

EMPLOYEES BLAMED FOR FAULTS FOUND IN WATER HYDRANTS

Councillors Say They Are Carelessly Handled.

MORE WATER BIG NEED

All Agree City Requires Larger Supply To Avoid Criticism.

The board of control, No. 2 committee and General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the utilities commission spent the morning of the 3rd inst. in discussing the report of R. C. Wynne-Roberts, of the Underwriters Association on London's water supply, and fire fighting apparatus. It was decided to instruct City Clerk Baker, Fire Chief Allison and Mr. Buchanan to draft a suitable report when it was necessary.

The report, which has been published in full, dealt with the water supply particularly. The fire fighting apparatus has been improved in certain particulars criticized in the report.

Water Is Needed.

"The whole question amounts down to this," said Ald. Burdick, "we need more water. If we had an abundance of water, there would be little criticism to offer."

"That is certainly what it means," said Controller J. M. Moore.

The destruction of hydrants by the street watering gangs was called to the attention of the committee, and it was pointed out that most of the fault found with the hydrants was due altogether to the failure of the city employees to properly care for them.

"Charge the damages against the street watering department," advised Controller John M. Moore.

General Manager E. V. Buchanan and Controller Moore were agreed that a tax of $25 per hydrant should be made instead of $15 for fire fighting purposes, and that certain hydrants should be used for that purpose only. This question will be dealt with later.

As to the duplication of mains, etc., this will be taken up with the insurance investigation to be held here shortly.

MINISTERS DECLARE MORE OUGHT TO BE DONE FOR SOLDIERS

Welcome To Returned Men Should Be General.

LAZINESS SCORED HARD

Church Members Lax In Attendance and in Social Service.

Several questions of importance were discussed today at the regular monthly meeting of the Methodist Ministerial Association, prominent among which was the best way to render service to the returned soldier. It was emphasized that the welcoming of the returned man, wounded or otherwise incapacitated in the service of his country, should not be left to any one association, but that such a reception should be given him as to warm his heart, and make him feel his sacrifice had been appreciated. Further interest in the returned man should not be dropped after he had been duly welcomed.

The president and secretary of the association, Rev. Dr. Flanders and Rev. Dr. Barber, were appointed a committee to consider the question of the well-being of the young people, such as professional prize-fighting, public dance halls, etc.

The view was advanced that something constructive should be done in the way of making stronger the spiritual life of the community, as well as registering protests. It was suggested that a mission of repentance and hope might be inaugurated among the Methodist churches of the city with a view to deepening the spiritual life of the Methodist community and arousing to a greater seriousness of mind, particularly in the midst of war-time.

Dr. Flanders, Dr. Barber, Rev. J. E. Holmes, president of the London district, and Rev. A. J. Thomas were appointed a committee to consider the question and report to the association. This committee is meeting this afternoon. "Be Brief."

The program feature of the meeting was an address by Claude Saman on the subject, "The Power of the Press." Mr. Saman took the view that the power wielded by the press is somewhat overestimated, pointing to the fact that many of the world's greatest reforms had taken place before the press was the common property it is today. Advice given to ministers sending in reports or correspondence to newspapers was this: "Be brief. Say the most important thing in the first line of the first paragraph. If the article is going to be cut short, it will be towards the end, and you will have the satisfaction of having the public know what you wanted to be known."

A hearty vote of thanks was moved to Mr. Saman.

ENTERTAINING SOLDIERS.—The Presbyterian Ministers' Monday Club met informally today at St. Andrew's Presbyterian manse. Among subjects discussed was that of the entertainment of soldiers. The club is ready to respond to the various Presbyterian congregations of the city the entertaining of soldiers once a month by each. Rev. W. R. McIntosh, secretary, said a series of Presbyterian Young People's Society inter-church debates had been arranged as usual, these to take place in the three months of the New Year.

TWO WRITS ISSUED.—Two writs were issued in the county court today. The Pittsburg Lamp, Brass and Glass Company has entered suit against the Electric Supply Company to recover $122.75, claimed as the price of goods sold and delivered. The International Harvester Company has issued a writ against H. E. Harton of Stephen Township, Huron County, for $110, claiming the amount for damages for alleged non-delivery and refusal to furnish two promissory notes or $55 each, one payable March 1, 1917, and the second payable October 1, 1917, as provided by contract dated August 11, 1916, for goods sold and delivered.

