

even by the excellence of its mental gymnastic or its contributions to scholarship and science. It will be judged also by the influence which it is exerting upon the imagination and the character; by the ideals which it has implanted and nourished, by the new resources of faith, tenacity, aspiration with which it has recruited and reinforced the untrained and undeveloped nature; by the degree in which it has helped to raise, to enlarge, to complete the true life of man, and by and through him the corporate life of the community."
