

KING AND CZAAR MEET AT COWES

First Official Visit of Emperor Nicholas to England

One of Most Spectacular Events That Cowes Ever Witnessed

Emperor and Empress Dine With the King and Queen

COWES, Aug. 2.—The first official visit of the Russian Emperor Nicholas to England was one of the most impressive and spectacular events that Cowes has ever witnessed. King Edward, with most of the members of the royal family put out this morning on the royal yacht Victoria and Albert and met the Russian imperial yacht Standard and the squadron of warships accompanying it off Spithead at noon.

Emperor Nicholas immediately went on board the British royal yacht, where he was greeted by King Edward and, after the monarchs had taken luncheon the Russian squadron with the Victoria and Albert leading the way, reviewed the British fleet. The British had 150 ships aligned in three lines between Cowes and Spithead. Besides the warships, there were hundreds of yachts of all types, from the largest steamers to small sailboats at anchor. All were dressed in flag and bunting.

The yacht races, which had been going on for some time, but their usual interest, for everyone was absorbed by the visit of the Russian imperial family. The measures taken to safeguard Emperor Nicholas had been seen like a prisoner of state when compared with other royal personages who have visited Cowes during the past century. The Standard dropped anchor between two battleships of the Dreadnought type, which are surrounded by other naval vessels, while a small boat patrol, the visitors constantly, Scotland Yard has one hundred detectives at Cowes, and the Russian police department has an equal number.

The Emperor will remain aboard ship during his visit, except for a brief trip ashore to the Cowes naval school Wednesday morning.

Tonight the Russian Emperor and Empress dined with King Edward and Queen Alexandra, and the members of the British royal household on board the Victoria and Albert. Sir Edward Grey and Mr. Balfour, respectively British and foreign Ministers, also attended the function. All the ships in the harbor were illuminated tonight.

FAIR CLAIMANT GETS THE WEALTH LADEN HAND BAG

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The wealth-laden hand bag bearing the initials "G. L. W." which was found on the excursion steamer City of Worcester on July 3, was claimed today by a woman who gave her name as Grace Livingston Wheeler, of Philadelphia. The bag when opened, recently, was found to contain $7,755 in new bills, two gold watches, two diamond rings and other valuables. The claimant who appeared today was given possession of the bag and its contents after she had told the amount of money in the receptacle, the numbers of the watches and other details.

George Washington Lincoln, the colored porter on the steamer, who found the hand bag, was rewarded with a present of ten of the new $50 bills.

Prince Edward Island Woman Dies at the Age of 102

LONDON, Aug. 2.—In accordance with the program of the reconstructed New Gallery, which is now a "closed" society, members only being allowed to exhibit, the second part of a series of pictures that have been selected retrospectively, now carefully selected retrospective exhibition may be attractive and instructive, like the "Chosen Pictures" at the New Gallery, which illustrate in admirable fashion some of the most significant phases of the more recent developments of modern British art.

On the other hand, the inclusion of a large proportion of not particularly brilliant paintings that have been shown elsewhere at a recent date, now held to add considerably to the attraction of the new work at the New Gallery.

In the case of the show is made up of borrowed pictures that have made their mark in the other case we have merely an influx of works that have presumably been returned unsold from previous shows and that have but rarely such intrinsic merit as to make their appearance particularly welcome.

To Sir James Guthrie's large full-length portrait of a woman in "The Velvet Cloak" which has given the picture its name has rightly been recorded the place of honor in the west room. The picture has real distinction and style and is a noble and fully representative example of the art practiced by the members of the so-called Glasgow school which is more or less directly derived from Whistler. This fine portrait which combines a spontaneous sense of life and movement with carefully studied rhythm of design is here the more telling as the majority of the portraits shown are inspired by an ideal of insipid peticness and wholly lacking in artistic distinction.

STIRLING SUIT HAS COME TO AN END

Divorced Wife and Lord Northland Withdraw Their Appeals

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Saturday's proceedings in the Edinburgh Court of Session probably provide the finish to the Stirling litigation, which was the Scottish case celebre of the year.

Motions were made on the part of Mrs. Stirling and Lord Northland withdrawing their appeals in the divorce case.

Mr. Clyde, K.C., for Mr. John Stirling, Laird of Kippendavie, Perthshire, said there was pending in England, between the same parties litigation at Mrs. Stirling's instance for the recovery of £4,000 and a considerable sum of accumulated interest, and also in regard to certain jewelry.

It was Mr. Stirling's intention, upon condition that this English litigation was not set on foot, which he understood was being done, and in view of the fact that there was no marriage settlement for the child of the marriage, and the Mrs. Stirling was quite unprotected for, to secure an annuity of £280 for Mrs. Stirling, with reversion to the child after her death.

The Lord President said the court had nothing to do with that.

The matrimonial differences of Mr. Stirling, an ex-officer in the Scots Guards, and now a member of the London Stock Exchange, and his wife, Mrs. Clara Stirling, an American actress who had appeared in London in "The Earl and the Girl" caused something of a sensation a few months ago.

Lord Guthrie, in the Court of Session, after a long hearing, dismissed Mrs. Stirling's petition against her husband for divorce, in which she named Mrs. Agnes Abernethy, the divorced wife of Colonel T. J. Abernethy. At the same time he granted a decree of divorce to Mr. J. A. Stirling on the petition, in which he had named Lord Northland, son of the late Lord Northland, now secretary of an insurance company in Pall Mall, as co-respondent having had an illicit outdoor service at Strat Lake August 3, 1907.

