FIGHTING ON CITY STREETS

Important Evidence at Last

F. J. Fitzgerald Elected Grand

The fifth session of the coroner's inquest on the death of Augustus Ninham took place last night before Coroner Ferguson and his jury. The session was the shortest one yet held, taking up only three hours. The evidence of eight witnesses was heard. The most sensational feature of the tions of either of these two female evening was the testimony of a little girl, who swore that she saw Gus Ninham and another Indian fighting in front of a hotel in the city, early in part by her mother, to whom she told her story on her return home. The to McArthur's leaving about 10:30 p.m., was highly amusing to the big crowd present, and the constables had re-Bride and Mrs. Quick, the wives of previous witnesses, and by three men who were at the hotel on the night of Ninham's death.

The usual large crowd was present during the first couple of hours of the inquiry, every seat being occupied, and the doors and aisles blocked. As the evening advanced, however, the crowd thinned out, and at the time of adjournment the courtroom was not half

AN ERROR CORRECTED. The Advertiser's report of Monday night's evidence was in error in stating that Hugh Sharkey, jun., said that company with one Bricklin and a female companion. What Mr. Sharkey did say was that McArthur was singing in the parlor where Bricklin and fight. the lady were. As will be seen from to the hotel with another young man. SKUSE WAS SOBER.

The first witness called was Skuse, who said he lived on Brick street, about two miles west of the Wharncliffe highway. He was at Sharkey's hotel on the night of June 21. He met John McArthur in the city in the afternoon, between 4 and 6 o'clock. The witness's memory aptime he was with McArthur.

said the coroner. Skuse said he did not think he was at the Boswell House with McArthur, but could not remember exactly where he was. He was with McArthur at the Collins House from the time first met till after 8 o'clock. On leaving the Collina House Mc

Arthur and the witness drove to Sharkey's hotel. Witness did not stay there an hour, probably half an hour, he thought. He left and arrived home shortly after 9 o'clock. Witness left McArthur standing near the watering trough in front of the hotel. Witness did not recognize any of the five or six men he saw at Sharkey's. Witness did not see McArthur from that night at Sharkey's hotel until last Monday night, when he saw him in the courtroom. Witness did not know Gus Ninham by sight. This finished Skuse's evidence. Mr. Faulds did not cross-examine him.

DIDN'T SEE HIM COME HOME. Mrs. Lavina Quick, who was next called, said she lived at 125 Bruce street, near the Wortley road. She was the wife of Wm. Quick, one of the men who went to Sharkey's with Wm. Mc-Bride. She could not tell what time her husband came home on the night of Saturday, June 21. She had not been feeling well, had retired about 9:30, and was asleep when her husband came in. He might have come in few minutes after or some hours after. Her husband is at present away on a visit, but is expected back within a few days. Witness knew

John McArthur, but had never seen him at her house. McBRIDE'S HOMECOMING. The next witness was Mrs. Nettie McBride, wife of Wm. McBride, 10:30. Mrs. McBride, in giving her evihome shortly after 12 o'clock.

GIRLS WERE FRIGHTENED. Mrs. Thos. Cox, who lives on the Pipe Line road, was next called. She said her daughters, Alice and Beathe evening. She was corroborated in trice, came home on the evening of June 21 looking very frightened. They told her they saw two Indians rush out of a hotel at King and Ridout evidence of Hugh Sharkey, sen., which streets. As Mrs. Cox remembered their corroborated that of Wm. It was about 7 o'clock when

SAW NINHAM FIGHTING. Alice Scott, the 14-year-old daughter of the previous witness, said that she was picking berries for Mr. W. Baker on Saturday, June 21. Gus Ninham was also picking berries there. Witness and her sister left home about o'clock and went up to the city. When | Sharkey's absence, left the house and they were near the hotel at the corner John McArthur went to the hotel in of King and Ridout streets witness saw Gus Ninham and another Indian standing in the doorway disputing. They came outside and started to Then several men came out of the hotel, and one of them struck Gus last night's evidence, McArthur drove Ninham. She thought the blow fell on his nose. The other Indian ran up the street, but Gus and the man who anything, he said. struck him stood and talked together in loud tones. Gus did not strike back at the white man. He did not stagger from the blow. BOTH WERE BERRY-PICKERS. To Mr. Faulds witness said she did not know the Indian who was fighting with Ninham, but knew him as one The Remarkable Escape of Mr. peared to be hazy as to the length of of the berry-pickers. Gus struck the other Indian several times. AT HOTEL ALL NIGHT. Wm. C. Ross, of 201 Mill street, who was mentioned by Hugh Sharkey as the gentleman who stayed at the hotel all night, together with the two Sharkeys, was next called. Mr. Ross said he was at Sharkey's hotel on June 21, having been there for three days. He was there all Saturday evening, and went to bed between 10:30 and 11 p.m. He judged the time by seeing veand bicyclists coming from Springbank at the conclusion of the concert. Witness occupied an upscairs room near the northeast corner of the hotel. He went to sleep ten or fifteen minutes after retiring. Witness was awakened by hearing Mr. Sharkey going to the door, someone having roused him. Witness heard the sounds of the telephone being used, and Sharkey came up afterward and told witness something was wrong with one of Mr.