FORMER 33RD MAN WHO ENLISTED HERE REPORTED MISSING

Hyman Company. Born in Guernsey, Channel Islands, where his relatives live, Pte. Martel came to Canada about four years ago. He has a brother with the British forces at Saloniki.

CROWDS TURN OUT TO BID FAREWELL TO CYCLIST CORPS

Off To Finish Training at Toronto and in English Camp.

The Detached Cycle Corps, in command of Lieut. J. W. McVean, left London for Toronto today at 9 o'clock. No band or escort accompanied the men to the station, but hundreds of citizens were there to give them a royal send-off, and they did.

During their three months of training here, the boys made many friends, and the last few minutes before boarding the train were fully occupied in saying good-bye to them. When the warning whistle sounded for departure car windows came into demand, and final farewells were said from them.

Although recruited under difficulties, the corps was up to full strength at departure. It was authorized in September, and much of the recruiting for the unit was done at the county fairs. A number of the members were from the United States, including several motor experts.

Only physical drill was taken here until the corps was up to full strength. Technical drill will be studied at Toronto and the corps will proceed to England almost immediately to complete its training in England.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL ON CHARGE OF WOUNDING

George Brenner Accused of Having Slashed Neck of Miles C. Ketchum.

George Brenner, a cigarmaker, appeared in police court today on a charge of assault and wounding Miles C. Ketchum, a munitions worker at the Empire Brass Works, on November 24th last, and was committed for trial, and will likely appear before Judge Macbeth on Wednesday or Thursday next during the December sessions.

Apparition was made for bail, which was granted in the sum of one hundred dollars or two of $50 each. Brenner will make an effort to secure the sureties.

Three charges were registered on the book against Brenner, the first for non-support, the second for threatening his wife, and the third the charge on which he was committed today.

The first trial was held over for one week, pending the result of the trial on the more serious count.

Miles C. Ketchum, the complainant, testified that the evening of November 24th he had called at the home of Mrs. Brenner at 17 Briscoe street, between 7:30 and 8 o'clock. He had gone to discuss with her a violation which Mrs. Brenner was contemplating purchasing for her boy for a Christmas present. About 10 o'clock, while sitting in the dining-room, the window was smashed and a man came in afterwards discovered to be Brenner, pulled down the blind and called out, "Now I have caught you."

Mrs. Brenner then informed him that it was her husband, and that he had better retire to the kitchen for fear he had a gun and might make an attempt to shoot. He then went to the window and saw Brenner standing. Leaving the house he ran out on the sidewalk, when Brenner made a slash at him with a weapon that resembled a razor.

Brenner, it is alleged, had made a threat that he would cut Ketchum's throat. Ketchum was afterwards cut about the throat, and went home, where his wounds were attended by his sister. Two days later he went to Dr. Robert Ferguson and had his wounds dressed and was still under care of Dr. Ferguson.

Under cross-examination by J. M. McEvoy, counsel for the defence, Ketchum said that he was a married man, and that his wife lived in Aylmer, but that he was living in the city, taking care of his father and mother.

Dr. Robert Ferguson gave evidence to the effect that Ketchum had come to him on Sunday, November 26th, and showed a gash three inches long on the neck. It was a clean incision made with a sharp instrument. The wound, he thought, was very dangerous, as a little deeper would have penetrated the jugular vein and might have resulted in a fatal hemorrhage.

COURT OF INQUIRY TO PROBE THIS ACCIDENT

A court of inquiry has been ordered to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the injury sustained by Sergeant J. Rawlings, who was killed by the explosion of a detonator on Friday last. Major N. K. Cameron, 63rd Battery, will preside over the board, which will be composed of a captain from the 18th Battalion and a lieutenant from the 14th Battalion.

Sergeant Rawlings is progressing favorably in the military hospital at the barracks. The thumb and first finger of the left hand were amputated, but it is expected that the balance of the hand will be saved. The right hand was also badly lacerated, but remains intact. Scores of small pieces of the brass casing of the detonator were removed from his legs and face.

ROTARIANS STRONG IN THEIR APPROVAL OF INDUSTRIAL PLAN

Will Appear Before Council To Indorse It.

HEAR BYLAW EXPLAINED ABOUT 55 YEARS OF AGE

Industrial Commissioner Assures Them No Harm Can Follow.

Seventy members of the Rotary Club voted in favor of indorsing the industrial development plan and appearing before the city council tonight to show their enthusiasm for the scheme which will at once bring new industries to the city, according to the industrial department.