Rev. J. E. Flewelling, rector of Canterbury, was prevented from attending the divorce meeting at Woodstock last week on account of a funeral. He had three funerals to attend last week. He purposes having his usual outdoor service at Strat Lake August 3, 1909.

Weak Blood During Development May Easily Cause a Life of Suffering

A Tonic Such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Is Needed to Build Up the Blood and Give New Strength

At no time in her life does a girl stand in greater need of pure red blood and the strength that comes from it, than when she is developing into womanhood. It is then that any shortage of blood is most likely to develop into chronic weakness, and the assumption becomes only too apparent that the danger is especially threatening to the young women of the day.

Mr. Clyde, K.C., for Mr. John Stirling, Laird of Kippendavie, Perthshire, said there was pending in England, between the same parties litigation at Mrs. Stirling's instance for the recovery of £4,000 and a considerable sum of accumulated interest, and also in regard to certain jewelry.

5,000 VICTIMS OF REBELLION AT BARCELONA

PARIS, Aug. 2.—The internal situation in Spain tonight seems to be improved. Barcelona has emerged from her isolation and the threatened general strike in Madrid appears to have been averted, at least temporarily.

In striking contrast with the estimate of the victims of the disorders given by the Barcelona newspapers which arrived tonight at Orléans is one of 5,000 emanating from private sources received from Madrid. This latter estimate, however, is labelled "perhaps exaggerated."

WOODSTOCK DECIDES TO GUARANTEE BONDS

WOODSTOCK, N. B., Aug. 2.—Some few months ago, one of our principal industries, the tannery of J. D. Dickenson & Sons, was destroyed by fire. It employed about 40 hands and as the firm lost quite a few of its employees, leaving the small net balance on the past year's working of 298.

The Canadian Bible Society, Auxiliary to the British and Foreign Bible Society, was organized on April 28th, 1905. It assumed responsibility for Bible distribution in Canada and New Brunswick, and pledged assistance to the world's work of the parent society. For four years it has been true to its trust. It has expended all the costs of its own clerical field and forwarded $7,700 as a free gift to maintain the translators and foreign work of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

SHOWS SPLILLOON

Annual Report of R. D. Secretary D. Bible Society

Following is the annual report of Rev. George M. Campbell, D. D., secretary of the Canadian Bible Society. Through the courtesy of the press the society from 1905 to 1909 and its activities before you. Catholic in its administration and operations it wonderfully illustrates the unity of the spirit which underlies ecclesiastical separations. It lives to fulfil a high missionary purpose, to supply every man with the Holy Scriptures in his own language, "without note or comment" based on a knowledge of the Word of God can only be ephemeral in its results. Though it may have a passing pleasure, the society through the Holy Scriptures in all possible languages—a work essential to the success of Christian missions. The wonderful expansion which has taken place in missionary work and effort, has necessitated bringing new burdens and responsibilities to the Bible producing houses. No missionary society provides directly the essential instrument of success, the Word of God in the languages of the peoples among whom their missionary labor. This work is done by the British and Foreign Bible Society, which also in a large measure supply the funds for the circulation of the Bible as home as well as abroad. The great Bible producing house of the world, therefore, feels that it should not be regarded as an "outside institution" but as part of the foundations on which rests the mission work of all the churches.

This venerable society held its 105th annual meeting at the Queen's Hall, London, England, on the 5th day of May, 1909. From 300 delegates representing various branches of the Society during the past year sessions in six fresh languages have been added to the society's work. Two of these were for Africa and two for Oceania. These languages have been added to the list of languages in which the society is engaged in order that they may become vehicles of the gospel. The society in these versions makes a demand upon the Christian church, the Anglican, the American Baptist, the Wesleyan, the Presbyterian, the Methodist, and the others, through these new avenues are now telling the story of the risen Christ. The society has been successful in its work, and in all other tongues some portion of the Holy Book has been printed in a total of 418 different languages in which the British and Foreign Bible Society has promoted the translation of the Word to at least some part of the Scriptures.

150 LANGUAGES.

In 1908 the issues amounted to 5,247,711 and since its foundation in 1804 the society has printed and circulated over 215,500,000 copies of Scriptures. Several hundred translations of the Bible and portions of the Bible are today "promoting translations and revisions in 150 languages." The society has been successful in its work, and in all other tongues some portion of the Holy Book has been printed in a total of 418 different languages in which the British and Foreign Bible Society has promoted the translation of the Word to at least some part of the Scriptures.

NEARLY 1,000 WOMEN

Nearly 1,000 women are also engaged in "holding forth the Word of life." Six hundred and forty of these are natives of the West and connected with forty different missionary organizations. They are supported by the Bible Society to read and give the gospel of life to their secluded sisters shut away beyond the sound of other Christian teaching.

In addition to most generous appropriations to foreign missions the society spends $50,000 a year on grants of Scriptures, free or at greatly reduced rates, to Sunday schools, mission churches and philanthropic agencies in Canada.

The income received from all sources in 1908 was £228,460 sterling. The total balance on hand at the close of the year, leaving the small net balance on the past year's working of 298.
