SATURDAY EVENING, MARCH 22.

The Ballast Wharf Corporation.
What have the Corporation officials who are supposed to protect public property and preserve the public health to do in reference to the Ballast Wharf property? Is it the duty of no one to prevent the building up of mounds of filth that will have to be leveled some day at great expense? Is it the duty of no one to prevent those who violate the law and endanger the public health by depositing all manner of filth within a few rods of any member of the Common Council know the extent of the evil of which our correspondent complains? It is not possible that these heaps of filth have accumulated without attracting the attention of some one in authority.
And yet nothing is done about it. No arrests are made of offenders. No watch is set to catch the depositors of the filth.
No directions are given as to where deposits should be made. Nothing is done by Police, Board of Health, Harbor Inspector, City Engineer, Common Council, or Mayor. Mountains of refuse, kitchen garbage, night soil, etc., raise their stench-emitting heads between the town and the sea breezes, and nobody notices them except those who reside in the vicinity. It is time that the authorities took action towards abating the nuisance. Involving matters at a premium when such cholera-breeding mounds can be raised on public land that will have to be leveled at considerable expense before it can be made available for any purpose. Will the officials do anything about the nuisance, or will they allow the filth to be deposited wherever the cartman chooses?

The Salary Sued.
Mr. D. C. Smith, writing from Fredericton to the Advertiser, says there has been a change in the sentiments of members with respect to the amount of the sessional indemnity to be appropriated, and the prospect is that it will be fixed at $500. This is a saving of nearly $5,000 a year as compared with the amount proposed by some members of the Government and assented to by at least twenty members of the House, and will diligently transfer only some $5,000 a year from the Government to the pockets of the legislators. There will be $5,000 a year less for roads and other public purposes, but the members will have an extra hundred a session to take home, or spend in refreshments, or lose at quiet games of poker. If the present especially the Free School process, would speak out with one voice against any larger sessional allowance than $300 the disagreeable of this Salary Sued might be averted; but the News, with its editor in the Government, and the Times, with its editor in the House by virtue of the strenuous efforts of the leader of the Government, and the Visitor, with its editor on a pleasure trip to Europe at the public expense, are bound hand and foot not to let the Government of the day settle for less than $500. The Times, Secularia School organ stands aloof, hoping for the perpetration of the job, and preparing to use it against the Free School cause.

The Fredericton Land Job.
The Headquarters a warm supporter of the Melchior Government is not at all inclined to accept the demands of the Burgess Family in regard to the Fredericton Land Job, as it has information it deems more trustworthy than the word of the Minister of Customs. We make a few extracts from an article in its last issue under the title of "The Happy Family." It is clear that the Fredericton gentlemen who went to Ottawa to oppose the granting of the land to the railway had to fight against the influence of Hon. Isaac Burgess, and do not believe a word of his cynical diatribes. The fact is, however, that in learning the facts of the case, cancelled the sale after having accepted the purchase money, proves that he found something fraudulent in the transaction.
Inquiring correspondents are informed that "candle," the corrupting term Mr.
O'Leary has rendered so popular, is a "dictionary word." It is derived from the Welsh word "candell," or from the Testonic hapten, to hide, to conceal, and may be related to Mr. Beecher's compound, "nest-hiding." It means, according to Webster and Worcester, to retire from sight; to crouch; to squat; to snuggle; to embrace closely; to keep to press closely, so as to keep warm.
It does not appear that O'Leary gave his definition of the word at the trial, and he should be given an opportunity of making an explanation on the floor of the House or in the press. Did he want to deceive to "candle her," or did he want to embrace her closely, or to press closely to her, so as to keep her warm? The inquiry is a most important one, and the point should not have been overlooked by the Judge in his charge to the jury.
Perhaps some correspondent may shed light on the subject. We hope Mr. O' Leary will rise or write or explain.

A three year old daughter of Mr.
Samuel Rankine, of Woodstock, was scalded to death by falling into a pot of boiling water in a room.

As a corollary to the foregoing is introduced and supplied by Fellow's Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, it gives spirit, vigour and motion to the torpid, and brings about a condition which not only secures consciousness of life but MAKES LIFE REALLY ENJOYABLE.

The Cuddling Couple Close to Ecce- tion. I pray you, Mr. Editor, don't let this matter rest. This is no doubt a valuable property, and in any hands but those who control it, would be a large source of revenue to our city. To my knowledge within the last thirty years numerous applications have been made for portions of it for manufacturing and other purposes, but all have been put off on pretences or another. Of late years the railway has been the standing excuse. This is all a sham and a humbug. They could settle that matter in six weeks if they wished. But you will find that so long as the public will allow themselves to be heavily taxed to raise revenues that should be derived from our public property the present wretched state of things will be continued.

