The remains of Walt Whitman, the poet, were interred yesterday afternoon in his tomb at Hart Cemetery, Camden, N. J., after impressive funeral services which were attended by a large throng of people, including many well known in literary circles. The plain casket was almost hidden beneath the floral tributes of affection which were showered upon it by Whitman's numerous admirers who filed past the body in a constant stream as it lay in state at his

in a constant stream as it lay in state at his home for over two hours. No services were held at the house and the mourning procession moved in silence to the cemetery, while crowds of sympathetic spectators lined the walks. At the tomb Francis Howard Wilson, of Philadelphia, read selections from the Scriptures and the poet's writings. Dr. R. M. Bucke, of this city, Whitman's biographer, spoke at length on the life and character of the dead poet as shown by his works. Thomas B. Harned and Dr. Daniel G. Brinton also made addresses and the ceremonies were concluded by an address from Robert G. Ingersoll, the intimate friend of Whitman. The Sixtieth Anniversary. Letter from Springfield.

event was commemorated yesterday by a family reunion at their residence, 433 Ridout street. Both Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are still hale and hearty, and are splendid examples of those vigorous qualities of body and mind which characterize the natives of auld Scotia. Mr. Thompson was born in Kelso on Sept. 8, 1808—over 83 years ago—though his sturdy frame and mental activity would scarce lead one to believe he had attained that ripe age. He well remembers when the battle of Waterloo was fought and won, and how the bonfires blazed on the banks of the Tweed in joyous celebration of the victory. "That was a sample of Grit loyalty," he remarked with a smile. When 15 years of age Mr. Thompson started to learn the trade of the millwright, and in the fall of 1842 removed to Canada, settling at the Humber. Mr.

Thompson started to learn the trade of the millwright, and in the fall of 1842 removed to Canada, settling at the Humber. Mr. Thompson engaged extensively in the mill building business and he has constructed many of the largeat establishments of the kind in Western Ontario. He built mills in the Humber district for Messrs. W. P. Howland, Wm. Gamble, Fisher and other prominent persons; and for Messrs. Haggart (father of the present John Haggart) and E. W. Thompson, near the Welland Canal. In 1846 Mr. Thompson removed to Beachville, Ont., and continued in business. Among the well-known mills contracted for by him in this district are Devinney's, at Eyron, erected in 1851; Carroll's, at Woodstock; Reynard & Shaw's, erected in 1854 at the foot of Wellington street, city, and Hunt's mill, built in 1856. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson have seven surviving children—Robert, of Woodstock; Walter, of Mitchell; Charles, of Tilsonburg; Henry, of London (Gartley & Thompson); Mrs. Saunders, of Tacoma, W.T., and Miss Agnes Thompson, city. Twenty-two grandchildren are also living. Like most of his fellow-countrymen, Mr. Thompson is a staunch Liberal; he has taken the Toronto Globe since its earliest days, when that journal was known as the Banner. Many congratulations and hearty wishes for returns of the day were showered upon the venerated couple by their posterity and by friends.

Claims for Augmentation.

The Home Mission Committee of the Presbyterian Church met in Toronto on Tuesday. Rev. D. Cochrane the convener, occupied the chair, with Rev. Dr. Warden, clerk.

Claims for mission work in the different Presbyteries for the past half year were passed to the amount of $21,048 48.

The claims for augmentation for the past half year amounted to $13,889 71. It having been ascertained that the augmentation fund could not pay in full this amount, even with the addition of a bequest of $6,000 given during the year, and what might be given by congregations prior to May 1, 1892, the following resolution was adopted:

"That in view of the state of the fund, the sum of $30 be deducted from the grant due for the six months ending March 31, 1802, to each settled charge on the fund in Ontario and Quebec, and the sum of $40 from the grant due to each charge on the fund in the Synod of Manitoba and the Northwest."
