ONE MAN ARRESTED

ter Being Jabbed With a Hypodermic Needle.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 6—(Can. Press.)—Federal as well as state authorities are likely to take a hand in the investigation of the poison needle mystery growing out of the experiences of Mrs. Marjorie Graff in a moving picture theatre two days ago. So far the only arrest is that of the young South American, Armand Megaro, who is held in $20,000 bail on an assault charge made by Mrs. Graft, after a man seated near her in a box jabbed a needle into her arm, and she was seized with drowziness. The cases of five young women reported to have been victims of experiences similar to those of Mrs. Graff are being investigated by the police of this city, however, and the attention of the federal authorities here has been brought to the Graff case in connection with the enquiry into several white slave cases.
