

Resent American Action.

Special to Evening Telegram.
VANCOUVER, To-day.

Outraged by the action of the States Senate discriminating in favour of American vessels in formulating rules for conduct of Panama Canal, British Columbia will probably boycott the Panama Pacific Exposition at San Francisco in 1915. Hershkewitz, the President of the Board of Trade issued this statement: "A special meeting of the Board will be called to discuss whether the people of this city and province will withdraw from participation in San Francisco Fair. I see the British Government is considering a similar course, convinced this is the only dignified thing to do in view of the action of States' Senate, repudiating the American treaty obligation. The exposition would mean much to us locally, but the issue at stake is too big for minor selfish considerations to weigh heavily."

Sagona Back From Labrador.

The S. S. Sagona, Capt. Parsons, arrived back from the Labrador this morning after a lengthy and one of the stormiest trips ever experienced by any steamer on that route. Strong East and S. E. gales, accompanied by thick fog and heavy seas were continuous. The steamer got as far as Cape Harrison which was reached on Sunday morning last and left again coming south the same evening. She reports fish very plentiful all over the coast and the present outlook indicates the largest catch in the history of the Labrador fishery.

A material drawback is the scarcity of salt for which commodity there is a continual outcry. On Tuesday last a few small salt cargoes arrived on the coast and great relief was felt. Operations were retarded last week by the dense fog that prevailed and quite a number of floaters were fogbound for a whole week. At nearly every place the Sagona called, particularly at Cape Harrison, fish are numerous. Occasional lobster is the only place on the coast where there is a poor sign of cod reported.

The Sagona brought no word of the Mission Ship Yale which was reported to be on the rocks at Hamilton Inlet. The Sagona on her way south passed the Mission Ship at Indian Harbour.

On account of fog, ice and weather conditions the sailing of the Sagona was set down for 6 p.m. Monday, but the Reid Nfd. Company have now decided to rush the ship away at 2 p.m. on Monday.

Seamen Arrested

On a deposition sworn out by her captain nine seamen of the cable ship Minia were arrested under warrant yesterday afternoon, charged with refusing to do duty. There is another side to the story according to the men, and that is they have not been getting proper food to eat. The captain ignored frequent complaints from them, hence their refusing to do duty. The seamen have a lawyer defending them in court to-day.

The Oeuvre de M

Or French Deep-Sea-Mission On Thursday last, 8th inst. French Hospital Corvette

St. Francois d'Assise arrived in port from St. Peter's Sydney, en route for her monthly trip to the Grand Banks.

Very little is known among this charitable and missionary, prize. Indeed one might be saying its very existence is only the greater number of our and yet it is work of great magnitude and of several years standing.

In the year 1894 (about 18 ago) this charitable and Relief institution, was established, for succour and assistance, both temporal and spiritual, of the poor Fishermen, who ply their avocation on the Grand Banks of Newfoundland, and in the seas surrounding Iceland. The number of annually employed in the fisheries amounts to from 600 to having several hundred men.

The hardships they suffer are innumerable. It was to help to alleviate deplorable state of things that Oeuvre de Mer was inaugurated. Towards the of the year 1894 a number of distinguished French men and women of wealth and influence, composed members of the best families of France "la vieille noblesse," met together and published a circular of subject of the Mission. It was received with enthusiasm and great sympathy all over France. Large subscriptions and offers from the rich, as well as modest from the poor flowed in most abundantly.

The construction of a hospital was as once undertaken and priests were sent out to St. Pierre study the question on the spot, and commence the work. These were L'Abbe Bellin, of St. Servain, and Pore Yves, of the Order of the Augustinians of the Assumption.

They went out on board of the banking ship, The Britania and the Chateau, fitting, taking their place among fishermen so as to gain a personal knowledge of the life they led.

Chateau and her companion brought out 2,500 men to be put aboard bankers at St. Pierre. They were warmly received by Monseigneur Therji the Prefect Apostolic. He immediately purchased a house
