brave man and should be congratulated for fearlessly tempting fate in this way. I think I must put on record one quotation by a famous Canadian who is now a professor at Harvard. He is a graduate from the same institution as that from which I hold a degree. Even the hon. member sitting across the way has one.

An hon. Member: Well, who is he?

Mr. McBride: The man is Mr. Galbraith. He said: "Consistency is what freezes us to our error." Perhaps this could be interpreted in such a way as to apply to the hon. member for Surrey, and perhaps he ought to try another move as recommended to him by my hon. friend from Sarnia-Lambton.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Order. The hour provided for Private Members' business has now expired. It being five o'clock, this House stands adjourned until Monday afternoon at 2 p.m., pursuant to Standing Order 2(1).

At 5 p.m. the House adjourned, without question put, pursuant to Standing Order.
