

4. The islanders take possession of the woods.² 5. The victory of the strangers³ meets with the approval of the goddess. 6. The island contains plenty of booty.⁴ 7. Jupiter is walking from the woods and the goddess accompanies him. 8. The island is seized by the sailors. 9. The islanders enter the woods and put the seamen to flight. 10. News of the victory is brought to the islanders by the sailors. 11. The inhabitants of the island present the foreigners with money.⁵

²What is the action described in this sentence and what is the object of it.

³Why is "strangers" Genitive in Latin?

⁴Do not translate literally.

⁵To whom is something given? What case then?

N.B.—The teacher should say nothing about the other construction of donare at this stage.

LESSON VIII.

Copia, abundance (in plural, supplies or troops).

Singular		Plural
Nom.	copia	copiae
Gen.	copiae	copiarum
Dat.	copiae	copiis
Acc.	copiam	copias
Abl.	copia	copiis

VOCABULARY.

portat	carries	celat	conceals
stat	stands	ara	altar
fuga	flight	renovat	renews
propterea	on account of	unda	a wave
	(prep. gov. acc.)	ad	to (prep. gov. acc.)
transportat	carries across.	post	behind (prep. gov. acc.)