TOO MUCH MARRIED

On Saturday last Public School Inspector Anderson of Brockville was arrested in Renfrew on a charge of bigamy.

Anderson went to Brockville last September from Renfrew, having previously been engaged as teacher in the latter town. On April 21st, following a public announcement of his engagement, he went to Renfrew and married a daughter of Rev. Mr. Jamieson. The bride was aged about 25 years and the groom was nearing the 50 mark. They have since been living happily in Brockville. He has received a preliminary hearing before a Renfrew magistrate and his trial will take place the latter part of this week. It is reported that Anderson has a wife and nine children living in Toronto.

A STEEL-SHINGLE DELIVERY

On Saturday last a car-load of The Pedlar People 4-lock Steel Shingles arrived here from Oshawa, and a large number of farmers were in town for their respective shares of the consignment. The goods had been sold through the agency of Mr. W. B. New some of Plum Hollow, and the traveling agent, Mr. T. J. McCann of Westport, was here superintending the delivery. Dinner was served at the Gamble House to all those time permitted them to partake of the hospitality of Mr. Newsome, and the meetings and greetings of so many progressive farmers, with the consequent interchange of views, made the event very pleasant and profitable.

The goods produced by the Pedlar People are winning an ever widening way among those who wish to combine economy, durability and efficiency of weather protection in the purchasing of shingles and siding. Mr. Newsome became thoroughly convinced of the merits of these goods before accepting an agency for their sale, and the success he is meeting with is only another evidence that faith and good goods constitute a winning combination.

ATHENS VICTORIOUS

A keenly contested game of baseball took place here on Thursday afternoon. It was the return match of Lyndhurst against Athens, and the interest aroused was attested by the (for Athens) large number of spectators who witnessed the game.

To tell the whole truth, Athenians, though loyal to their team, had very little hope of seeing victory come their way, in view of the decisive defeat they had suffered from the same opponents only a week previously. But confidence, in great big chunks, came to the bleachers during the opening innings and to the end of the match all good plays (especially those of the home team) were heartily applauded.

In the first two innings Athens scored 7 runs while Lyndhurst went twice to bat for only two runs. The fans were jubilant. Then Athens scored two goose-eggs and Lyndhurst added six, placing the visitors in the lead by 1 run at the end of the fourth. This began to resemble the Lyndhurst match, and the Athenian doubters were about ready to say "we told you so," when Athens placed another egg in the basket; Lyndhurst followed suit, scored 4 runs in the sixth, and were then shut out three innings in succession. Athens scored 6 in the sixth, 8 in the 7th, failed to score in the 8th, and did not take their ninth, the score standing at this stage of the game 21 to 12 in their favor.

The competing teams were as follows: Athens—Earl, Wiltsie, Dier, Donovan, Parish, Wilson, Stinson, McClary, DeWolfe.
Lyndhurst—Jonnstun, Love, E. Harvey, V. Landon, Brownbridge, P. Denby, S. Landon, C. Denby, H. Harvey.

Following the match, the visitors were entertained to supper at the Gamble House.

DEATH OF CHAUNCEY BELLAMY

Toledo, June 1, 1908.

The venerable and well known Chauncey Bellamy passed away on the evening of May 27. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. W. Henderson in the Methodist church on Saturday. Mr. Henderson in speaking on Ecclesiastes the 12th—a description of age as true to fact as it is beautiful in poetry—referred to Mr. Bellamy's long and useful life. At Elbe in this county of Leeds he was born on March 11, 1818, in the reign of George the III; his life therefore touched upon the reign of five sovereigns. In early manhood his heart responded to the call of God, and he became a member of the church, which he always sustained. Having a talent for and pleasure in machinery, he helped his father to develop a grist mill, the products of which were in wide demand.

With his young wife, Miss Bates, he moved over half a century ago to a site on Irish Creek, nearly two miles west of Toledo, and erected a mill in which later he was aided by his sons, William and George. Such men are path finders of and builders of Empire. Those who knew him best and longest regard Mr. Bellamy as an upright man. His last days were sustained by the ministrations of his faithful wife, who was able to attend the funeral, and by his children and grandchildren, including Mrs. and Miss Hawes. It is given but to a few to live in the exercise of their faculties beyond the ninetieth birthday. The remains were accompanied by the minister and many friends to Elbe, where he rests from his labors.

GRANOLITHIC WALKS

Athens has toyed with the granolithic sidewalk idea for some years. The experimental stretches of walk put down on original plans and conditions have proved so costly that the resultant effect on the citizens has been the very opposite of that for which our municipal representatives hoped. A comprehensive scheme for building walks on the leading streets of the village was considered by our present council at the beginning of the year, but a thorough investigation of the subject brought them to the wise conclusion that such a scheme was inadvisable, if not impracticable.

All these years there has been a provision in the statutes under which a certain proportion of residents of any section of a street could by petition to the council secure the construction of a granolithic walk in front such section under agreement to pay 60 per cent. of the cost thereof, payment of such percentage to be spread over a period of twenty years.

Under this statute action is now being taken, and at its meeting on Monday evening the village council received and adopted two petitions for granolithic walks, the first for a four foot walk on Wiltsie street, from Henry to Elgin streets, and the second for a four-foot walk on Elgin street, from Prince to Main street.

It is thought probable that a petition will be presented from the business men for a walk on the north side of Main street, from Henry to Elgin streets, and a few days will be given for the presentation of this or any other petition, before the council arranges for financing the undertaking.

An engineer is to be brought here at once to run the levels and prepare the plans and specifications for the work already in hand, and it is probable that at the same time levels will be run on other streets where it is likely the walks will be required in the near future.

Those ratepayers who want a granolithic walk in front of their premises under the terms of this statute should ask for it now. Prompt action will be in their own interest and in the interest of the general public.

ADDISON

The farmers in the section are mostly through seeding and are getting ready for corn planting.

Mr. David W. is snugly domiciled in his new home on King street. We wish him and family much happiness. The election fever is running high in our vicinity, and I'll bet 2 to 1 the foremost horse will win it.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Steacy, Rock Spring have leased the Smith cottage at Mt. Pleasant for the summer, where they will be happy to entertain their many friends at any time.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Moulton of Algonquin were guests of his father Mr. Joseph Moulton, Selina St. on Sunday last.