The members listened to an exposition of the plan from Gordon Philip, industrial commissioner, who said that nothing was approved by the city council, and that the plan would be submitted to the city council for their approval. He predicted that the plan would be approved, and said that two already approached were waiting for London's decision, and would locate here if the power was given to the city.

Mr. Philip said that the plan was to be made to local as well as outside concerns. Mr. Philip said all loans would be made at the discretion of the directors.

Strong Approval.

Philip Pooce strongly approved the plan, stating that London had power and light as cheap as Hamilton, and that the London and Port Stanley Railway had brought down prices on coal.

Lieut.-Col. W. M. Garthshore stated that he believed natural gas would be a great inducement to manufacturers, and that London did not have too many kinds of power. Everything depended on the responsibility of the manufacturers of offering to locate here.

Mr. McDonald did not believe in creating slums in the principle of housing, although he favored the scheme. He believed the little fellows now located here should be helped.

E. R. Yeates stated that he did not believe the city of Hamilton had ever given one cent to a concern, but only a great assessment. He believed London, with its lake connection, was now in as advantageous a position as Hamilton.

Mr. Lawson moved that the plan be indorsed, and George Belton seconded the motion. It was carried unanimously and most of the Rotarians agreed to present at the council meeting tonight.

Opposition Expected.

Controller Gammage warned the delegates that the opposition to the plan, and asked that they carry home the points made during the discussion.

Mr. Frank White, who is retiring after serving four years, made an appeal to Rotarians to take interest in municipal affairs and to attend council sessions on Richmond street. It was only on Saturday that the Knights of Columbus were notified of the necessity of a new occupant for the city hall, and the building was purchased from Mr. Labatt, Queen's avenue.

No decision has yet been made by the Knights of Columbus in regard to what will be done with the Ridout street property, but it is understood the question will be discussed at a meeting to be held next Friday night.

AGREEMENT REACHED

Townships Will Divide Cost of Caring for Joint Roads.

Ald. Palmer, chairman of the board of works, announced to the board of control this morning that an agreement had been arrived at between the townships of London and Westminster relative to the care of joint roads. The division of costs was made, each party to pay 50 per cent, and the agreement to supervise the work. There were some questions as to county roads, and Ald. Palmer will take these up with the county engineer tomorrow.

CASE DISMISSED

Magistrates Think Man Had Provocation for Assault.

Albert Gillis appeared in police court today charged with assaulting Fred Johnson. He pleaded guilty, but was dismissed after explaining the situation and the provocation for committing the assault.

Pulson appeared with a highly colored opinion. Gillis stated that he was in a local moving picture theatre and that Pulson, in company with two boys, had persisted in annoying him until he had on a sudden impulse reached back and struck him.

Magistrates Macklin and Dyer considered that Gillis had been provoked and in consequence dismissed the charge against Gillis.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN DIES ON ADELAIDE STREET, SUDDENLY

Falls, and Life Is Extinct When Picked Up.

ABOUT 55 YEARS OF AGE

Evidently on Way to Work, As He Carried His Lunch.

A man, who as yet remains unidentified, was seen by several passersby to fall on Adelaide street, near the Grand Trunk tracks, this morning about 7:10 o'clock. When he was picked up life was already extinct.

The body was taken to the undertaking parlors of Smith, Son & Clarke, where it awaits identification.

He appears to be a man about 55 years of age, and would weigh between 150 and 170 pounds. He is about 5 feet 8 inches in height. His hair is close cropped and brownish-grey in color, and he is commencing to get bald.

He has a closely-cut mustache, and is otherwise clean shaven.

Two front upper teeth are missing, and the lower teeth are not in good condition.

He wore a grey tweed cap, dark blue coat, light brown corduroy vest, brown sweater and dark brown corduroy pants. The trousers were worn and pitched across the thighs, indicating that the man had been handling lumber.

He wore a heavy wool undershirt, a pair of flannel drawers, grey woolen socks, and a pair of rubber "creepers."

He had no rings. He had in his hand a small lunch wrapped in a newspaper, containing two ham sandwiches. No papers that might give a clue to his identification were found on him.

Coroner Dr. Maclearen has viewed the body and he has decided that an inquest is unnecessary.

