He's My Brother

I met a slender little maid
A rosy burden bearing,
"Isn't he heavy, dear?" I said,
As past me she was faring.
She looked at me with grave sweet eyes,
This fragile "little mother,"
And answered, as in swift surprise,
"Oh, no, ma'am; he's my brother."
We larger children toiled and fret
To help the old world onward;
Our eyes with tears are often wet,
So slowly it moves sunward.
Yet, would we all the secret seek
Of this dear "little mother,"
Unwearying we'd bear up the weak,
Because he is "my brother."

John Wesley's Old Age

In the new abridged edition of "John Wesley's Journal," by Mr. Percy L. Parker, the following interesting and valuable reasons are given by Wesley for his long and healthy life:

Saturday, June 28.—I this day enter on my eighty-fifth year; and what cause have I to praise God, as for a thousand spiritual blessings, so for bodily blessings also! How little have I suffered yet by "the rush of numerous years!" It is true, I am not so agile as I was in times past. I do not run or walk so fast as I did; my sight is a little decayed; my left eye is grown dim, and hardly serves me to read; I have daily some pain in the ball of my left eye, as also in my temple (occasioned by a blow received some months since), and in my right shoulder and arm, which I impute partly to a sprain, and partly to the rheumatism.

I find likewise some decay in my memory, with regard to names and things lately past; but I am not conscious of any decay in writing sermons; which I do as readily, and I believe as correctly, as ever.

To what cause can I impute this, that I am as I am? First, doubtless, to the power of God, fitting me for the work to which I am called, as long as He pleases to continue me therein; and next, subordinately to this, to the prayers of His children. May we not impute it as inferior means,

1. To my constant exercise and change of air?
2. To my never having lost a night's sleep, at land or at sea, since I was born?

3. To having sleep at command; so that whenever I feel myself almost worn out, I call it, and it comes, day or night?

4. To my having constantly, for above sixty years, risen at four in the morning?

5. To my constant preaching at five in the morning, for about fifty years?

6. To my having had so little pain in my life; and so little sorrow, or anxious care?

Even now, though I find pain daily in my eye, or temple, or arm, yet it is never violent, and seldom lasts many minutes at a time.

Whether or not this is sent to give me warning that I am shortly to quit this tabernacle, I do not know; but be it one way or the other, I have only to say:

My remnant of days
I spend to His praise,
Who died the whole world to redeem:
Be they many or few,
My days are His due,
And they all are devoted to Him!

The hard treatment meted out to Wesley at Charterhouse School may have had something to do with his hardy nature and length of days. Though always abstemious, he attributed his foundation of health to his obedience to his father's wish that he should run round the Charterhouse garden three times every morning. Still, the Charterhouse regime was unduly harsh, for, by the law that right is might, the elder boys took the meat away from the younger; and it is on Wesley's record that "a small daily portion of bread was his only food"; yet he lived to his eighty-eighth year, and sixty-fifth of his ministry.

I Am Free—You Can Be Free

My catarrh was filthy and loathsome. It made me ill. It dulled my mind. It undermined my health and was weakening my will. The hawking, coughing, spitting made me obnoxious to all, and my foul breath and disgusting habits made even my loved ones avoid me secretly. My delight in life was dulled and my faculties impaired. I knew that in time it would bring me to an untimely grave, because every moment of the day and night it was slowly yet surely sapping my vitality. But I found a cure, and I am ready to tell you about it FREE. Write me promptly.
