THE SMALLPOX OUTBREAK IN

THE SMALLPOX OUTBREAK IN HUNGERFORD TOWNSHIP. Wretched condition of the Afflicted-A Scarcity of Help. The outbreak of smallpox in Hungerford is of a more serious nature than the public outside that district have apparently imag-ined. Dr. Bryce, the secretary of the board of health, having returned from a couple of visits to that township, gives alarming accounts of the state of existence ment into which the inhabitants have been thrown. Though the number have been thrown. Though the number of cases is not excessively large, yet the very contagious nature of the disease has frightened the populace to a state in so ne instances characterized by the doctor They Break late a House and Braw Reas frensy.

Dr. Bryce was first telegraphed for on Nov. 18, and on arrival found no board H. Blaylock, Clarence street. Mrs. Blaylock Nov. 18, and on arrival found no board organized. Through his instrumentality a board of fifteen inspectors for the different villages was immediately appointed, and twelve constables were sworn in to assist this body. Reports received during the week following this date showed that the disease was increasing. Dr. Bryce returned to the scene again last Saturday. He found that the board of Elzevir had been active and had succeeded in isolating a couple of families. At Tweed there was a meeting of highly excited people who were clamorous against there being any possibility allowed of the introduction of smallpox amongst them. The doctor succeeded in utileting them by declaring that thorougily efficient meas-ures would be taken to guard against any such contingency and by promising that help would be immediately forthcoming. In the evening he drove to the southwest corner of Rosalind, where he obtained in formation from Dr. Hudson of Hunting-don, Thurlow and Tyendinaga, which personal supervision as also the road lead-ing to Belleville. Monday Dr. Bryce and Pomeroy visited the infected villages and saw forty cases outside the village of Stoco. BRANTFORD; Dec. 5.-At about 11 o'clock in the presence of the clergy and others, he made a long statement in writing, re-viewing the whole case and denying the evidence given at the trial by the Leppard family. The statement will be published. This morning the prisoner was attended by Rev. J. Howell, methodist minister, and Rev. A. H. Scott, pastor of Knox church. They visited the cell early, and held conversation and prayer with the doomed man, who appeared quite penitent and prepared for the end, but still declared his innocence. At just three minutes to 8 and prepared for the end, but still declared his innocence. At just three minutes to 8 o'clock the cell door was opened and the sad procession started, consisting of the prisoner, supported on the right and left by Rev. Messrs. Howell and Scott, and fol-lowed by the sheriff, jailer and other officials. The prisoner walked to the scaffold and ascended the steps with all the fortitude and firmness describable, and took his stand on the trap-door of the scaffold. While the hangman was adjusting the stand on the trap-door of the scalloid. While the hangman was adjusting the noose the prisoner shuddered and gave himself a slight turn to the left, which was followed by a nervous trembling for a few moments during the delivery of the Lord's -prayer by Rev. Mr. Howell. The hang-man then drew the bolt, and Teets was almost instantaneously ushered into eternity.

almost instantaneously ushered into eternity. Cook Teets was a blind farmer living in the township of Artemeaia, near the village of Flesherton. He was reputed to be wealthy. He became acquainted with a girl of rather loose reputation, Rose Lep-pard, daughter of a Grey county farmer. On Sept. 18 he was married to Miss Lep-pard by Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, in St. Andrew's manse. The dauple then went to the states, where they resided for some weeks. Returning to Flesherton, they separated, Teets going to live with his mother, while the newly made. bride also went to live with her's. The Choral Society s Coming Concert The Toronto choral society, under the able onductorship of Edward Fisher, is making ne progress in its practice of Handel's sub me work, in the opinion of many his mas ece, "Samson," which is to be given early i he new year in celebration of the bi-cen ial anniversary of the great composer's birth he year promises to be celebrated through ut the musical world as a Hand 1 jubile

The year promises to be celebraited through out the musical world as a Hand 1 jubile year, and the society are making preparation to do honor to the occasion in Toronto with a performance on a scale of unusual magnifi-cence. The chorus has been strengthened to about 300 voices, and Mr. Fisher guarantee its high quality by testing the voice of each member prior to admission. For the sole parts, some leading artists have already been engaged. The tenor will be the famous singer, William J. Winch, who sang on the occasion of the first produc-tion of the "Redemption" in Toronto two years ago, and who since that time has made a successful tour through England, where he acquired high honors at some of the great popular concerts in London, Manchester, Liverpool and other cities. The basso will be ligh reputation in the chief cities across the lingh reputation the chief cities across the lingh reputation the chief cities across the ling.