Baker's Indians. Witness did not know who was in the hotel that evening, as he had been upstairs all evening, except for a cou-ple of times when he went down for a few minutes. Witness was downstairs a few minutes before he went to bed, and again about an hour before. Witness was quite alone upstairs. He did not see Hugh Sharkey, sen. upstairs during the evening. Witness heard voices during the evening, from the direction of the southwest room downstairs. There may have been people also in the northwest corner room downstairs. Witness saw no persons around the driving-shed. Witness heard SINGING IN THE HOTEL between 9 and 10 p.m., but none after 10 o'clock. Witness did not pay much dence, showed signs of great nervous- attention to the voices, but did not think there was a lady singing. ness did not see any woman about the hotel that night. Witness

SAW JOHN MCARTHUR again just before retiring. Witness was going upstairs and he saw McArthur coming out of a back room, and go-ing out the front door. Witness saw John Abel around the hotel earlier in the evening.

Witness said he heard no voices in the barroom. He heard voices down-stairs, but could not tell exactly where McArthur had his hat on when witness saw him. Asked why he noticed that McArthur wore his hat, witness said that it would have been so re markable to see a man without a hat on in that house that he would have remarked it at once. Another reason why witness remembered that McArthur had his hat on was that witness

"WELL, JACK, ARE YOU OFF?" and McArthur answered, "Yes," to which witness replied, "Well, goodbye; I'm going to bed." Witness thought McArthur wore a black fedora hat, but was not sure. Witness did not see Brazel Fox or man named Bricklin at the hotel.

He did not hear any noise outside after he went to bed.

To Mr. Faulds, ewitness repeated that after seeing McArthur in the hall he had gone straight upstairs to bed. Witness said he remembered seeing a vehicle in front of the hotel, but could not say what kind of a rig it was, nor at what time he saw it. He thought it was a covered buggy. AN AMUSING WITNESS. Hugh Sharkey, sen, father of proprietor of the Woodbine Hotel, next took the stand. He proved an entertaining witness. He had been at the hotel, he said, on the night of June 21. He saw the Abels, Mr. McBride and Mr. McArhur at the hotel. Others were there, but he did not know them. Witness went to bed about 11 o'clock, by his watch. Witness was sitting on the veranda when McArthur came out, and said he was going home. A one-horse rig, with two people in it, drove horse rig, with two people in it, drove up from the west, and McARTHUR GOT IN. Witness went in, found some crackers and milk, and after partaking of them went to bed. It would be 10 or 15 minutes after McArthur's departure that witness went to bed.

The rig which overtook McArthur caught up to him just as he was opposite the hotel barn. The buggy came from the direction of Springbank. MAN BY THE LOOK OF HIM. Mr. Sharkey was not sure that the two people in the buggy were both men. "I thought one of them was a man by the look of him," he said. He was not close enough to see if both were men

Mr. Magee asked witness several times why he could not say if one of the persons in the buggy was a wo-

"It's the truth I'm stickin' to," answered the witness at length.
Mr. Magee repeated his question, and drew from the witness the exclamation You want me to say that one of them was a woman, and I won't do it!' GAVE A GOOD REASON.

The coroller asked Mr. Sharkey the question and secured the statement that he could not say if one was a woman for the reason that he did not Witness said he saw McArthur and McBride and a couple of others during the half-hour he spent on the veran-da before he saw McArthur leave. Was the Indian killed then?" asked Mr. Magee.

"Well, now, I didn't know anything" about the Indian till next morning," answered Mr. Sharkey.

McArthur when he left did not say he was coming back. There were a number of rigs at the hotel that night. Some of them stopped while going to and from Springbank. "They stopped to water their horses," said the witness, "and to water their horses," he the two girls left home to go up to continued, amid a laugh from the

WOULDN'T TELL A LIE. Asked what time Mrs. Springer, who was taking care of the hotel in Mrs. went across to the house where the Sharkey children were staying, Mr. Sharkey answered, "Well, now, I could not tell that unless I began to lie to you." Mr. Sharkey thought she left before 9 o'clock.

Mr. Sharkey thought he was asleep five or ten minutes after going to bed, but it might have been half an hour or an hour. He was not worrying over NOT TO AMUSE THEM. Coroner Ferguson informed the witess that the crowd was making some of his answers a source of amusement, and asked him not to give them any grounds for mirth. "I'm not giving it to them for their amusement," said Mr. Sharkey.

Witness did not see any Indians at the hotel that night. He did not give one of them a bottle of whisky-had never given an Indian liquor in his JOHN ABEL'S STORY. John Abel, the last witness of the evening, said he reached Sharkey's hotel about 10:15. He left 10 p.m. car, got off at the side-road, and walked up to the hotel. He stayed only two or three minutes, then went nome alone. He borrowed a basket from Mr. Sharkey to carry three par-cels of groceries. Witness lived with his father east of Woodland Cemetery The car did not stop where he asked to have it stopped, and he went on to Witness saw Mr. Sharthe side-road. key and Mr. Ross at the hotel. He did not see John McArthur. Witness arrived home at 10:35, went to bed st 10:45. Witness heard his brother come in before 11:50. Witness was awakened at 11:45 by his alarm clock, which he meant to set for 5 a.m., but which he made a mistake in setting. Witness was going to get up early and go to Lambeth to see if there were any frogs To Mr. Faulds the witness said that was one of seven brothers, six of whom live near the city. He catches frogs and sells their legs, getting 15 and 20 cents a dozen for them.
