LOUDEN

Bird Proof

Barn Door Hanger

and have the barn door hang and run right for all time. This is positively the finest Barn Door Hanger on the market. As its name implies birds cannot build in the track. The track is hollow with closed ends. No ice or snow in winter or trash in summer can possibly get in to clog it. Runs on two strongly braced trolley wheels always smooth and easy running. Hung so as to make it flexible and to allow the door to swing outwards and upwards if occasion requires.

get that old affair and take the throttle."

Without a word the ex-engineer arose, and, compressing his lips, walked out of the car and toward the engine. The stranger noticed that as he went he was snapping the fingers of each hand alternately.

It was an engine of a new type, but the man who climbed into it had been for nearly ten years in the shops of the road, and he knew every lever, every cock, every device that confronted him. Slowly he opened the steam-way, slowly the ponderous wheels began to revolve, and all at once the old tingle came back into his fingertips, into his hand, into his arm, into the muscles of his back, into his entire body. Once more, as it gathered speed, he was part and parcel of his engine; the breeze that at the cab windows swept across his face came in and ruffled his grizzled hair; the rock and the sway of the big machine struck him with a keen sensation as of one homesick but returned home.

Little by little he "let her out," and they spun past farmhouse and fields and hills, past woods and marsh and sandy waste, thru rocky cut and across bridge and trestle and culvert, over brook and creek and sluggish river. There came upon him an exhilaration as if he had tasted of new wine. Even at the head of the grade leading down to the Edgarville curve he seemed to be half drunk with the joy of it all, and blithely he called across the cab to the green fireman:

"We're all right this morning, my boy; the semaphore is clear—clear as crystal!"

They were just nearing the signal tower when suddenly he gave a scream that set his fireman quivering, and, throwing himself upon his lever, he reversed. With all his might he gripped the steel handle, staring straight ahead with horror-widened eyes and tightly clenched jaws, his face gone as white as his hair. The momentum was too great to allow the train to be stopped at the tower, but with a jerk it came to a standstill at the field just beyond the curve.

The conductor and the stranger were the first to come running on ahead, to find the engineer in the empty field, limping painfully with his hand upon his back and bending over, first to one side and then to the other, talking; and each time he stretched a trembling hand to where both arms of the semaphore, the red and the white, hung straight down in the sunlight.

"I can't find the little girl that looks like my Elsie!" he complained, as they approached him. Then he slowly raised his head and met their glance; his eyes were wide set, and there was in them the wild light which no man, having once seen, can ever forget.

"It wasn't my fault!" he exclaimed piteously, pointing his trembling hand toward the signal tower. "The semaphore was clear—clear as a crystal! Look!"

THE FARM FLOCK

Tho the growth of the sheep industry has been slow in Manitoba, it has been none the less steady. In 1900 we had slightly more than 25,000 sheep, and in 1912 about 43,000. In the last year and a half we find interest growing more rapidly. During the last year a great many enquiries have been coming in to the Animal Husbandry Department of the Agricultural College. In order to ascertain the opinions of breeders throughout the province and collect the widest range of information, a circular of enquiry was sent out to many known breeders in the province. The replies, without exception, were favorable to the sheep industry and a large percentage were enthusiastic.

A bulletin is now in course of preparation by the Animal Husbandry Department of the Manitoba Agricultural College, dealing with the more important phases of the sheep industry in Manitoba. This bulletin, which will be ready for distribution by June 15, will be very valuable to all the farmers in the province and a copy may be obtained by writing to the President, Manitoba Agricultural College, Winnipeg.