Do, Mr. Editor, parse them with a good sharp sickle what a hot point on it will you drive them into a sense of shame at the disgrace and injury they are inflicting on a long suffering and too patient community.

A FOURTEEN HUNDRED DOLLAR
OH! LEARY OWE MARY!
In Five Lethal Cases.
Cap-to-let.

There was a young man called O'Leary, Who found single business dreary
For like his wife was dead,
So he thought he would wed
A charming young dame called Mary.

There was a young man called O'Leary,
Who "cuddled and kissed" his dear Mary;
But this young fellow
When the time came to marry Said "You cannot be Missus O'Leary."

Then this poor, lone, lonesome called Mary,
Said to him, "I'll be true to you,
For I'll be true to you,
And for this you shall rue."
You "cuddled," "kissed" O'Leary,
Said to him, "I'll be true to you,
For I'll be true to you,

Now, when this false-hearted O'Leary Refused to get "married" to poor Mary, He said to her, "I'll be true to you,
For I'll be true to you,
You "cuddled," "kissed" O'Leary,
Said to him, "I'll be true to you,
For I'll be true to you,

Take a warning, young man, from O'Leary, And never "go back" on your dear one;
For like his wife was dead,
So he thought he would wed
A charming young dame called Mary.

A gambler has been sent to goal for six months by the Recorder of Montreal, moustaches, and finally, (singing), never seem to have anything to do, but prostitute and chew fine cut tobacco.

Last October, an agent of the New York Watch Co. left a stack of watches in charge of the clerk of the Royal Hotel, Hamilton, telling him to put it in the back of the safe, and to keep it there until he came back. The stack was stolen and the agent sued to recover the value of the watches. The jury found in his favor, and a verdict for $450 was returned.

Lady Franklin's niece writes to the London Times, at the request of her aunt, correcting the published statement that the latter had inherited or contributed $50,000 toward the expenses of the proposed Atlantic cable. The statement doubtless arose from the fact that Lady Franklin has recently returned the remains of her husband's body to her country.

A young married man at Rockland, Me., becoming jealous of his wife at an entertainment, told her on reaching home that he intended to commit suicide, and was told to go ahead. He accordingly procured a rope, and making due preparations, swung himself off, calculating that he would cut himself down in time to save his life. An alarm was given, and the neighborhood gathered to see the man before a knife could be found to cut him down, the incline might be black in the face and nearly dead. He is getting over the consequences, and thinks he doesn't pay to run so much risk for the pleasure of frightening his better half.

A decision of considerable importance to railway companies was given recently in the case of Hetherford vs. the Grand Trunk Railway Company. The plaintiff had been getting timber carried by the railway, and had judgment affirmed in his favor. The railway company gave notice that they would not carry any more cedar timber.
On their refusal to carry the timber, the plaintiff's timber, an action was brought, and though dismissed by the Court below, and that judgment affirmed in review, the Court of Appeal reversed the decision, and judgment was given in favor of the plaintiff. The railway company cannot arbitrarily refuse to carry any goods of freight. It must at least give a reason for refusal, and it cannot discriminate between different kinds of particular class of goods, or between different parties.

Edward Island oysters in St. John.

About nine o'clock yesterday morning fire was discovered in St. George's Church, Carlton, the flames having originated in the flooring near the hot air flue. Prompt measures were taken and the flames were extinguished before they could spread to any extent, so that the damage will probably not exceed one hundred dollars. Two pews were completely destroyed and a quantity of glass broken, but the escape of the building from destruction was most fortunate.

Three slight fires caused three alarms about 11 o'clock last night. The first of these was in a barn on Brunswick street, the next in a barn in Dorchester street, while the third one was in a new house in Winter street, Portland, where some shavings had fallen from burning charcoal. All the above were extinguished without the aid of the engines. The barn of Dorchester street had evidently been set on fire, as turpentine was found scattered over the boards and on the sidewalk.

The Portland Fire Engine.
The repairs to the Portland fire engine have already been noticed, and it is now claimed by competent judges that the working is complete. The overhauling was done by Mr. John E. Wilson of the Amoskwock works, assisted by Mr. Beverly Evans, engineer, and George Downey, fireman. The shaft and piston rods were straightened by Mr. Wilson, who performed all the work in the shop of Messrs.
Fleming & Sons; and the arching and tempering of the springs was done by Messrs. Campbell & Fowler.

We are much pleased to notice that