LABATT RESIDENCE COST SAID TO BE $17,500

That expensive residences are not in great demand in London is shown by the fact that the late Labatt residence on Queen's avenue, near Adelaide street, sold for $17,500, according to rumor.

This is just about the equivalent of the assessed value, for although the whole property is assessed for $21,000, a part of the land is not included in the sale.

It is expected that possession will be given the Sisters of the Precious Blood from the property, near Adelaide street, by Bishop Fallon, in a few weeks. In the meantime some minor alterations are to be made in the interior.

The building on Ridout street, just north of Carling, which the Sisters of the Precious Blood have been occupying for some time past, was the residence of the late Dr. Anderson, and one of London's historic homes. Built in the middle of last century the interior is finished in black walnut, priceless at the present age.

The Anderson home was purchased some years ago by the Knights of Columbus with the idea in mind that they might possibly later convert it into a club house, giving up their present quarters on Richmond street. It was only on Saturday that the Knights of Columbus were notified that the Sisters of the Precious Blood would remove to "Endians," the beautiful house purchased from Mr. Labatt, Queen's avenue.

No decision has yet been made by the Knights of Columbus in regard to what will be done with the Ridout street property, but it is understood the question will be discussed at a meeting to be held next Friday night.

CECIL TELLS

ing in Athens on Friday, is said, in an Athens dispatch to the Star, to have been fired by a reservist who enrolled only on Thursday.

Attack Was Unexpected.

The attack on the Zappelon, the dispatch says, was unexpected. Vice-Admiral Du Fournet was standing on the steps of the building, surrounded by officers of the French marines, when Greek machine guns opened fire. Six officers were wounded by the first volley. The French marines, together with 250 British marines, who were marching to the Zappelon without molestation, organized a defence and held out all day against a superior force with artillery.

GUNS HANDED ALLIES.

London, Dec. 4.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Corfu, under date of Saturday, says that the Greek mountain guns in the Corfu Channel have been handed over to the Allies.

FULLEST PROTECTION.

London, Dec. 4.—The Greek Government has announced that the fullest protection will be given to the nations of the Entente, according to an Athens dispatch to Reuters. The Greek Government has guaranteed that all legal rights of arrested Venizelists will be respected. In palace circles, it is said, the normal relations with the Allies are re-established.

WILL DEMAND REPARATION.

London, Dec. 4.—The Times expresses astonishment and indignation at the events in Athens. It says that the Allies have been betrayed and defied by King Constantine and his Government, and mentions with satisfaction the statement from Paris that the Allies will insist on reparation for the attack on their troops.

"The most remarkable feature of these amazing events," says the Times, "is that the Allies have been sold out by King Constantine and his Government, and mentions with satisfaction the statement from Paris that the Allies will insist on reparation for the attack on their troops."

IS DYNASTY PROTECTED?

London, Dec. 4.—Demands that some steps be taken to check Constantine's activities have become more insistent. Some circles have credited the Government with protecting him because of his relation to members of the British and Russian royal houses. This suggestion was introduced into the debate in the House of Commons today by Arthur Lynch, Nationalist member for the West Division of Cornwall. He asked Lord Robert Cecil: "Will the right honorable gentleman give the House assurance that no matter what occurs the dynasty will be preserved?"

No answer was returned.

An unfavorable impression has been created also by the report that King Constantine had recalled all his pro-Greek advisers in Athens, and while the news has been rather meagre there has been a tendency to believe the Allies have suffered a rebuff.

INTERNATIONAL LIVE STOCK EXHIBITION, CHICAGO.

COUNTY COUNCIL IN SESSION; WILL HOLD MEETING IN EVENING

Patriotic Fund and Debenture Debt To Be Discussed Tonight.

The December sittings of the county council convened at the courthouse at 2 o'clock this afternoon with Warden Turnbull presiding.

Following the reading of the minutes of the last session, which were adopted, County Clerk Stuart presented for consideration a large number of communications. The various committees will consider the communications this afternoon and are expected to report on them Tuesday morning.

An evening session will be held tonight commencing at 7:30. This extra session has been called to relieve the pressure of business now in sight for the present sittings.

This evening's meeting will be important in that the patriotic fund for Middlesex and the debenture debt will be discussed. It is unusual to call an evening session of the council so early in the week but in view of the council's trip to Loughborough on Thursday as the guests of Warden Turnbull, and the address of Commissioner of Roads W. A. McLean before the members on Tuesday afternoon, such action was deemed necessary.
