

Central Canada

The central Canadian provinces of Ontario and Quebec cover an area of 2 609 274 km², or about one-quarter of the country. The two most populous provinces have both cultural and recreational pleasures to appeal to all tastes. Their major centres boast the finest arts centres, galleries and museums.

