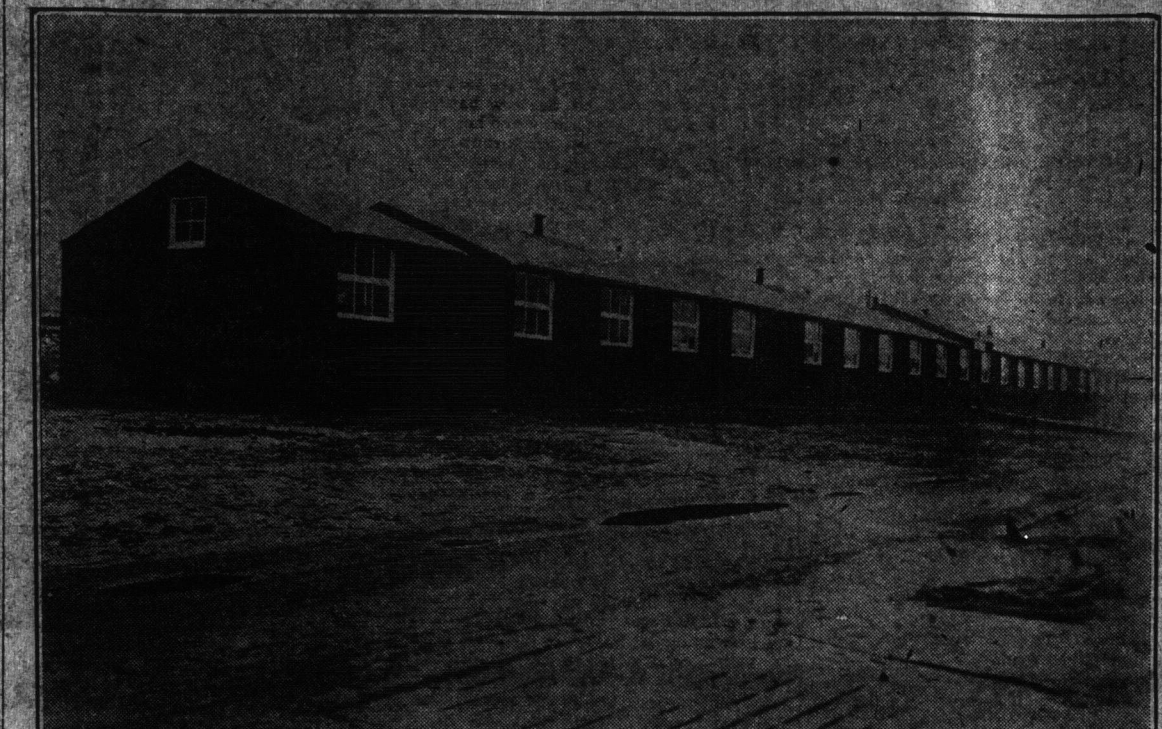

"Say we didn't do much last year, we Canadians, but we're the boys who are going to win this war, and don't you forget it. Last year we spent our time getting a top hold, but this summer there'll be something doing all right, all right. Sorry I can't be there to see the fun."

He was glad to get back to Canada, though. He was a Hamilton (Ont.) boy and wanted to know if Hamilton was going to be in the Canadian Base. "Leave that to the soldiers," he replied. "Already he was thinking about getting back into civilian life, now that he was discharged from the service. 'Say the boys, I ain't heard anything since I got on board.' He was told that the Germans had been repulsed in their attack on Verdun.
