candard:
Quite in the best spirit of the game is to be the visit to America of the gentlemen cricketers, who left these shors last week. Of late years there has been so much talk of gata money in connection with English pastimes that there is something quite novel in the idea of an eleven that means to make good play its chie consideration. When the team of Philadelph an gantlemen was here two years ago it tau ht cricketers a lesson in disnetterestedness, if not in batting; for a pleasant hol day and n tan income was what it came for and our representatives in America are to follow its example. The trip is und the ken "for pleasurable purposes," and America are to foliow its example. The trip is und it ken "for pleasurable purposes," and as M-ssrs Thornton, Horner, Hine-Haycock ard Roller are among the members pretty cricket will doubtless be shown. Without Mr. W. W. Read and Mr. Steel, not to speak of Dr. Grace, the eleven is not of course as strong as it mi ht be, but it will not have men of the calibre of the Australians to contend against, and the gentlemen of Philadelphia will be its chief opponents. These proved themselves such fine gentlemen and genial fellows in this country that the English team is sure of a good time with thems.
