A USEFUL INVENTION.

John O'Neill, chief of the second battalion of the Detroit, Mich., fire, department, has devised an inven-tion to do away with the necessity of sending men up the ladders where it is desired to manipulate a stream from the top of an aerial truck, as is often necessary when working on fires on high buildings. This invention renders the ordinary nerial truck available for the work of the water tower, which is a very expensive apparatus. The invention consists of a ring set on a swivel and fastened to the rung of the ladder next to the top. The ring supports the hose nozzle by a clamp, and the ladder is swing up be ade the burning building with the hose attached. By means of a rope and the ordinary adjustments of the ladder, the stream is under its strongly of opinion that the of the water tower, which is a very

THAT YUKON PLOT.

The Boston Globe.

Mr. Joseph Smith, of Lowell, was asked if he cared to throw any light upon the daring plot to seize the Yukon Territory, which has just been discovered by the Canadian police in that far-off, frozen country. country.

"I am not surprised," said Mr. Sm'th, "that the sleepless vigilance of the Yukon police should have uncarthed the conspiracy. Had the conspirators followed the advice of their best friends they would never have attempted this thing in an er have attempted this thing in an Alaskan summer; they would have waited for the Arctic winter, when the Canadian police enter upon their long season of sleep and hibernation; then they could easily have captured the whole country and sneaked off with it across the Japanese sea, down through the Indian Ocean, and landed in the neighborhood of Lorenzo Marquez before the police and polar bears woke up.

"It is a great mistake to imagine the Fenians had anything to do with this particular movement; they are too busy just now laying pipes to drain the St. Lawrence River and leave Canada high and dry.

"I am breaking no confidence when I say that the Yukon insurrection was a scheme of the Manhattan ice trust, which, owing to the defeat of Tammuny, will cut no ice in New York next year. Their purpose was to seize the country, use it as a cold storage yault for kidnanned reformers. as country, use it as a cold storage vault for kidnapped reformers, as well as using it as a base for supplying ice to the Philippines. They also intended to run a line of steamers to supply ice-cream to the natives of Hindoostan and northeaster. Africa.

"It cannot be denied that British Alaska is seething with discontent, and any scheme which will make the country too warm for the British,
or anybody else will be popular.
The inhabitants of Dawson have vainly endeavored to have the Government adopt plans for worning ernment adopt plans for warming the sidewalks in winter and supply free coal and steam to Canadian veterans.

"A Canadian veteran is a citizen who desired to go to the Transvaal War and who was prevented by previous enganements from doing so. Then, again, the people de-mand that the native tongue. Yu-konese, be taught the children in the public schools. It does not mat-ter that there are no children or schools there; a wise and prudent government would have promised these reforms.

"It is significant of the good re-lations existing between this coun-1. tions existing between this country and Canada — showing the hopelessness of assaults on the integrity of the North Pole — that all the documents relating to the conspiracy were scized on American territory by the Canadian police. Any man who has attended the melodramas at the Haward Athenaeum or read historical novels knows that this fatal habit of keeping the documents, proclamations, plans, specifications and military rosters of conspiracies lying around loose in trunks cies lying around loose in trunks has wrecked some splendid schemes.

THE IRISH IN AUSTRALIA.

THE IRISH IN AUSTRAIJA.

Mr. J F. Hogan also contributes an interesting article to the November number of The Contemporary Review. It is entitled "First Steps of the New Commonwealth," and embodies Mr. Hoga, impressions and experiences as an eye-witness, of the recent Australian Federation. He gives some well-drawn pen-pictures of the members of the first Federal Government, and eulogizes the Irish member of the Cabinet, the Hon. R. E. O'Connor, for the "exceptional tact, knowledge and ability" with which he has led the Senate or Upper Chamber, Most of Mr. Hogan's

CORK INTERNATIONAL EXHI-BITION.

We have received a folder of the International Exhibition in Cork next year. The views of the Exhibition grounds and buildings are excellent and give promise of a satisfactory time in store for exhibitors and a good time for visit-ors on pleasure bent. The main ors on pleasure bent, "he main building of the Exhibition, as is naturally supposed, is the Indus-trial Hall. This covers roughly about 120,000 superficial feet. Next in point of architectural and popular importance is the Concert Hall, which is capable of accommodating from five to six—thousand people. The other buildings of note are the Machinery Hall, the Fine Art Hall, and the Agricultural Hall, which will be in the hands of persons who propose to make them as attractive and instructive as possible; and the grounds are studded with ornamental buildings of various kinds, such as Lestaurants, Tea Houses, Kiosks, and arbors of various kinds.

A GOOD SIGN.

It is an encouraging sign of the times when a secular journal of the high standing of The Baltimore Sun takes the following stand on

Sun takes the following stand on the divorce question:

"The hope of the land is in the unity of the home. It is the lack of this that promotes divorces and breaks up families, separating hus-band from wife and child from parent. It is a vice which attacks so-ciety at almost every point, but mainly at the two extremes, the highest and the lowest; and some of the exhibitions which are made in the divorce courts by the so-called 'smart set,' who hold themselves apart as being better or more select than others, have shocked the moral sense of the peo-ple. The case with which divorces ple. The case with which divorces are obtained is one of the greatest promoters of vice, and it is doing its part in undermining the foundation upon which true civilization and the social fabric rest. One of the first and greatest reforms in the interest of social purity would, therefore, be to do away, with divorces, and so put and end to what has been not inaptly termed 'consecutive polygamy.'"

ROBERTS DID NOT HURT BULLER.

The London correspondent of The Dublin Freeman's Journal writes: The belief current in the army, set about by no one knows who, is that Lord Roberts was the printe mover in the proceedings that culminated in the dismissal of that culminated in the dismissal of General Briller, I am informed, on authority on which I can place absolute reliance, that this is the reverse of the fact, and that Lord Roberts was against the punishment meted out to General Buller. It was Mr. Broderick who insisted on placing General Buller in a position which it was known would lead to his removal. Lord Roberts, although he had not been on erts, although he had not been on erts, although he had not been on the best of terms with General Buller, was opposed to the Secre-tary of State on the line to be tak-en, but he ultimately surrendered his own judgment, when the King sided with Mr. Broderick.

ABOUT TEMPER.

There are three reasons why one ought to control his temper, and the first is self-respect. When one loses command of himself and throws the reins upon the neck of passion. he may have for the mo-ment a certain enjoyment in the license, but there must surely come a recreation of regret. When he is calm again and the fit has passed away, every serious person must be ashamed of what he said and what he did, of the manner in which he
