ually. The grave and painful constraint with which William curbed a will as strong as his father's, raised in the banker's mind an angry feeling of antagonism; but the frank resistance of Hope was much less easily managed. Mr. Oswald began to feel an involuntary 'dirther' as to his success in this part of the contest—a dubious consciousness that Hope might be too many for him. The exhibition of drawings did not succesd. Hope perceived that there was something wrong, and with eager girish ourfoity could not rest until she had fathemed it. William was strangely grave and taciture, she thought; she seized the earliest opportunity of questioning him.

took advantage of the propitious moment.

"William is there anything the matter;" William stirred the fire thoughtfully and sighed. The light threw a gleam upon his as his sister thought. Hope was not inelined to wait for his tardy answer; she

"Hush, Hope—do not speak of ner, I beg."
"Why!" said Hope. "I like her better than anybody else in Fendie; why should I not speak of her?"

There was no point on which Hope and her tacitum brother agreed so perfectly. He sm led a mementary smile, and then answered gravely—
"Because vou do like her better than any one else in Fendie, you must not speak of her, Hope—and especially recollect that her name must not be mentioned before my father unless you wish to hear her spoken of with anger and disrepect, which I am sure you do not."

Mr. Oswald and William were no sconer fairly lodged in the office the next morning than Hope began her investigation. Mrs. Oswald sat sowing again; she had an old-fashioned horrer of idleness.

RESTRICTING THEIR OPPORTUNITIES.

When taxes are put upon landed improvements and personal property, things that workingmen make, and demand is diminished by the consequent increase of price, freedom of employment is restricted, and in some degree men are deprived of opportunities to work; when protection duties are laid upon foreign products, so as to increase the price of similar domestic products, freedom of employment is restricted further, and men both here and abroad are deprived of opportunities to work; when the holding of land cut of use is made possible and promoted by favoring the owners with low taxes, freedom of employment is in a very high degree restricted, and men in vast numbers are deprived of opportunities to work. It is in these ways that the army of the unemployed is created, and it is by of the unemployed is created, and it is by a farwing upon that army that the Carnegic are able to cut down the wages of the greatest and to shoot down the men them selves when they undertake to meet such as the commit of orce with physical force.—[New text of the commit of the SPECIAL NOTICE and cannot be fooled out of it by tail. [Vermont Watchman. WEALTH MUST CONTROL LABOR. The militia is in possession at Homestead, a congressional committee has made an investigation, the Carnegie company is hunting for non-union men to take the place of its old employes whom it refuses to receive back except as individuals and upon terms imposed by itself, and the old employes are holding out for a trial of endurance. If this condition continues, it is almost needless to say that the Carnegies will triumph. So many men are suffering for want of opportunity to work that a law-and-order contest, such as that at Homestead has become, cannot terminate otherwise than favorably for the side that controls the sinews of law and order.— [New York Standard. controls the sinews of law and order.—

[New York Standard.

BALLOTS, NOT BULLETS.

The American idea of righting wrongs is by ballots, not bullets. Mr. Frick's decree that the workingmen of the Carnegie mills shall not organize for mutual benefit is the attempt of an arbitrary and tyranical man to impose his will upon men as free as himself. The effectual way to resist such an attempt is to vote down the system which creates Fricks and gives them their opportunity for injustice. The workingmen are at a disadvantage solely because of the system which creates great aggregations of wealth by giving favored men the privilege of taxing, all other men under It is an acknowledged fact that the Genuine Guyot Suspenders are not only the very best, most durable and healthful Suspenders made, but are by long odds the most popular all over the world. Numerous imitations of the Genuine Guyots are being offered to the public, and we beg to caution all buyers against these imitations, as they are barefaced attempts to defraud the consumers, and it is the intention of the maker of the Genuine Guyots to prosecute, to the fullest extent of the law, all fraudulent imi tations. We therefore advise you to be sure to examine your Guyots and see that they bear the names of Ch. Guyot and Bretelles Hygieniques.

COMMERCE AND CHRISTIANITY.
Commerce has always been the forerunner and must forever continue to be the handmaid of Christianity. Commerce will penetrate and dispel the darkness of heathen lands, and dituse in its stead the exhilarating sunshine of peace, progress and presperity. Commerce will distribute the surplus, the superabundance of our country among the needy, the destitute of other lands, thus avoiding want and preventing famine. Commerce will pick up the waste materials, the refuse products of sections that are highly favored, transform these into articles of value and wealth by transporting them to other sections which are less favored. Between men of distant climes and widely-separated regions commerce equalizes the bounties and blessings of nature, tears down man's prejudice, builds up his manhood, teaches him that every other man is his brother, thus en.phasizing that eternal truth that God hath made of one blood all the nations.
Is there a man among you all who would cast a vote or raise his voice against a blessing so gloriously rich, against a beneficence so nearly universal?—[Hon.
Fred E. White, Ohio.
