A Bride's Gown and Other Dresses. The Heavy Trained Dress Versus the Airy Short One-Vells and the New Colfuse Arrangement.

For pictorial representation is selected a charming bridal gown of white mousseline de duchesse, the skirt cut in deep vandykes, edged with a lovely Irish crochet point lace and falling over a quantity of white net frills, stitched with rows of narrow white satin ribbon and fine white silk me dallion lace, which lace is also again used in vertical lines on the back of the skirt. Particularly dainty is the corsage, with its deep bertha of lace and bouffant sleeves of net run with ribbon, while the graceful bridal veil of net has a large true lovers' knot embroidered in each corner in white A sharp tongue is the only edged silk. The second cut shows two gowns of a trousseau, one being the ing away gown.

White satin is still one of the handsomest of wedding gowns and gives a better effect than the newer diapha-nous materials when made with a very long train. Charming as are the chiffons, nets, mousselines de sole and other filmy fabrics, they are not well adapted to very long trains. Hence the train in these materials is usually

Very often the vital resources are small at forty-two, but if not then between fifty-seven and sixty-two years of age there is a strange slowing down and loss of vitality. It is important that this transient period of decay should be checked; etrength must be imparted to the tired brain, the weakened nerves must be fortified. The wise man will use Ferrozone whose potency is particularly applicable to these critical periods. Ferrozone quickens the whole being, imparts vigor and power, pushes back the onset of semility in a very manifest way. The New Line In Bodices. The New Line In Bodices.

The middle portions of bodices in general are full or given that modification of fullness which plaits achieve, says Vogue. In this respect our gowns are further emphasized by many new and odd ways of keeping up full fronts in the state of the same state. and odd ways of keeping up tuli fronts above the girdle line, while flat backs are to be retained. This movement reduces the tiresome vulgarized front blouse line, and yet saves us for awhile from dart fitted bodices, which, no doubt, will come around in good time. Smart tailors have already accepted these foreign hints, and some of their latest suits bear evidence of this.

The Way to Make and Use the Trick

Take an ordinary tobacco pipe and cork. The pipe may be either a wood en or a clay one, but it should be new and clean. Bore a small hole through the cork, near one side, just big enough to hold a straw. The straw should be a little longer than the cork, and at the top it should be slit down an inch or so and the pieces spread out in the form of a fit the hole exactly a little wax at the top will make the joint air tight. Now take another cork, cut it down to a round ball as big as a small marble, "a miggle," and pierce it through the center a long hairpin from which you have broken off the greater part of one The straight end should stick farther out of the ball than the other, so that the hooked end will be higher and will stay on top. Now in the other side of the large cork nearest the stem of the pipe stick a long wire, bent over and above and ending in a hook exactly over the little funnel and three or four inches above it.

Then drop the cork ball into the fun-pel, put the pipe to your lips and blow.

Your breath rushing up the little tube will lift the light ball and keep it dancing in the air for a second or two. When it falls the funnel catches it, and your breath sends it up again.

The trick is to make the hook attached to the ball catch on the hook above so that the ball remains suspended; that is all.—New York Mail.

Another variation of the spelling game is called the "cate" game. A quarter of an hour is given, in all the players have to write down as many words as they can think of ending in "cate," such as delicate, advo-cate, vacate, and at the end of the time one of the company reads the words aloud. Dodd's Kidney Pills The One Remedy That Never Fails To Cure It, No Matter How or Where It Is Found.

Of all the diseases the human body has to combat in its struggle for health, the one that is steadily growing an atrength and terror is Kidney Obsesse. Quietly, steatthily as a serpent, ft creeps on its victim till the fatter is enveloped in its folds, and the greatest physician the world has ever known stand helpless before it. As the last fold goes around the struggling victim and the doctor shakes his head and whispers "Bright's Obsesse," hope fades to nothing, and the sorrowing friends feel that death has marked their loved one for its own.

The alarming increase This terrible disease is making is evidenced by the columns of almost every newspaper. For not among the lowly of the earth alone does it look for its victims. Statesmen, judges, eminent Of all the diseases the human body the earth alone does it look for its victims. Statesmen, judges, eminent lawyers, and honored divines are numbered among those who in recent months have gone down to their graves with the fell marks of this dread disease upon their bodies. In fact, so prevalent has the disease become that a celebrated New York specialist stated regently that not one person in a hundred was free from some taint of Kidney Disease.

WORKS IN SECRET. It is the secrety of Kidney Disease that makes it the more dreaded. You can fight an enemy in the open that makes it the more dreaded. You can fight an enemy in the open with some chance of success, but if he is lying in wait to take you at an unwary moment your chances of successfully fighting him are terribly diminished: So it is with Kidney Disease. Its first warnings are so faint as to be hardly noticeable, a slight pain in the back that is charged up to over exertion, a slight discoloration of the urine or a burning isensation while urinating that hardly attracts attention. That is all. But that means that Kidney Disease is at work gradually eating its way into your system. The pain in the back grows more severe, the urinary trouble more complicated, swellings under the eyes and of the limbs denote the coming of Dropsy, sharp shooting pains in the joints and muscles tell that Rheumatism has you in its grasp, or perhaps a player writes it down at the top of his paper. Five minutes are given in which to write down any words which can be made out of the letters in catastrophe which begin with the letter () (such as cat, cot, cast, cate, cater, cape, cape, cost). When this is over the same thing is done with the next letter, and all the players write down A, with at, are, ape, etc., underneath.

When the word is finished one of the party reads aloud the words he has found, and every one runs a line through any word of which he has the duplicate. Each player reads aloud in turn, and a mark is allowed for words which no one else has thought of. If possible, the selected word should be one in which no letter occurs twice.

With almost a single voice they will reply: "We cure our Kidney Pills, and they never get a chance to develop into that terrible disease that carries so many prominent men into the grave."

And so it is; the man who does manual labor must heal his slightest aches or they hinder him in his work. When he has backache he cures it with Dodd's Kidney Pills, and goes on with his work; when he feels a twinge of Rheumatism he drives it out of his body with Dodd's Kidney Pills—and goes on with his work. Necessity has taught him that he must ture his Kidneys to get rid of his pains, for he must work to live. He has not been educated to that standpoint where a perscription to cure must be written by a specialist at a cost of dollars to every letter. He may not even know that there never was a disease that took fin all classes of the community but what nature provided a cure within the means of all classes of the community. What he does know is more fo the point than all this. He knows that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure all aches which experience has taught him come from the Kidneys.
